The Chronicle.

The following verses, written by Miss R. W. Easterbrooks, are a pretty reflection of some of the current vulgarisms:—

I talked of sin, and they listened in awe,
As I told of its cause and governing law,
In most effective manner;
And one from out of the gathered throng,
Cried out in pathos deep and strong,
"That's what's the matter with Hannah!"

I looked around for the troubled dame,
And called her out by her given name
(For I did not know the other;)
And said, with a sigh which the crowd could hear,
"Woman called Hannah, if thou art near, Approach thy Christian brother."

My hearers laughed at my earnest cry,
And "Put a shanty over his eye!"
Cried some in mocking fashion;
But I paid no heed to the scolding few—
"Hannah, my sister, I call for you,
In love—not wrath or passion.

Come, then, to the altar, oh, child of woe!"
Then spoke another, "Not any for Joe!"
I ventured at him slightly;
And said, "Oh, Joseph, the flesh is weak!
It makes me tremble to hear you speak
Of holy things so lightly."

Then up from the heathen came a cry,
Of "Bully, old fellow!" "How's that for high?"
It fairly made me shiver.
And I trembled in heart, as well as in limb,
As they fiendishly screamed, "Put a head on him,
And pitch him into the river!" [Jim,

But I stood my ground, and commenced to tell,
Of terrible fires in a terrible hell,
That would burn them up forever
If they lived for the world. Said a man of pelf,
"Oh, golly! you know how it is yourself,"
To this I answered, "Never!"

And started for home, as they would not yield,
And I had neither sword nor shield
That might defend my banner;
And to-day I sigh for the slough of sin,
Which one poor woman is walking in,
Whose given name is Hannah.

HORSE SHOEING.—If the shoe does not sit perfectly level all around, and if it extends so far outside the hoof that the nails are prevented from entering the crust in the exact spot, and in the very direction, which they should, there will be a constant straining on the nails, which is injurious to the foot, and will be liable to chip pieces off the hoof. The shoe ought to be made wide across the foot, at the point where the two front nails are situated. The greatest mistake frequently lies here, in the fear of turning the shoe, at the toe, very carefully on the horn of the anvil, the smith generally set it up on its side and then strikes it with his hammer.

The consequence is it yields at the centre of the arch, and, instead of being nicely and regularly rounded in front, whilst the breadth from side to side is preserved, the nail holes on each side are brought nearer to the centre of the shoe than they ought to be. As a necessary result, the shoe at the front nail holes is too narrow for the hoof, and when it is nailed on, the crust presses injuriously on the internal sensible parts of the foot. It is difficult to convince the smiths of the possibility of laming a horse, by having the shoe too narrow in front. They generally think the whole difficulty lies about the heel.

In putting on the shoe the nails should be driven with a gentle hand, and they ought not by any means to be clenched very tight. Hard driving and tight clenching will bend the hoof, at the place where the clenches are turned, inwards and downwards towards the shoe in such a manner as to injure the tender parts contained within the cavity of the foot. Besides, it is not necessary for a man to forget he is working with the foot of a living animal. The shoe will remain on a sufficient length of time with gentle driving and clenching, provided it is properly fitted to the foot. If it has a thoroughly even bearing, there will be little stress on the nails. The nails are often made so coarse that they split the hoof, and thus keep it constantly broken. A fine nail will answer all the purposes required if it is made of the right sort of material.

We know of no worse fashion, in connection with the application of the shoe, than the one which the smith has, of hammering the shoe on the one side or the other after three or four nails have been driven, for the purpose of putting it straight on the foot. This is a speedy method of making up his total want of accuracy in placing it at first; but it should never be suffered to be practiced. It strains all the nails which have already been driven, and is thus calculated to do serious damage to the foot.

Shoeing has been regarded by some as a necessary evil; still we are certain, it is an evil in the horse or in the man only when it is improperly performed. We are confident in both cases it would be advantageous, rather than the reverse, if the artisan could always be made sufficiently acquainted with the theory of his profession, and had hands, or rather a head, for its due performance.—Prairie Farmer.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1869.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopeas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1864.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and Inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethe, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms; Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhaea, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

MONDAY, JANUARY 2, 1871.

THE WAR. — The intensely cold weather causes fearful mortality among the German wounded. Nearly all the occupants of fifty-six carriages, filled with soldiers wounded at the assault upon Belfort on the 21st of December, were frozen to death before the train reached Chateneuis.

Another unsuccessful assault has been made by the Germans on the fortifications of Belfort, in which the besiegers lost 1400 killed and wounded.

The French army of the Loire has been reinforced by 150,000 men.

The Germans captured and sunk another English collier, at Rouen, on Saturday.

Marshal Bazaine does not leave his house or room.

☞ The attempted assassination of Prim causes great excitement in Madrid. Eight balls struck his shoulder, but he will probably recover with the loss of two fingers. The conspiracy has been found to be a very deep one, implicating a great many persons, and there are fears that the same attempt may be made against the new King.

☞ The employes in the Mount Washington Glass Works, at New Bedford, presented to Captain Henry Libbey, the gentlemanly proprietor, a beautiful tea service of silver plate.

ANOTHER MUTINY.—One of the latest sensations is the story of a sailor being triced up on board the American frigate Congress in such a manner as to twist his arm from its socket, by order of Comdr. Mayo of that vessel; and a consequent mutiny by one of the inferior class,—a mere doctor. The published report says that "the Navy Department will order an investigation at once."

An investigation! I hope so. Did that low doctor not know his duty! Had he forgotten the sapient decision of that naval court martial by whom Surgeon Green was tried, that a naval surgeon is only a medical clerk to his commander to write down anything—true or false—that his "superior" commands him to? If his memory is so poor, let it be improved by exemplary punishment of this crime of his,—put him out of the navy, for if something is not done, the staff will never learn their place.

Surgeon Green mutinously refused to make a fool of himself by saying that a sick man was a well one, when ordered to do so by his superior officer, for which he was suspended, and publicly reprimanded,—very properly, too, for what business had he to oppose his medical skill to the vast professional ability of a line officer?

But this E. S. Bogert, the surgeon of the Congress, is worse even than Green was. He not only interposed his protest against the torture of an old sailor, and afterward against his being set to work with a dislocated shoulder, but he was actually guilty of open, active mutiny—he cut the rope with which the man was being corrected, and took the irons from his wrists. Words fail to express the indignation I feel at the insolent presumption of this low creature. Let him be kicked ashore without his wages, as a warning to all other staff officers.

Perhaps the line officer, Mayo, may have been a little barsh; in which case, as I go in "for the good of the service," I would not object to his receiving the admonition meted out to Lieut. Com. Seeley of the Pawnee, who was sentenced to receive a good round salary, more than better men get for hard work, for doing nothing at all, because he tortured an old sailor. But this need not be insisted on, so long as the pretensions of naval surgeons that they have anything to do with the health of the men they are supposed to keep in fighting trim, are properly rebuked by the punishment of Bogert.

Why doesn't Congress legislate the staff down to where they belong,—to be the servants of the line? Had they done this long ago, instead of leaving the duty to be performed by the individual who "had a desk in the office" of the Navy Department, and his worthy associates of the line, the navy would have now been in a very different condition from what it is. No wonder that seamen will not enter the navy, when their feelings of reverence for the real officers of the service are constantly being harassed by some pert doctor who thinks he knows more of medicine, or some engineer who vainly fancies he understands machinery better, than do the monopolists of all learning and merit, the line. By all means let Congress look after these fellows, "for the good of the service."

Suburban Sketches, a book of 234 pp, written by W. D. Howells, author of "Venetian Life" and "Italian Journeys," and published in neat style by Hurd & Houghton. For sale by Nichols & Hall, Boston, and Foster Shores & Co., Portsmouth. Price $1.75.

A Chronology of Paper and Paper Making. By Joel Munsell. Fourth edition. Albany, N.Y. This is an elegant volume of 226 octavo pages, at once exhaustive of the subject treated, and exhibiting the art of making and printing paper in great perfection.

S. M. Pettengill & Co. publish the Advertiser's Hand-Book, comprising a complete list of all newspapers, periodicals and magazines published in the United States and British possessions, and a history of the newspaper press. It is a beautifully bound book, printed in handsome, clear type, on tinted paper, and contains two hundred and seven pages of the matter announced in the title, besides one hundred and forty-six pages of advertisements of newspapers and periodicals. The population of the cities and towns where there are newspapers published is given, and the work is one which will be useful to all who have a business to advertise.

The New Hampshire Register for 1871 is received from the Claremont Manufacturing Company.

Memoir of Mrs. Susanna Rowson, by Rev. Elias Nason. For a copy of this beautiful and interesting volume, we are indebted to Joel Munsell, Esq., the well known publisher of Albany, N. Y. Mrs. Rowson was an English lady, daughter of a British Lieutenant Haswell, who while on duty in Massachusetts just before the Revolution, married a second wife there, and brought his daughter over.

Susanna Haswell afterwards returned to England, and married William Rowson, son of a trumpeter in the Royal Guards of George Third, and who himself appears from the record to have been a great deal more of a trumpeter than a husband. Buckingham, in his Recollections, speaks of Rowson, when he lived in Boston, as playing splendidly in the orchestra of the Handel & Haydn Society, and especially of his trumpet accompaniment in the oratorio of the Messiah, to the solo of the judgement.

And our old friend Uncle Toby has often spoken to us of this same Rowson the trumpeter, and his big bottle nose. How strongly were all these facts and memories brought before us, as we sat in the Boston Music Hall on Christmas night last, and listened to that same trumpet solo and the whole sublime oratorio.

Mrs. Rowson's memoir reads very much like a romance, of the highest order. She was a devoted support of her family in the times that tried men's souls; a profuse and brilliant writer of prose and verse; and a famous school teacher all her life. Her most noted and popular novel was Charlotte Temple, which was real history; and her poetical composition best known is the glorious hymn or anthem, Child of Mortality, the beautiful music by her friend Mr. John Bray. Among the list of her pupils we note the names of Miss Hallibarton, Miss Waldron, and Miss Mary H. Sheafe (the late Mrs. Cutts) of this city. And among her Assistants at her seminary, were Mr. George Schaffer, of dancing. The book is one of engrossing interest to all who enjoy either our country's earlier history, or real romance.

New Hampshire Items.

On the 29th, in Milford, the dwelling house of Mr. A. J. Lynch was found to be on fire, having caught from a defective chimney, and was totally destroyed, with nearly all its furniture. Loss $2000; insurance $1000.

On the 25th, in Meredith, the house and barn of Mr. Amos L. Veasey were destroyed by fire, with all their contents, including crops. Mr. V. went to the barn about five in the afternoon, with a kerosene lantern. He harnessed his horse and went out, leaving the animal in the barn and the lantern setting on the floor. The barn was found to be on fire in a few minutes after he left. It is thought the horse broke the lantern. The house caught from the open door. Insurance $750, which fails far short of the loss.

FIRES.—Chicago had one on Friday. Loss $800,000.

A fire in Brooklyn rendered twenty-two families houseless and caused a loss of $65,000.

LETTER OF A DYING WIFE.—The following most touching fragment of a letter from a dying wife to her husband, was found by him some months after her death between the leaves of a religious volume which she was very fond of reading. The letter, which was literally dim with tear marks, was written long before her husband was aware that the fatal disease had fastened upon the lovely form of his wife, who died at the early age of nineteen years:

"When this shall reach your eyes, dear George, some day when you are turning over the relics of the past, I shall have passed away forever, and the cold white stone will be keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have so often pressed, and the sod will be growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has so often nestled close to your warm heart.

For many long and sleepless nights when all beside my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with the consciousness of approaching death, until it has forced itself upon my mind; and although to you and to others it might now seem but the nervous imagination of a girl, yet, dear George, it is so! Many weary nights have passed in the endeavor to bring myself to leave you whom I love so well, and this bright world of sunshine and beauty—and hard, indeed, it is to struggle on alone with the sure conviction that I am about to leave all forever and go into the dark valley! But I know in whom I have believed; and leaning on his arm, 'I fear no evil.'

Do not blame me for keeping even all this from you. How could I subject you, of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting, when time would soon make it apparent to you! I could have wished to live if only to be at your side when your time shall come, and pillowing your head upon my breast, wipe the death damp from your brow, and usher your departing spirit into its Maker's presence unbalmed in woman's holiest prayer. But it is not to be, and I submit. Yours is the privilege of watching through long and weary nights, for the spirit's final flight, and transferring my sinking head from your breast to my Saviour's bosom!

And you shall share my last thought, and the last faint pressure of the hand, and the last feeble kiss shall be yours, and even when flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eyes shall gaze on yours until glazed by death; and our spirits shall hold one last communion until gently fading from view—the last of earth—you shall mingle with the first bright glimpses of the unfading glories of the better world where parting is unknown.

Well do I know the spot, dear George, where you will lay me; often have I stood by the place, as we watched the mellow sunset, as it glanced in quivering flashes through the leaves and burnished gold; each, perhaps, has thought that some one of us would come alone, and which ever it might be, your name would be on the stone. But we loved the spot, and I know you will love it none the less when you see the quiet sunlight linger and play over your Mary's grave. I know you will go there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whisper among the waving branches, 'I am not lost but gone before.'"

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a sudorific, by toning the vessels of the skin and promoting the free passage of exhausted matter through that natural sieve of the system. Being a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, where there is a tendency to dropsy, and as a blood depurent and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, antiseptic, diaphoretic and anodyne properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by transmitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficacious remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured and the patient restored to health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the foot in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its original vivacity. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot soap and water.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yd,s 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in all different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Partnership Notice—J. H. Bailey & Co.
Fire Insurance Companies—John Sise, Agent.
Solicitor of Patents—R. H. Eddy.
Notice—Mrs. S. C. Jewell.

☞ Saturday was a balmy day, the temperature being above freezing.

☞ Smelting has commenced at Great Bay. The smelts began to bite freely on Saturday.

☞ A large seal was seen sporting in the river on Saturday, near Pier Wharf, and it is supposed that his headquarters must be near by.

☞ The daughters of the late Ezra Young, Esq., whose estate has just been settled, have donated $100 to the fund for a public library, started some time ago by Hon. Frank Jones.

☞ We understand that William Tuckerman, Esq., has resigned his office as Cashier of the Rockingham National Bank, on account of his health, and that Mr. John P. Hart has been appointed his successor.

I. O. O. F.—At a regular meeting of Osgood Lodge, No. 48, held Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:—N. G., J. Warren Prior; V. G., Robert Bates; R. S., Edward T. Morrison; Treasurer, Benjamin Plumer.

☞ The Masquerade at Irving Hall, Friday evening, was not attended by a large number of masqueraders, though there was quite an audience of spectators. The fancy costumes had the floor to themselves until the masks were removed, after which others were permitted to join in. The affair went off smoothly.

NEW YEARS' GIFTS.—On Saturday morning the pupils at the Young Ladies' High School presented to the principal, Mr. Aurin M. Payson, a silver coffee pot, and to the assistant, Miss Morgan, an elegant Bible. We are pleased to record such evidences of good feeling towards deserving teachers on the part of the pupils under their instruction.

☞ Among the many millions of unexpended balances of appropriations which remained in the Treasury on the 30th of June last, and cannot now be used until Congress makes the appropriations, are $138,185 for Fort Constitution Portsmouth Harbor, $150,000 for permanent forts at Provincetown Harbor, and $121,998 for permanent defences in Narragansett Bay.

DRAMATIC READINGS.—Our readers will welcome, this (Monday) evening, the first of Mr. Bartlett's series of Dramatic Readings. All who are ready for a good laugh over Mrs. Malaprop's affectations, self-conceit and ignorance, and at Captain Anthony Absolute's savagely imperious commands and violent frenzies, will promptly secure seats at Congress Hall, at 7 o'clock.

NEW FIRM.—It will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere, that 'Hon. John H. Bailey has admitted Mr. James L. Parker as partner in the new firm of J. H. Bailey & Co. Mr. Parker is a deserving young man, thoroughly acquainted with the details of the hardware business, in which he has been engaged for nearly ten years. May success attend the new firm.

☞ No work at the Navy Yard today, (Monday,) as New Year's day is a holiday legalized by Congress; and as it occurs this year on Sunday, it was decided to celebrate it on the day following, by the suspension of all work in the Yard. All very nice for salaried men, but not quite so acceptable to the day laborer, who must make every day count in order to meet his expenses.

☞ The P. M. L. A. Lyceum Lecture to-morrow evening will be by the popular and too-seldom-heard speaker, John Albee, Esq., of Newcastle,—subject, "The Farm." Cushing's Orchestra are also to perform some choice selections of music, of which the programme will be published to-morrow. A more attractive entertainment cannot be asked for, by those who enjoy a good lecture and first-class music.

HOME INS. CO. OF NEW HAVEN.—A second meeting of the stockholders of the Home Ins. Co. was held in New Haven on Saturday forenoon, to hear the report of the investigating committee appointed at the meeting held on Thursday. After a discussion, the meeting was adjourned till 2 o'clock, a proposition pending to make up the deficiencies and raise a new capital to [illegible]

THE LATE JUDGE CLAGGETT.—Hon. Wm. Claggett, who has just died at Portsmouth, N. H., at the age of 80, was a link between the politicians of the past and those of the present generation. He began life as a federalist and ending as a democrat, but had mean-time belonged to almost every party but the republican.* His name reminds us (as Old Abe would say) of a little story:—

New Hampshire was a strongly federal State down to the election of 1800, when she gave old John Adams a rousing majority. But Jefferson was chosen, and she soon went over to his party, which came into power hungry as wolves, and began to appropriate "the spoils." They found the Supreme Court composed entirely of federal judges, all in office for life. After duly reconnoitering the position, and finding it impregnable to a front attack, they flanked it by abolishing the court and creating a superior court in its stead—all the judges republicans, of course. The father of William Claggett aforesaid was one of the the judges thus legislated out.

The federalists were deeply excited, and denounced the change as an unexampled wrong and outrage. Among them young Claggett (now just deceased) was sitting in the most frequented tavern in Amherst, declaiming fiercely against "the overturn of the judiciary." A wayfarer, who did not sympathize with these lamentations, at length broke in as follows:—"See here, young man! your talk reminds me of an incident that occurred down the road this morning. As I passed, I noticed a load of hay upset, and a boy standing beside it crying. 'Boy,' I said, 'don't blubber after that baby fashion. I will help you get your hay up again.' 'Oh, it isn't the hay, sir!' he responded; 'I don't care a button for that; but father is under the load!'"—New York Tribune.

* Mr. Claggett voted the Republican ticket in this city for a number of years.

NEW INVENTIONS.—The fertility of the American mind in its conception of labor-saving machines is unequalled. Acknowledged to be the most ingenious inventive nation upon the globe, the United States has swelled its Patent Office to a size commensurate to the requirements of the age, but in every large city numerous harpies await an opportunity to bury their talons in the flesh of the originator of new inventions, drawing largely upon his purse, or sapping the benefits of his brain. To avoid such a misfortune, it will be well for those desiring patents to employ only those solicitors who are known to be reliable.

In our paper to-day will be found the annual announcement of R. H. Eddy, Esq., No. 76 State St., Boston, long and favorably known as a most successful solicitor of American and Foreign Patents. Aside from his experience and thorough knowledge of every detail of the business, Mr. Eddy brings a courtesy and straightforwardness of dealing that renders business with him a pleasure.

☞ A correspondent writing from Wilhelmshohe, under date of December 12th, says that Napoleon enjoys health and daily takes an airing on foot or horseback. He speaks freely on the chances of his restoration. "It would be quite well," he said, "if it were publicly understood that I never intend to remount the throne on the strength of a military pronunciamento, by the aid of the soldiery just as little as by that of Prussia. I am the sole sovereign, who governs next to the grace of God by the will of the people, and I shall never be unfaithful to the origin of either. The whole people which has four times approved of my election must recall me by its deliberate votes, else I shall never return to France. The army possesses no more right to place me on the throne than had the lawyers or loafers to push me from it. The French people whose sovereign I am have the sole decision."

☞ Geese and lambs have been prowling about the sanctum of the editor of the Peterboro' Transcript.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

THE

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

OF THE

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

"THE MARVEL OF STEAM ENGINEERING."—The Philadelphia correspondent of the Iron Age contains the following description of a gem of a steam engine:

"We have a perfect host of interesting and useful inventions to note this week—an embarrass de richesses (it would be more popular to make the quotation in German just now) which completely overpowers the resources of even the solid nonpareil of your columns. Of this number we extract the most noteworthy, reserving, of course, the bonne bouche for the last.

Prominent among these is what seems justly termed the marvel of steam engineering.' This little machine, which is a rotary steam engine, certainly combines the maximum of power in the minimum of space, and seems likely to go far toward superseding the piston engine. Thus, for economy and space, we have an eight-horse engine, with governor attached; the entire, enclosed with a circular case, 28 inches in diameter by 2 inches wide, and looking not unlike an ordinary grind-stone when hung in a frame. The principle upon which the invention is based is the same as that involved in the turbine water-wheel, with the essential difference, however, that the engine consists of two wheels within one case, rotating in opposite directions with equal force and speed—one, the outer wheel, being driven by the direct action of steam upon buckets extending around the inside surface of its arm and the other by the reactive force of the steam which escapes from two tubular radial arms, bent and flattened at their ends, from which the steam is discharged.

This latter wheel has a hollow journal, connected with the supply steam pipe by a stationary steamtight sleeve through which the steam is led to the hollow axle or journal of the wheel. These wheels, therefore, have equal velocity and power, and each has a pully attached, whence belts are carried to the countershaft, one of the belts being reversed or crossed. The advantages of this ingenious piece of mechanism are numerous. It costs but one-half the price of a piston engine; economy of space and weight, a 30-horse engine weighing but 800 pounds; simplicity of construction, having no valves, eccentrics, cut-offs, or connecting rods; and, moreover, that no engineer is required to run it, any one competent to fire and watch a boiler being sufficient. For farm-labor, hoisting purposes, drilling, factory uses, etc., this engine must become valuable, and a very slight adaptation of boiler, with the consumption of the exhaust steam, to avoid noise, would make it a most valuable motor for our city railway cars. The specimen visited was certainly not larger than an ordinary cheese, and was yet driving a fan-blower and a circular saw of thirty inches diameter, with power to spare. Although not an entirely new invention, having been in use for two years, it is well worthy of notice, and to many of your readers would be a valuable and economical addition to the workshop."

☞ The Tammany organization don't propose to run Gov. Hoffman of New York for President, next year, according to the N. Y. Telegram. With a Senate overwhelmingly republican, and the operation of the Tenure of Office act, as illustrated by the experience of Andy Johnson, plain before them, they see no great advantage in acheiving the Presidency. So they think Governor Hoffman can do better, and wait, leaving the nomination to other men and other sections of the democratic party. A democratic President, chosen to act with the present Senate, would prove about as potent as the Vice-President, without his casting vote. He might be permitted to appoint his own coachman, his private secretary and ushers, but the possibility of his appointing a postmaster or removing a consular agent would be too preposterous for a republican Senate.

The Telegram says that Gov. Hoffman is really aiming for the Senatorial seat now occupied by Senator Conkling, whose term expires in 1872. The democracy are also scheming for a new constitutional amendment, changing the mode of choosing United States senators, and proportioning their number to the population and not the number of the States, trusting to obtain control of the Senate thereby. The constitution provides for the adoption of such an amendment by the separate action of the State legislatures, without regard to Congress; the requisite number of States having passed it, neither the Senate or the House of Representatives need take any action. It is too bold an experiment to work well.

☞ On Monday morning, forty-one State prison convicts employed in the coal mines at Battle Creek, near Jasper, Tenn., marched out of the stockade as usual to commence work, provided with picks, and guarded by six well armed men. After entering the mine they suddenly turned upon the guards, knocked them over with their picks, and rushed out. One was shot dead and forty fled in a body to the Alabama line. But one has as yet been recaptured.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect.

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.

The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE

On which they are constructed brings the core o centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are Mounted in the Finest Manner.

In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white ca[illegible] and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

JACK CLENNAM'S ROMANCE.

She was sitting under the shadow of the elm picking the tiny spires of fresh grass, and tender clover leaves, and pouting prettily, as only Vinnie Rosselle could pout.

"I am sure," she was saying to the sunbrowned fellow that stood above her, "I never dreamed, Mr. Clennam, of flirting."

"I dare say not. I never knew a flirt who did."

"Then of course, you mean to infer that I am a flirt."

"I cannot call you otherwise, Miss Rosselle. You have encouraged me, or I'd have never dared to say this to you. I asked you to be my wife, because I loved you and had a fancy that you loved me."

"It was indeed a fancy," she said, with a shrug of her white shoulders, that gleamed prettily through the lilac crepe. "We have been excellent friends, Mr. Clennam, but we have been nothing more, to my knowledge, and I am surprised that you should so presume upon it as to make my—"

She paused and flushed.

"Your condescension, Miss Rosselle," he said with a smile.

"Yes, if you wish it so."

"Well, go on. You had not completed your sentence."

"As to make my condescension a pretext for love-making," she concluded.

"It was presumption, and I ask forgiveness."

He walked away without waiting for her to grant it, and she went on furiously picking the clover leaves and crushing them in her soft fingers. Once he looked back at her, sitting there, the only spot in the broad field that was not a soft, mellow green—the first fresh garb of a balmy spring. But she, in her bright lilac dress, with its puffings and gossamer folds, her golden hair waved back from her pretty face, was the freshest, brightest spot there, and had been, ten minutes before, the dearest to him.

Now he was angry with himself for having told her what was in his heart, and thus made a tool of himself. Now he believed what he had before laughed at—that she would marry Adolphe Garvin, the only child of a helpless old millionaire, who was in no way likely to live a year longer. He had laughed before, with all his money, it did not seem possible that he should win Vinnie Rosselle, for he was but a few doors removed from a downright clown. Everybody said so, even Vinnie herself; but she had treated him well, and might not think an offer of marriage from him presumption, when it was backed by a round million of dollars.

He turned this over busily in his troubled mind and by the time he reached the hotel he had married her, and sent her away in a coach-and-four, with the lamb-like Adolphe beside her.

She came up from the field, with her white lace scarf thrown carelessly over her head, and Adolphe, who was at that very moment lounging on the piazza, went flying down like a mad creature, to swing open the gate for her.

"Bless me! Miss Rosselle!" he said, stroking his moustache. "Did you go strolling all the way down through the field alone? Weren't you afraid of horrid cows and things?"

She laughed.

"No; I believe I had an escort when I started, but he run away."

After hearing this Jack Clennam felt it best to run away, and he went on down the country road, still thinking and wishing that by some unaccountable stroke he could suddenly become rich, so that he could marry her, and make her happy.

"Well there was no use in wishing. I never shall be rich in time to marry her, and if I were, there would be little pleasure in marrying a woman who cared only for your money."

He walked away down to the lake, found a boat, and went skimming over the water, talking to himself, whistling and singing, and with every dip of the oar, drowning or—trying hard—and fancying that he was succeeding in drowning, the love he had treasured for beautiful Vinnie Rosselle.

It was late when he went back to the hotel and there were but a few upon the piazza, and those few were laughing gaily.

"What is it?" he asked; "what is the joke?"

"The best—the very best of the season. Vinnie Rosselle is engaged to Adolphe Garvin. I thought you stood a fair chance, Jack? Well, it was Brain versus Money triumphs."

Thus ended his first romance.

* * * * * * *

Jack Clennam, entering the counting room, where, for five years, he had done the work, in a satisfactory manner, of two men, acting as agent, bookkeeper, or whatever was required, was more than satisfied at the cordiality of the reception he received.

"It's good for one's eyes to see you here, Jack, my boy," said Mr. Leroy. "I think we would be obliged to give up business, but for you. I've a little item of news for you. You know poor Alton's death leaves a vacancy?"

"Yes, sir."

1000 GALS. PURE CIDER, for sal by BUTLER & LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market Square.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could find one at hand. Parents, keep it in your houses for the accidents that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1871.

THE WAR.—General Chauzy announces that General Jouffroy attacked the Prussians on the left bank of the Loire, near Vendome, and completely defeated him, taking 200 prisoners. General Chauzy adds that he will energetically follow up the success and continue a forward movement.

The army of the Loire is to march directly on Paris. As the French advance, the inhabitants hasten to join the ranks, and the army increases rapidly. The smaller towns now resist the enemy, as in the case of Tours, which, in consequence of the combat at Monni, was not occupied by Germans. At Argent and Coq, the Prussians were repulsed by the population.

Despaches received in London announce a most important and decisive victory for the French troops. On Friday a body of French troops recently posted at Havre marched in the directions of Lillebonne, a small town situated on the left bank of the Seine, and attacked by the Prussian position at that place. The engagement becoming general, a heavy and determined battle ensued. The ground was desperately contested by both armies, but after six hours' fighting the Prussians were compelled to abandon their position. Lillebonne was accordingly evacuated and the French troops occupied the town.

DEATH OF GEN. PRIM.—The ablest Spanish leader of the age died on Thursday at the age of 56 years, from wounds received at the hands of assassins, a few days previous. Gen. Prim has been virtual Dictator of Spain since the flight of Queen Isabella and his offer of the crown of Spain to a Hohenzollern prince was the pretext for the commencement of the war now existing between France and Prussia. Through Gen. Prim's instrumentality Victor Emmanuel's son Amadeus was called to the throne of Spain, and while the King was travelling to his new kingdom, his main support and adlest counsellor was assassinated. King Amadeus will have no easy task to rule the treacherous Spaniards and his crown may be a crown of thorns rather than roses. Who wouldn't be a poor King over a wretchedly ruled people? Should France succeed as a Republic, Amadeus' crown might be as valueless as Napoleon's claim to the French throne.

☞ The failure of Oakes Ames, the well-known manufacturer and capitalist of Boston, who has been reputed as worth many millions, is announced. He is a member of Congress from the Second Massachusetts district, a director of the Union Pacific railroad, and a partner in the great Ames manufacturing company, which turns out a prodigious quantity of shovels, hoes and axes. His brother and partner, Oliver Ames, is President of the Union Pacific, and each of the two gentleman have a son concerned in the Ames Company. It is probable that the entire family is involved in the disaster, from which, however, it is to be hoped that they will recover. The extent of the failure is not stated, but it is doubtless "something worth while."

☞ The British government has ordered instructions to be telegraphed to the government officials at Canada to permit no further seizures of vessels on the contested fishing ground. A commissioner has been appointed to go to Washington for the purpose of discussing the treat relative to the Canadian fisheries, and with the view of arranging such fresh clauses as it may be found expedient to adopt in the circumstances, and as will meet the wishes of both governments in the matter. It is understood that the policy of the British government will be to defend its actions with reference to the seizures in question, and to maintain that they were made in the legitimate exercise of its rights under the existing treaty.

☞ Four steamers and their cargoes were burned at New Orleans on Sunday. Steamship De Soto, for New York, took fire twenty seven miles below the city. She ran on McCalls's flat, where she burned to the water's edge. The steamer and cargo, consisting of 988 bales of cotton, 200 hhds. of sugar and 1000 bbls. of molasses, valued at $250,000, are almost a total loss; insurance unknown.

☞ At a watch meeting Saturday night at Mount Zion Church, Providence, there was much religious excitement, during which Mrs. Sarah Gibson, a colored woman, dropped down in a fit, dying almost instantly.

☞ Gen. Prim's front title was Don Juan, Marquis de los Castellegos, Comte de Reus.

A TRIUMPH OF HUMAN GENIUS.

Nearly four miles in the bowels of the earth, and at depth of 5485 feet, or more than one mile beneath the summit of the Alp, the workmen who have been engaged for more than thirteen years upon the great Mont Cenis tunnel, met and clasped hands a day or two ago. Although it will require several months to put the tunnel in running order for regular trains, the success of that bold and almost audacious undertaking may be regarded as fully established. Whilst this work will be ranked among the other marvels of useful construction peculiar to the present generation, such as the Atlantic Cables, the Pacific Railroad, and the Suez canal, the Mont Cenis tunnel is in several ways more interesting and wonderful than any of them. It is more than seven miles and a half from the French entrance near Modane, in Savoy, to the Italian entrance near Bardonneche, and the whole of this vast distance had to be worked from the two ends, as the mountain through which it is cut is far too high to permit the sinking of "shafts" in order to furnish additional ends or faces from which to carry on the work, according to the practice in all long tunnels. It would have been a work of almost, if not quite equal difficulty to sink shafts a mile in depth, as to cut the great tunnel itself.

But these "shafts" as used in ordinary tunnels, have another important use besides furnishing additional means for carrying on the work; they supply the fresh air and ventilation which are indispensable to the working of the tunnel. The vast depth of the Mont Cenis tunnel precluding the use of "shafts," some other mode of ventilation was essential, and here the engineers encountered their first forbidding difficulty. After the cutting had penetrated some distance into the mass of the mountain, every discharge of blast powder left the confined air space of the tunnel filled with sulphurous and other noxious gases unfit for breathing, and these vapors moved away so sluggishly that a great deal of time was lost before the workmen could go to their labors again. It was therefore indispensable to get fresh air to the inner end of the tunnel rapidly and in large volume.

Whilst the best means for the solution of this formidable problem engaged the attention of the engineers, they also found that "drilling" by hand labor was far too slow a process for a tunnel, nearly eight miles long. The hand labor of that country was cheap enough, but it consumed too much time, and time is a large element in any work where interest is to be paid on many millions of dollars. But what kind of "power" could be used was the next problem, and, at the first glance, it seemed to be quite as difficult to solve as the question of ventilation without shafts. Steam power could not be used, because the fires would still further vitiate the air in the tunnel by consuming the oxygen and emitting suffocating gases. At last, by one of those inspirations of genius which occasionally come to the aid of the engineer, and thereby make possible the seemingly impossible, both these formidable difficulties were overcome by the use of "compressed atmospheric air." This air, "compressed" by an ingenious system of hydraulic and pneumatic machinery, placed outside of the tunnel, was carried by iron pipes to the remote interior of the cutting, and by its force it first supplied "power" for drilling the rock, and then the "escape" or "exhaust" air furnished pure air for the men to breathe. Thus, the practicability of the eight mile tunnel, "without shafts," was demonstrated by a pure triumph of intellect over what seemed to be physical and scientific impossibilities.

We would like to describe to the mechanics who read the Ledger, the machinery for compressing the air and for using it in the tunnel, but there is no way to do it without the use of numerous engraved illustrations or copies of the drawings we have before us. We may say briefly that the air was condensed by means of water power furnished by the streams and lakes on the mountain sides, far above the level of the tunnel. A column of water, in a pipe, 164 feet in height, pressing upon confined air in airtight airholders at the foot of the column, compressed it until it had the effective force of about five atmospheres, equal to about sixty to seventy-five pounds of steam pressure. Here, then, was the "power," stationed outside of the tunnel. This compressed air being led by suitable iron pipes into that part of the tunnel where the men and the drilling machines were to work on the hard rock, the air was fed through the small fed pipes into the cylinders of small engines, and used precisely as so much steam would be. When its work as "power," was done, and it was blown off into the tunnel, it was so much additional fresh air thrown out at every stroke of the pistons and drills, and these worked at the rate of 200 strokes a minute. When a blast was fired, and the working end of the tunnel became filled with noxious gasses, a full flow of the compressed air was turned on from an opening in the main pipe, and the force of this instantly blew the clouds of suffocating smoke and gas away towards the mouth of the tunnel, one, two, three, or four miles off and left the working end amply supplied with cool, dry, fresh air. This grand device thus furnished power to drive the machinery, air for respiration, and wind to drive away the poisonous vapors generated, or encountered in the course of the work. It also cooled the temperature inside the tunnel, and furnished heat by blast at the forges outside. It was the prime motor of the Mont Cenis tunnel.

The precision of the science and art of engineering will be popularly understood when the reader reflects that the working parties who cut this tunnel were working in opposite directions from two points nearly eight miles distant from each other, a mile under ground, with no guides except those furnished by science as to whether they were going straight towards each other or not,—and yet they met each other exactly, at nearly four miles distant from daylight at either end! The work was originally undertaken by the Sardinian Government, the whole of the territory at that time (1857) being Italian, and the engineers who planned the work and machinery were Italians, Messrs. Grattoni and Sommeiller. Subsequently the expense was shared jointly by the French and Italian Governments.—Philadelphia Ledger.

New Publications Received.

The publication of The Radical is to be resumed, beginning the February number, 1871. The full list of old contributors is retained, and new ones are to be added. It will endeavor to represent, as heretofore, the thoughtful, radical sentiment of the country on religious, social, scientific, and political questions. The Radical is published in Boston, at Three Dollars a year. The present is the eighth volume.

Mr. Childs, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, has published an Almanac as a present for his subscribers,—a little pamphlet crowded with useful information.

Every Saturday, opening number of the New Year, has a picture of Garibaldi and is beautifully illustrated.

—The editor of the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin is bothering his head over the following problem: "If 4 dogs with 10 legs can catch 83 rabbits with 27, in 14 minutes, how many legs must the same rabbits have to get away from 8 dogs, with 32 legs, in 17 minutes and a half—allowing 365 days in the year.

—At a wedding recently, when the officiating priest asked the lady, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" she dropped the prettiest courtesy, and, with a modesty which lent her beauty in additional grace, replied, "If you please."

—A Chicago husband went home drunk the other day, whereupon his indignant wife soaked his head in a tin pail full of scalding water. He had no hair worth mentioning at last accounts.

—Hot lemonade is said to be a cure for the dysentery.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it robs him of strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull and stupid or debilitated, pain or pressure in the head, take cold easily, you may be sure you have the Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. Dr. R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., is the sole proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy—a perfect specific for Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," or Catarrhal Headache, which he sends to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a sudorific, by toning the vessels of the skin to perform the office of eliminating from the system, through the pores of exhausted matter through that natural sieve of the system. Being a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, when these have a tendency to dropsy, and as a blood depurent and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, antiseptic, diaphoretic and antilithous properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawjel

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn3

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a miserably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, and down in the South, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A cool hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is six miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but this is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives for winter. The reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to get worse; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Abandon pills, or almost any other of the local remedies I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, or deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so Extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to what I say. A person may say that "great quantities of" Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida seldom die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population dies of this complaint. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to buy a few bottles of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in connection with my other my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, and then in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My objection to giving them to the stomach,—to get a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have no fear of such a PATIENT. Good food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is the result followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is! If we do not take into account many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be surprised at the fearful number of some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than any other pills, and have none of its horrible effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have a cough, or any of what are aural diarrhœic cases, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take some of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a fever, or ague, or the last chill, if it should be at night, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water and eat watermelons, pears, apples, peaches, or corn, and not fear the result of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in malarious districts against fever and ague, if taken them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office in Boston, No. 15 Temple Place, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 2, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer shows the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are consumptive or not. I devote a lifetime to understand, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken exactly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can be made a sound one, and consumptives without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

Deposits—Portsmouth Savings Bank.
House For Sale.
Sixth Entertainment—P. M. L. A. Caucus—Men of Temperance.

THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT will be inaugurated at the Court House at 10 o'clock, A. M., to-day.

☞ M. Kiebler is opening the New Year by selling off his stock of clothing at No. 19 Market Street at very reasonable prices. His custom work is of the best.

☞ The Caucus of the Prohibitionists of Portsmouth, for the choice of delegates to the various conventions, is called at Sons of Temperance Hall, Ladd Street, on Thursday evening.

☞ The scholars of the Boys' High School presented their teachers with New Year presents. Mr. Lewis E. Smith received two elegant silver salts with spoons, and Mr. Stephen W. Clarke received a beautiful silver butter dish (finely wrought) and knife and fork rests.

☞ Mr. John M. Davis had a horse and sleigh damaged, Monday afternoon, through the animal taking fright at the steam fire engines which were working on Market Square. The sleigh was somewhat stove up, and the horse injured by striking a stone post. Mr. Davis was not hurt.

☞ Our Lyceum-goers are to have a rich entertainment at the Temple, this evening, and tickets will be in demand. John Albee, Esq., of Newcastle will lecture on "The Farm," and Cushing's fine orchestra will perform a number of pieces, see programme in advertisement. We are pleased to learn also that the audience are to be favored with another "picture" by one of the gifted sons of Portsmouth, to be read by Miss Fitts.

THE Y. M. C. ASSOCIATION ROOM, No. 3 Congress Street, was dedicated, Sunday evening. The exercises were: Singing by the congregation, invocation by Eld. E. Owen, reading of scriptures by Rev. G. M. Adams, singing by the congregation, dedicatory address by Rev. R. W. Clark, Jr., remarks by Rev. L. L. Harmon, Elder E. Owen and others, dedicatory prayer by Rev. W. H. Alden, singing of doxology by the congregation.

☞ The fifth of the series of Temperance lectures by the clergymen of this city, was delivered by Rev. Wm. H. Alden, pastor of the Baptist Society, in the Middle Street church on Sunday evening, to a large congregation. Mr. Alden ably pictured the misery resulting from intemperance, to the drinker and those with whom he is connected, and advocated total abstinence from all intoxicating drinks; and expressed the opinion that it is the duty of ministers to preach against intemperance, as against any other form of wrong-doing.

AN ELEGANT JEWEL CASE, unique and elaborate in its design and of beautiful workmanship, is on exhibition in the window of Mr. T. F. Burtt's jewelry store, No. 3 Market Street. Watch dogs, birds of various kinds and a "cunning player of the harp" keep guard at different points in the ornamental work surmounting the cover of the box, and the interior is finished in a style to correspond suitably with the outside. The amount of ingenuity and patient labor required in its construction must have been very great, and whoever becomes its possessor will be able to boast the ownership of an exquisite and tasteful piece of workmanship, and one not to be easily imitated.

CITY OFFICERS, 1871.

Mayor—Joseph B. Adams.

Aldermen—Albert A. Fernald, Geo. Annable, Richard H. Waldron, Thomas E. O. Marvin, Charles H. Mendum, John E. Giddings, Albert R. Hatch, Henry F. Wendell.

Councilmen—James A. Waterhouse, John G. Tibbetts, James H. Thompson, Charles E. Dixon, John T. French, Israel P. Miller, Coolidge Perry, Oliver Hanscom, William J. Frazer, Andrew P. Wendell.

Assessors—John Davis, Thomas Wiggin, Henry M. Clark, Samuel S. Whidden, James Moses, Benjamin Russell, Jeremiah D. Goodrich.

Overseers of Poor—John A. Lamprey, Charles C. Akerman, James W. Nutter.

School Committee—Ward One, Rev. Lot L. Harmon, Daniel J. Vaughan, 3 years; A. Coburn Hoyt, William F. Fernald, 2 years; Samuel M. DeMeritt, Dr. Edward S. Ryder, 1 year. Ward Two, Elijah Clough, 3 years; Wingate N. Isley, Edward P. Kimball, 2 years; Rev. George M. Adams, William R. Preston, 1 year. Ward Three, Thomas H. Odion, Woodbury Gerrish, 3 years; Albert R. Hatch, Augustus Walden, 2 years; Obadiah Stoddard, Aaron L. Rand, 1 year.

CITY COUNCIL.—The last meeting of the Councils for 1870 was held on Monday evening. Ald. Cotton absent. The usual amount of closing-up business for the year was transacted in the Aldermen. South Summer St. was accepted, and on motion of Ald. Nowell, the name of the new highway from Middle St. (opposite Summer St.) to South Street was named Miller's Avenue. Voted to procure grade of said Avenue and of Lincoln Avenue. Voted not to change the name of Anthony Street, as voted at a former meeting. Voted to reinstate Police Officer Maloon. After voting thanks to the Mayor, City Clerk and Messenger, the Board adjourned sine die,—and afterwards held an informal meeting at Whitcomb's saloon.

Common Council.—No business coming before the Council, adjourned sine die, after accepting the Mayor's invitation to join with the other Board in partaking of his hospitality.

☞ We have seen a crayon drawing of the Sagamore House, Frost's Point, executed by Harry Remick, which exhibits a good deal of skill in that line and is highly creditable to the artist. The popular summer resort is faithfully represented, with Whale's Back and the islands in the distance on the right, and the South End of Portsmouth on the left of the picture. Mr. James S. Peirce, for some time past associated in the management of the Sagamore House, and now conducting the Rockingham, has the drawing in his possession; and it will probably ornament one of the public rooms of the latter splendid establishment, when the extensive improvements and alterations which are now being carried on are completed.

☞ The Charlestown Advertiser locates Kittery in New Hampshire. This is Olive Logan-ish, i. e. tit for tat.

ADVANCE PAYMENT FOR NEWSPAPERS.—No subscriber worth retaining will object to the pay-in advance system. Those who wanted to hear Jenny Lind sing had to pay in advance; and what were her divine strains compared with those which flow from editorial pens? You can't take your seat in a ricketty mail coach, or a fly-from-the-track railroad car, without paying in advance for the risk of being killed. If you would hear a concert or literary lecture, or see Tom Thumb, or the Siamese twins, you must plank down your twenty-five, or fifty, or one hundred cents before you can pass the threshold. Nay, if any one has so little regard for his own character as to want to read Barnum's Autobiography, he must first pay for it. And yet men hesitate and cavil about paying in advance for a paper furnished at a price on the very brink and utmost verge of prime cost.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

DEARBORN'S, Market St.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 3½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Concluded from first page.

along in years, and not over anxious to take all the care of this business upon ourselves. There's no one in the world to whom we'd sooner give this place in the firm than yourself, Jack."

There was a vigorous shaking of hands, and afterward a week's business, and, when the next month came in, there appeared a new sign, with Leroy, Henderson & Clennam shining out in great gold letters, upon a great breadth of black ground, over the door of the wholesale clothing house.

There was plenty of work to do—in fact, so much, that he found no time for dreaming over his lost love; but once in a while he caught a glimpse of her, and always with that milk-and-water effusion named Adolphe Garvin. Then he lost sight of her, and for a year he knew nothing of her. Of course, she had forgotten him, and he—well, he said to himself:

"I have forgotten that I ever loved her.

"It was growing on to the winter of the year. November had come in, with dreary, drizzling rain, and cold, bleak winds, when one night Jack Clennam left the store, and entered a car to ride up town. It was uncomfortably full, as horse-cars are apt to be, now and then, and he found himself crowded in between a slight young girl, with a bundle, and a cross and very damp gentleman.

The last named personage did not trouble or interest him, but the young girl did.

She had on a water-proof cloak, and a white cloud tied over her hat, so that he could not plainly see her face; but the form drooped as if weary, and the hands (one of them ungloved) clasping the bundle, were small and thin.

He leaned down and touched her arm.

"Allow me to take that heavy bundle. It will require all your strength to keep your feet."

She glanced up quickly. A very pale startled face it was, with large, sad eyes, and a weary, childish mouth.

He leaned over again.

"Why Vinnie—Miss Rosselle—is this you?"

She was trembling so violently that she could not reply, and he took the bundle without another word, and drew her hand through his arm.

A few streets further the horse-car stopped, and he went out, lifting her from the platform to the street, and walked along beside her.

At the corner of the next block she paused.

"Mr. Clennam, please don't go any further. We are very—that is—we are poor!"

She had no need to tell him this. He saw it all in the pale face, the poor dress, and the sad manner.

"Well, that is not a crime is it?"

"No, not that; but we have lived poorly, mother and I. We are all alone. Father is dead, and we were left penniless. I have to support poor, dear mother and myself, so you know we are not very comfortable. This is my work."

She touched the bundle, and tried to smile through her tears.

"Vinnie," he said, gravely," I thought you were married."

She turned to him, now, with her face deadly white, and the tears fast falling.

"You of all others, had no better opinion of my womanhood than to believe I could marry that man! Oh, Mr. Clennam, I was very helpless when I found that papa left mother and I nothing—not even the home and the furniture we so long knew; but I never dreamed of turning to him for comfort and a home."

He went steadily on beside her to the very door of her poor home, and went away, in the dawning of a second romance.

Vinnie Rosselle poor! Those words haunted him, and the white, worn face haunted him.

Poor, and poorly clad! She who had laughed at his love story down at the hotel, two years before, when she had picked the clover leaves with jeweled fingers, was now only a poor working girl!

He laughed. It was not because he rejoiced at her sorrow, but because of the pride and false views of life that in those days had separated them.

He went around his work with a cheerfulness that astonished himself and every one else, and lived over the day of expectation he had lived before, in his summer in the country.

One night he went down to her home, and entered. It was just the place he had expected—all neatness, and carefully managed poverty. Two little rooms, one for the invalid mother, which served as chamber, and another the parlor, kitchen and dining-room.

She was on her knees at the grate, toasting bread, and before her on the hearth, stood a tray with a tiny bit of butter in one saucer, and a tinier bit of jelly in another, and a cup of tea.

On the table there was another cup of tea, and a slice of toasted bread; but the butter and jelly were wanting. He saw it all through the half-open door, and thought:

"Her mother's supper is on the tray, and her own on the table, I suppose. Brave little girl!"

She sprung up, with a very red face, when he knocked, and went to meet him.

"I did not come to disturb you, Vinnie," he said.

She smiled, and said he was very welcome, and looked doleefully at the fork, and the half-toasted bread on the end of it.

"Yes, I know—at least, I hope so. I'm an intruder, but I came to ask you a question. Let me ask it now, and then I shall know whether I am welcome or not. If I am I will remain; if not, I will go away at once."

He took the fork, and knelt down before the grate, to complete his work.

"Vinnie, sit here." He pushed a little footstool to her. "There! Now I came to say over the very words I said to you two years ago. Then you were pulling clover-leaves, and to-night you were toasting bread. I pray that the answer may be as widely different. I told you that I loved you, and asked you to be my wife. I tell you the same now, and ask you to be my wife. Vinnie, my darling!"

He put out his hand and took her own, and she bowed her head upon them, and said, through her tears:

"Oh, Jack, I don't deserve this! What can I say?"

"Say yes."

"Yes."

He put his arm around her, and drew her close to him."

"Jack dear, you are burning the bread!

"So I am!" he laughed. "Never mind. I'll take it in myself, and ask your mother's pardon, and with it ask her for her daughter."

This was the ending of his romance, for afterward it was all a blissful reality.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,
MANUFACTURED BY
J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,
Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect.
Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.
The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.
THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE
On which they are constructed brings the core o centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.
They are Mounted in the finest Manner.
In frames of the best quality, ofall materials used for that purpose.
THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY
Cannot be Surpassed.
CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

WAR! WAR!! WAR!!!
GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.
"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"
It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.
THE ÆTNA
is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE
Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.
All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.
They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.
They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.
They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.
These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those delerious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HEALTH, MONEY, COMFORT.
TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR
FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.
This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.
1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.
In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

THE PRAYER ANSWERED.

"Hattie, sister, I want a drum,
Large and pretty, and round and red,
So if I pray do you think 'twill come?
'Ask and receive,' the Lord has said,"
But the sister, musing, shook her head.

"How should I know? dear brother, try,
You can but fail," was the soft reply,
And to his darkened room he went,
Still on this simple thought intent,
To ask the Lord for the precious boon,
"And please, dear Father, send it soon,
Large and pretty, round and red,
Send me a drum, dear Lord," he said.
No answer still, and he came one day,
And laid his hand on his sister's breast;
"Hattie, I think I will not pray,
Give me a drum, dear Father, lest
My prayer should wrong him. He knows best."

So back to his simple toil and play,
Calm and content he went that day;
But God who garners the smallest seed
Of faith and patience, to dower with meed,
Of bud and blossom, in his good time,
Owned and answered the faith sublime.
For other ears than the sister's heard,
Unknown to the child, his simple word;
And when the glad New Year had come,
With its festive mirth and merry hum,
Of household greetings, a brass new drum,
Gladdened the sight of the wondering boy;
He could not speak from the sudden joy;
At length he lifted the lashes dim
With happy tears. "It's just like him,
Just like the Lord," he murmured low,
"And just the drum I wanted so,
Though for a smaller one I prayed,
For, sister Hattie, I felt afraid,
Lest the dear Lord I might ask amiss,
To pray for a drum so big as this."

New Publications Received.

The Women of New York, a handsomely-printed book of 650 pages, bound in three different styles. Published by Geo. Ellington, New York, and for sale only by subscription. The lives of all classes of women in New York, from the highest to the lowest, from the purest to the most degraded, are described, and numerous engravings serve to bring the written descriptions more vividly before the mind's eye of the reader. High and low life, the boarding-school, the dance-hall and the lodging-den, female pickpockets, ballet girls, lady physicians, spiritualists, working women, female benevolent orders, woman's rights champions, and other characters and scenes, are all painted; and a great number of illustrative anecdotes are found in every part of the book. The language is well chosen, and the book is one of much interest. An agent is now in this city procuring subscriptions.

ADMIRAL PORTER AND THE NAVAL STAFF.—The impression has gone abroad that the staff officers of the navy are busily engaged in an attempt to defeat the confirmation of Admiral Porter. Why such an impression is entertained we do not know, unless the public think the staff would be glad to commend to his own lips the chalice he gave to them when he took away their rank. We have good authority for saying that the staff officers of the navy have taken no part in the controversy about Admiral Porter; for the only question at issue, so far as they are concerned, is one of principle based upon right and justice, admitted by all unbiassed minds, and by a majority of the "line" itself. The question of staff rank is one of high principle, and has nothing to do with Admiral Porter's confirmation; and if any officer is trying to defeat his confirmation, he is doing it without the sanction of the corps, in whose estimation such a personal issue would belittle their cause and imperil its success.—Boston Advertiser.

—An elephant, which was taken ill last summer, still remains an invalid at Canandaigua, confined to his bed from croup, rheumatism, bronchitis, and general debility. It takes five doctors to attend him, and he takes medicine by the hogshead. The owner is uxxious to have him die.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are somewhat subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

And Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your house for the enjoyment that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1871.

THE WAR.—German accounts of the bombardment of the forts to the northeast of Paris on Saturday, claim a decided victory, compelling the French troops to evacuate the outposts of forts Nogent and Rosny at an early hour Sunday morning. Fort Noisy remained silent throughout the day on Sunday, and it is thought has been or will soon be evacuated.

French reports say that a severe engagement, in which the French were successful, preceded the evacuation of the town of Graz by the Germans.

The reports that the German Army of the Loire has retired on Glen are apparently confirmed.

A portion of Gen. Chauzy's army is now strongly posted near Vendome. The engagements along the Loire for a week past have all been successes for the French.

The early fall of Paris is anticipated by the Prussians.

Bismarck is ill, but not so as to alarm his admirers.

☞ The Prussian government explains the sinking of the British colliers in the Seine, by stating that they were fired at to bring them to.

☞ The report that an English commission was to be sent to the United States to settle the dispute about the fisheries, is untrue.

☞ The Republican State Convention meets at Concord to-day.

☞ A few days since, while Mr. ———, well known for his fiddling as well as drinking propensities, was taking a rum nap in one of the by-places of this city, some wicked wag abstracted his pipe from his pocket, and after placing about a common thimbleful of tobacco in the bottom, filled it nearly full of gunpower, and covering it well with the aforementioned weed, replaced it in the pocket of the violinist, and awaited the result. Pretty soon our friend awoke and drawing his pipe from his coat pocket, lighted it and after smoking a minute or more, bang went the powder, blowing the pipe in forty pieces, singeing the hair and eyebrows, and nearly lifting the cap from the head of the smoker. Some tall swearing ensued, but as no material damage was sustained, the fiddler settled the affair by an extra drink, thus placing himself in a situation to have the same or other tricks again played upon him.

WHAT IS THE BEST INVESTMENT?—Many parties who are about this time receiving dividends upon stocks, interest upon bonds, payments upon mortgages, or upon running accounts, are looking about at the beginning of the New Year for the most desirable investment for amounts from $500 to $10,000. There are avenues enough for investing money, but it is a serious question which one combines the most elements of safety and profit. Without special disparagement of others, it is evident that the Central Railroad Company of Iowa, whose Treasurer advertises their First Mortgage Bonds in another column, offer a very strong security, which is largely profitable as well. The railroad built by this Company is located in the heart of one of the finest regions of the fertile West. Its railroad connections, on the north and the south, are manifestly valuable. It is the only north and south line across the State, and (a fact which to many may appear the most important of all,) it is not merely a contemplated line, to be built if money enough can be realized by from the sale of the bonds to do it, but the whole road is built and equipped, except 25 miles, where nothing remains but to surface up the grading, which is already done, and lay the iron. The road is now running and earning money for the payment of interest upon its bonds, and it is so situated that its earnings must inevitably increase steadily and rapidly. These bonds will pay 7 per cent. gold for thirty years. Nothing is safer than a Government bond. But the Government is going to redeem its bonds as fast as the state of the Treasury will warrant it. Moreover, at the present prices of these bonds, they pay but little more than 5 per cent. upon the capital invested. Now, an exchange of Governments may be made for Central Iowas, by which the party exchanging will receive a large difference in cash, and then an increase of annual interest upon the investment of from 2:14 to 3:56 per cent. gold.

The Central Iowa Bonds are endorsed in the highest terms by Messrs. Jay Cooke & Co., and other experienced and cautious financiers, and it is natural that, in view of their many advantages, the bonds not yet sold are being disposed of at a rapid rate.

—A Christian was brought before a magistrate for an unprovoked assault on a Jew. "What had he done that that you should knock him down?" asked the Judge. "Done? why isn't he one of the bloody Jews that killed our Savior?" "But," remonstrated and magistrate, "all that happened nearly 2,000 years ago." "Did it? Why, I only heard of it last night," answered the over-zealous convert.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS

Gentlemen of the City Council:—Having been selected by our fellow citizens to manage the municipal affairs of our City for the current year, let us, one and all, enter upon our official duties with a firm determination to justify the confidence reposed in us.

Some of you have had experience the past year in conducting the business of the city, and are well aware of the duties and responsibilities of your position. To those who are now for the first time to occupy places in the City Government, allow me to say, that much of your time will necessarily be employed in performing the duties devolving upon you; but in accepting the several stations to which we have been elected, we have all engaged to give all needful attention, and use our best efforts for the public good.

One of the first duties which you will be called upon to perform, is that of making appropriations to meet the current expenses of the year. In doing this, I trust that every appearance of extravagance will be avoided, and that economy will be the rule in all your transactions.

It should be borne in mind, however, that an inadequate appropriation is not true economy,—a sufficient amount should be raised to keep our schools, streets and public buildings, fire department, police force and poor farm, in a condition of efficiency and utility.

DEBT.

Our city debt amounts to the sum of $250,100, having been reduced in the past five years $90,400, so that it will be but a few years, with economy and good management of our city affairs, before we shall be entirely free from debt.

POOR.

To relieve the poor and distressed, is a duty incumbent upon all. Misfortune which cannot be foreseen may fall upon the best among us, and the family to-day blest with affluence may to-morrow be reduced to want. To relieve the misfortunes and sufferings of the poor, we ought never to contribute grudgingly, either as individuals or as dispensers of the public bounty, and I recommend that a liberal appropriation be made for this purpose.

The City Almshouse and farm is under the superintendance of Mr. Haven L. Scott, assisted by Mrs. Scott as matron; who have performed the arduous and difficult duties incumbent on them to the satisfaction of the Board of Overseers and of the City Council.

The whole number of inmates on the 1st of January, 1871, was 31; there are in the Almshouse at this time 5 insane person, and at the Insane Asylum at Concord, supported in whole or in part by the city, 11.

POLICE.

The police I consider one of the most important departments of the City Government, as our main reliance for the preservation of peace and good order, for the enforcement of our laws and ordinances, and for the detection and punishment of criminals.

To the force so especially charged with the security of property and life among us, I consider it of the greatest importance that none but entirely competent and trustworthy men should be appointed.

STREETS, ROADS AND BRIDGES.

The appropriations for these important objects are necessarily large. During the past year a great amount of labor has been performed upon our streets, in various parts of the city, but most of the gravel to be found within our own limits, is entirely unfit for making a hard and durable road-way. To remedy this difficulty, the city has contracted for one of Rawson & Hittinger's stone crushers, which it is believed will prepare the most suitable and economical material for the construction of our streets. The crusher and steam engine are now in process of construction at a cost of $2400.

Our sidewalks are in good condition and will compare favorably with other cities of equal size. A larger amount of brick walks has been laid during the past year than ever before in a single year.

Some of our bridges are very much out of repair, and I would recommend an appropriation for putting Sagamore bridge and the north mill bridge, which are in a dangerous condition, in good repair the present year.

FIRE DEPARTMNET.

I am pleased to say this department was never in better condition than at present. No one who has noticed its operations could fail to perceive the great improvement it has made within the four past years. During the last year a steam fire-engine has been added, at a cost of $4160, and a new hose carriage, costing $600; also $1622 has been spent for hose. We now have in good order three steam and two hand engines. Our fire department is composed of some of our active and energetic young men, upon whose fidelity we can with confidence rely in the hour of trial and danger. But, gentlemen, if we expect our gallant firemen to protect our property from the devouring element, it is our duty to provide the means. You are well aware that the present supply of water is very inadequate, especially in case of a serious conflagration; and I would recommend that an appropriation be made for building, this year, one or more capacious reservoirs.

SCHOOLS.

I am pleased to state that the public schools of the city are in a flourishing condition, and will not suffer by comparison with those of the same grade in any other place in New England. They are the nurseries of intelligence and virtue for the rising generation, and are entitled to receive our deep interest and fostering care.

Within the past year a new school house has been erected in district No. 1, at a cost of $3809.55, and extensive repairs have been made on the Haven School-house, and most of the other old houses. The school buildings at this time are uniformly good, and the teachers are believed to be faithful and competent.

Our school committees are deserving of the gratitude of the public for their gratuitous labors for the advancement of popular instruction. Their duties have been performed with intelligence, discretion and fidility; and it would be a great misfortune to our city if anything should occur to impair in the least degree the usefulness or excellent system of the public schools.

I will take this occasion to recommend the sale of one-half of the city farm; I am of the opinion that ninety acres would be made more profitable for the city than one hundred and eighty acres now are; I hope you will give this subject your serious consideration.

The cess-pool at the Creek has been filled up and the nuisance abated by the city at a cost of $1122.08. A suit has been instituted to recover this amount from the owners of the property.

And now, Gentlemen, with devout thankfulness that the year that is past has brought such a measure of prosperity and happiness to our people, let us enter upon the labors and duties of the new year with the resolution that no calamity or misfortune shall come upon our city which is within the power of honesty and diligence to avert.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a sudorific, by toning the vessels of the skin and promoting the free passage of exhausted matter through that natural outlet of the system. Being a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, where there is a tendency to dropsy, and as a blood depurent and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, antiseptic, diaphoretic and antibilious properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, on a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerable sound state of health to a healthy sound lungs. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a place where I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville as it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The lakes in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say that, when a consumptive person confines himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go to Florida the moment the chills set out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is especially recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, many cured with the aid of using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that the air of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; but still there are many thousands of consumptives. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking cold as they are about a scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are confident enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still; and the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then allows the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where I prefer to omit the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient says he is very hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the weeping night sweats, and night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy-five degrees, and should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise walking in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood, I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is a disease that does not cure other diseases, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption, so there you will, you may be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the jaws of death by these medicines.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver, purifying the blood, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you suffer from sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in short order. If you would avoid a cold from a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may drink cistern water, and eat unripe fruit, such as plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick thereby. They will protect the liver in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, and confine my professional visits to my office, No. 19 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination of their lungs, will find I only charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can really learn whether they are sound or not. If I cure a patient it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and my system, they are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, so they can be bought from any druggist.

☞ The city debt was reduced $5100 in 1870.

☞ Our friends of the Journal, not wishing to be outdone by their next door neighbors, successfully indulged in pi on Tuesday.

☞ M. T. Betton & Co. will sell at Auction to-day (Wednesday), at the Navy Yard, a lot of articles on account of Government. See advertisement.

☞ The Nashua Telegraph joins the minority of the New Hampshire papers in excluding cuts and large type from its advertising columns. The experience of those who have adopted the system shows that the advertisers are better satisfied and business increases steadily. Our experience for the past two years has been no exception to the rule. The exclusion of cuts has brought us more advertising and better rates, while the papers no longer resemble show bills.

MR. BARTLETT'S READINGS.—A large and select audience assembled at Congress Hall on Tuesday evening, to listen to Mr. James P. Bartlett's reading of Sheridan's spirited comedy, "The Rivals." Mr. Bartlett sustained the reputation he has already established; and the closeness with which he held the attention of the audience for an hour and a quarter attested his excellence as a reader.

He presented the six characters in the play with great clearness and distinctness, adapting voice, expression and gesture in his delineation of the various characters in a manner surprising to the audience. He presented many fine specimens of elocution, in a vivid style, yet always true to the laws of natural expression. His clear, flexible voice never appeared to better advantage.

Mr. Bartlett showed good judgment in selecting "The Rivals" for the opening reading. The plot is simple, and as unfolded by Mr. B. could not fail to be understood even by those not familiar with it.

Of the characters presented that of Sir Anthony Absolute pleased us the most, although those of cowardly Bob Acres and Mrs. Malaprop were finely impersonated. The duel scene between Bob Acres and Beverly was very laughable.

Altogether it was one of the best entertainments our citizens have been favored with for a long while, and an evening can hardly be spent more pleasantly than in listening to Mr. Bartlett.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT of 1871 organized at the Court House, Tuesday morning. All were present with the exception of Councilman Tibbetts of Ward One.

The Council chose James A. Waterhouse President pro tem and notified the Board of Aldermen that they were ready to be qualified.

In Joint Convention, the City Clerk read the votes for Mayor and administered the oath of office to Hon. Joseph B. Adams.

The members of both Boards were sworn by the Mayor and the Convention rose.

The Council then balloted for a President for the ensuing year. Israel P. Miller had 9 votes and was unanimously chosen.

On assuming the chair, Mr. Miller thanked the Council for the expression of confidence they had given him in selecting their President for the current year, suggested that it would be well for the Board to remember, when acting on City affairs, that money not expended is not always money saved, and that a judiciously liberal outlay for needed improvements and repairs is the only true economy in public as well as private affairs—and closed by expressing a hope that the kindly feeling and personal good will and courtesy which existed between the members of the last Council would be equally noticeable in the present one.

Mr. Henry A. Yeaton was chosen Clerk, receiving 7 votes. Samuel R. Gardner had 2, J. Horace Kent 1.

In Convention, both Boards balloted for City Clerk. Marcellus Bufford, Republican, had 13; Gideon H. Rundlett, Democrat, had 5,—and Mr. Bufford was re-elected. He was sworn by the Mayor. Prayer was offered by Rev. Geo. M. Adams, and the Mayor read his inaugural address, which we give elsewhere.

The Convention then rose, the Council adopted the rules of last year until otherwise ordered, and a joint committee, consisting of Messrs. Waterhouse, French and Gardner, on the part of the Council, were appointed to consider the revision of the joint rules; and both Boards adjourned to Thursday evening at 7 1-2 o'clock.

☞ At a meeting of Wentworth Encampment, G. A. R., of Kittery, Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the year ensuing:—P. C., E. A. Duncan; S. V. C., A. Fernald; J. V. C., C. N. Holmes; Adj't, Wm. M. Otis; Q. M., F. C. Eaton; Chaplain, J. J. Lambert; Surgeon, S. A. James; O. D., H. W. Taylor; O. G., J. F. Keen; Delegate to Encampment Convention, E. A. Duncan.

☞ The North Hampton and Strathham Choral Society, numbering about forty members, will give a concert of miscellaneous music, consisting of oratorios, anthems, duets, solos, &c., at the Congregational Vestry in North Hampton on Friday evening next, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock. The members of this society have manifested unusual interest in their rehearsals, held for several months past, and under their able director, Mr. J. W. Rollins, are prepared to entertain all their friends who will come to hear them. Admission twenty cents.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EFFECTS OF YOUTH, THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 235 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or sent free on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published There is nothing whatever that the Married or the Single, of Either Sex, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to more business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26o1yr

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND

FREE OF U. S. TAX,

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,

ISSUED BY THE

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, } Trustees.
CHARLES L. FROST,

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

FURTHER LANGUAGE FROM TRUTHFUL JAMES.

(NYE'S FORD, STANISLAUS.)

Do I sleep; do I dream;
Do I wonder and doubt?
Are things what they seem,
Or is vision about?
Is our civilization a failure?
Or is the Caucasian played out?

Which expressions are strong;
Yet would feebly imply
Some account of a wrong—
Not to call it a lie—
As was worked off on William, my partner,
Which his name it was W. Nye.

He came down to the Ford,
On the very same day
Of that Lottery, drawed
By those sharps at the Bay;
And he says to me, "Truthful, how goes it?"
I replied, "It is far, far from gay—

"For the camp has gone wild
On this Lottery game,
And has even beguiled
'Injin Dick,' by the name,"
Which said Nye to me, "Injins is pizen—
Do you know what his number is, James?"

I replied "7, 2, 9, 8, 4, is his hand;"
Which he startel—and drew
Out a list, which he scanned;
Then he softly went for his revolver,
With language I cannot command.

Then I said, "William Nye!"
But he turned upon me,
And the look in his eye
Was quite painful to see.
And he says: "You mistake; this poor Injun,
I protects from such sharps as you be!"

I was shocked and withdrew:
But I grieve to relate,
When he next met my view
Injun Dick was his mate,
And the two around town was a lying
In a frightfully dissolute state.

Which the war-dance they had Round a tree at the Bend,
Was a sight that was sad;
And it seemed that the end
Would not justify the proceedings,
As I quiet remarked to a friend.

For that Injun he fled
The next day to his band;
And we found William spread
Very loose on the strand,
With a peaceful like smile on his features,
And a dollar greenback in his hand.

Which, the same when rolled out,
We observed with surprise,
What that Injun, no doubt,
Had believed was the prize—
Them figures in red in the corner,
Which the number of notes specifies.

Was it galle, or a dream?
Is it Nye that I doubt?
Are things what they seem,
Or is vision about?
Is our civilization a failure?
Or is the Caucasian played out?

F. BRET HARTE.

☞ The coolest case of impudence that has yet come to light is that of one Read, who invented a destructive explosive projectile about the beginning of the war carried it to the rebels and got a Confederate patent on it, and now—after the Union was preserved in spite of his invention—modestly asks to have his patent extended by the United States! Of course his request was refused; and to his enquiries if the reason for the refusal was his service to the rebels, the Commissioner of Patents replied, "That's just it, exactly."

—This story comes from Cedar Falls, Iowa: "An uptown bridegroom dreamed on his wedding night that he was chained to a log on a railroad track, and awoke to find himself on the floor with his head nearly mashed with a chair, and an excited woman standing over him, asking if it was customary for brides to be dragged out of bed by the feet. She said she never had submitted to such extortion before, and she'd be darned if she would now. He told her it was new to him, too."

—A facetious young gentleman from Cincinnati received the charge of a shot gun in return for his courtesy in calling an Indiana farmer up in the night to advise him to take in his chimney as it was freezing weather.

—A Charlton, Iowa, man, who was hung for a while, last Fall, has prosecuted the vigilance committe who did it. That is just the way people repay kindness. If they hadn't let him down they'd have been all right.

—A cheerful Western paper heads its account of a surgical operation: "A Man's Jaw Taken Out and the Floor of his Eyeball and Base of his Skull Canterized." Must have been a refreshing process.

—Two libel suits against newspapers—one at Louisville, Ky., and the other at Providence, R. I.—have resulted in verdicts respectively for one and six cents within a few days.

—A San Francisco wag says he thinks the Chinese will yet win universal respect in Christendom, on account of their heathenish habit of minding their own business.

—The Stepney Lyceum is trying its teeth on the problem: "Which is the oldest battle cry: Erin go bragh, or In di go blue."

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it. Free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—'s silent motor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the youthful freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which render some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

JEFFERSON'S RIP VAN WINKLE.—"And I will drink your good health, and your family's; and may you all live long and prosper."

He bows his white head, the curtain falls; there is a rustling and a shuffling all over the house; we button our coats and are moved along with the crowd—we hardly know whither.

Stop! How can you go away and leave the old man there! Will he be cared for tenderly? Will they keep that accursed bottle away from him.

"Have a coach! Have a coach, sir! Accommodate you reasonable, sir! Ride right down to the ferry, sir!"

We rouse, as from a dream—and here we are on the thronged sidewalk—out in the cool, crisp air!

Is it then all paint and padding, all canvas and clap-trap, all art and seeming! Rip Van Winkle, the rollicking, witty, good-natured, good-for-naught—selfish, cruel, tantalizing, yet sweet and lovable through all; the dog Schneider; the broomstick; the yolly fellows, the big score on the tavern shutter; the bag of gold; the dance on the green; the schwearing off, and the not counting it this time; that wonderful drunken scene; the final, fearful giving way of all forbearance—when the light grows dim in the room, and those terrible words are spoken: "Begone, you drunkard!"

"Out, you sot! Henceforth you have no part in me or mine!" when his voice, suddenly sobering, answers out of the silence—in that weird, heart-breaking monotone—"Why, Gretchen! why will you—will you turn me out of your house like a dog! you are right; it is your house; it is not mine. I will go, Gretchen, after what you have said to me, I can never darken your doors again;" that eloquent gesture, as he points to his child lying on the floor between them; Gretchen's agonized, repentant cries as he rushes out into the rain and lightning; that witty colloquy with Hendrik Hudson's ghost; the fatal draught; the odd, rheumatic awakening, "on top of the Catskill Mountain, as sure as a gun!" the old man's perplexed wandering through the transformed village; the queer, pathetic mystification about his own identity; and the final quick mastery of himself and of the situation when he flings back upon Derrick the magnificent "Give him a cold potato and let him go!"

Is it all paint and canvass, and clap-trap? Is it all unreal? No, no, no. It is true as truth, real as life, deep as humanity. And the lesson—for there is a lesson—what is it? Only that wine is a mocker and strong drink is raging—that it "brings a man to rags, and hunger, and want—(is dere any more dere in dat glass?)"—"for when de tirst is on me I believe I would part wid my leg for a glass of liquor; and when dat is in me I believe I would part wid my whole body, limb by limb, for de rest ob de bottle!" It is this, and is more than this: that Gretchen's way of dealing with Rip is not the true way. The true way, alas! who may tell?

And yet there are "Rips" off as well as on the stage, and you and me may be learning how to save them, through the pitiful God only knows what trial and agony.—Scribner's Monthly for December.

BEAUTIES OF THE WAR SYSTEM.—The sad scenes witnessed in the flight of the people along the country through which the retreating and pursuing armies sweep, are described in vivid terms by the French and English journalists. One, writing after the battle of Forbach, and referring to the population of Saarbruck, says:

"There were mothers who had lost their children, seeking for them with frantic cries and gesticulations; old, tottering men and women stumbling feebly along, laden with some of their poor household goods, stricken with the silent grief of age; little children, only half conscious of what all these things meant, tripping along, often leading some cherished household pet, and seeking for some friendly hand to guide them; husbands supporting their wives, carrying their little ones (sometimes two or three) on their shoulders, and encouraging the little family group with brave and tender words, the woods ringing with shrieks and lamentations, with prayers to the Saviour and the Virgin. It is impossible to describe in language the sadness and pathos of that most mournful exodus. If all the world could catch a glimpse of such a scene, I will venture to say that then war would become impossible; that fierce national pride and Quixotic notions of honor, and the hot ambitions of Kings and Emperors and statesmen, would be forever curbed by the remembrance of all the pity and the desolation of the spectacle."

—A wealthy bachelor, having had one or two lawsuits for breach of promise, now replies to any young lady who wishes a few minutes private conversation, "No you do not, madame. It cuts me to the heart to be compelled to doubt the honorableness of your intentions, but that sorts of thing is played out. My rule is imperative, and if you have any business with me it must be transacted in the presence of two witnesses!"

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has been higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand, to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a graceful pliancy.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1871.

POLITICAL NOMINATIONS.—Political conventions leave us only a choice of evils. We must vote for the man of our party to prevent the triumph of our opponents. We may have no confidence in him, no enthusiasm for him. Thus our position is merely a negative one. Our vote does ourselves no more good than dropping a letter into the post-office for another person; we know neither its contents nor what the answer will be. Nor does the candidate election's do him any good. He wakes up to find himself a senator or governor, but very much as a man wakes from a debauch—with empty pockets and an uncertain purpose. The result on our politics, in which is contained the well-being of the community, is nearly unmixed evil.

The election of a candidate has come to be looked upon as a personal triumph; but first he had triumphed over opposing candidates in his own party, so that he comes naturally to look upon himself as the representative not of the people, nor yet even of his own party, but of a faction of his party. With his election the whole contest drops instantly out of notice, and in what manner he performs the duties of his office, or whether he performs them at all beyond drawing his salary, is never questioned or thought of. The consequence of this is, our best and ablest men more and more withdraw from such contests. For they stand no chance; and having an honorable sensitiveness they shrink from the appliances now become necessary to successful competition.

The rivalry of candidates in a party known to be in a majority breeds the seeds of its dissolution. When a nomination is equivalent to an election, the contest is in the ranks of the party in power and is unhealthy; but when it is between two parties it may be healthy. For it may obliterate inside differences, raise into prominence great principles, and bring union and strength. It also makes it necessary to nominate better men. Why is it that in our private affairs we want the best help we can get? Is it not in order to have the work well done? Why is it then that we put aside our common sense in public affairs, and nominate men for office without a question of fitness, of responsibility or capacity for good workmanship? Our freedom does not diminish our responsibility, nor does it divide it; it rests entire upon each voter. If we neglect it evil times will come upon us unawares. Has the country become too large for patriotism except in great crisis? These indeed come upon us because we do not appreciate the smaller ones. If we had the patriotism to attend to our State and local concerns we should find it easy to embrace our whole country in our hearts.

We must resist the use of money in our elections except in such ways as all honorable men shall allow to be legitimate.

In selecting men for office we must consider whether the office is fit for them and they for it. We do not want the sweep of a gundalow to pull the fisherman's dory. And having found a capable and faithful public servant, he ought to be retained until there is some better reason for his removal than that somebody else wants the place. There are old fashioned sentiments, but they ought to be recalled in these new times; for they are the sentiments of our ancestors who loved and suffered for freedom, and they have been the foundation of the greatness of every constitutional government. J. A.

New Hampshire Items.

The winter term of the Supreme Judicial Court for Hillsborough county was begun in Manchester, Jan. 3, Judge Doe on the bench.

The Canaan Reporter learns that John Sullivan of that village came in from his work on Tuesday night, and, for some real or fancied misdemeanor, gave one of his boys a severe whipping. Shortly after, his two boys, about 11 and 14 years of age, seized John and took him out of doors, and after fastening his hands behind him and tying a handkerchief on his mouth for a gag, took him to the barn and hung him up with a rope around his neck. His wife, going out to see what kept them so long, found Sullivan in an insensible condition and cut him down. The boys have disappeared and have not [illegible] from since—nice boys.

The New Hampshire Veterans' Union held its annual reunion at Concord, Jan. 3. General Aaron F. Stevens was re-elected president.

☞ The death of General Prim causes profound indignation in Havana. His funeral at Madrid was attended by an immense concourse of people.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION met at Concord on Wednesday and was fully attended. Hon. E. H. Rollins, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, called the Convention to order and announced the following officers of the Convention:

President—Hon. William H. Y. Hackett of Portsmouth.

Vice Presidents—Rockingham county, Samuel Adams; Strafford county, Thomas E. Sawyer; Belknap county, John H. Woodman; Carroll county, Otis G. Hatch; Merrimack county, Richard H. Messer; Hillsborough county, Isaac W. Smith; Cheshire county, T. A. Barker; Sullivan county, W. H. H. Allen; Grafton county, Charles Day; Coos county, Valentine S. Stiles.

Secretaries—Solon A. Carter, Keene; James F. Bryant, Enfield; George H. Sturtevant, Concord.

Committe on Resolutions—Merrimack county Asa Fowler; Rockingham county, George Marston; Strafford county, Charles S. Whitehouse; Belknap county, Jonathan B. Mooney; Carroll county, Blake Folsom; Hillsborough county, Bainbridge Wadleigh; Cheshire county, Joseph B. Abbott; Sullivan county, David Chase; Grafton county, John S. Spring; Coos county, B. F. Whidden.

Committee on Credentials—Rockingham county, A. J. Hoyt; Strafford county, William D. Knapp; Belknap county, Joseph B. Odlin; Carroll county, Charles Blanchard; Merrimack county, Albert P. Davis; Hillsborough county, E. H. Spaulding; Sullivan county, John Blanchard; Cheshire county, J. R. Brat; Grafton county, A. E. Barney; Coos county, Lafayette Moore.

On taking the chair, Mr. Hackett spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you for the honor you have done me by assigning to me this position. Upon coming into this hall this morning, I am reminded that ten years ago, about this day, I was with several gentlemen I see before me, a member of the State Convention then assembled here to nominate a Governor and to take steps to place New Hampshire in the proper attitude to meet and subdue the great rebellion then beginning to organize. During the ten years since that anxious period, the Republican party have done more to establish equality, to protect popular rights, and develop the resources of the nation, than was ever accomplished by any other party in this or any other country in half a century, and we may well be proud of the part New Hampshire bore in that terrible conflict, which was only half finished when the rebels laid down their arms. She not only sent her full quota of brave men to meet the rebels in arms, many of whom now hear me, but enough remained at home to control the rebel sympathizers at the polls, and to keep the State true to the Union. We would not unnecessarily revive or prolong the memory of those wrongs, but the spirit of the rebellion yet lives—it yields to power, not to principle. That equality before the law, the lack of which created the rebellion, the triumph of which put it down, is as hateful to a bigoted rebel and rebel sympathizers to-day as it was ten years ago. It is the duty of the Republican party to watch this feeling and to alarm the Government, both national and State, until this spirit shall have been subdued by feelings in harmony with the institutions of the country and the rights of humanity. You recognize this duty by your presence and purpose to-day, and I will no longer delay your taking steps to fulfill it. The chair waits the order of the Convention.

Col. D. A. Warde of Concord withdrew the name of Hon. S. W. Hale of Keene. Gen. Natt Head thanked his friends who proposed to support him and withdrew his name also. After the appointment of Tellers the Convention proceeded to ballot for a candidate for Governor, by towns and counties.

and there was no choice, Mr. Pike lacking 32 votes of a majority.

Hon. John H. Bailey withdrew the name of Mr. Walker and moved that Mr. Pike be nominated by acclamation. Carried.

On motion of Col. George Marston of Sandown, the nomination was made unanimous.

A committee of ten was appointed to inform Mr. Pike of his nomination, and on motion of Hon. J. H. Bailey, Dauphin W. Buckminster of Keene was nominated for Railroad Commissioner.

The delegates organized County Conventions and chose a State Central Committee.

A series of Resolutions was reported and the Convention passed them and adjourned sine die.

After the adjournment the State Central Committee organized by choosing Hon. E. H. Rollins, Chairman, unanimously, and B. F. Prescott, Secretary.

☞ Gold, Tuesday, 110 3-4.

ENGLAND.—There is considerable dissatisfaction with Mr. Gladstone among his constituency, and a petition calling on him to resign has received many signatures. It is intimated that the tories will support a large increase in the army and navy appropriations. The appointment of the Marquis of Hartington as secretary of Ireland is likely to be popular, as he is a friend of mixed education.

☞ A train on the Mississippi & Tennessee Railroad was thrown from a bridge Tuesday morning by the breaking of an axle. The forward and second cars were precipitated over the bridge, and took fire. The rear cars were uninjured and the locomotive and tender passed safely over. It is supposed that five persons were killed, and one fatally injured.

☞ The cable between Malta and Alexandria, which cost the English government over two millions of dollars, has just been sold to the Malta and Alexandria Telegraph Company, together with all the stores on hand, for $126,000. The submarine cable between Malta and Tripoli suddenly ceased work.

TAXING THE BONDS.—A full bench of New York supreme court judges (Ingraham, Barnard and Cardozo) have decided that United States bonds cannot be included in a person's assets in recovering property for local and State taxation.

POLITICAL.—Vice-President Colfax it is said has prepared for publication an article advocating the renomination of President Grant as the republican candidate in 1872.

Official returns give the third and fourth congressional districts in Georgia to the republicans.

☞ Senator Sherman estimates the total revenue for 1871 at $320,000,000, and thinks the appropriations can be kept within $300,000,000. Representative Kelly estimates the revenues at $330,000,000.

☞ The public debt has decreased $2,240,700 during the last month.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrichs the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull and stupid or debilitated, pain or pressure in the head, take cold easily, you may be sure you have the Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. Dr. R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., is the sole proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy—perfect specific for Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," or Catarrhal Headache, which he sends to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a sudorific, by toning the vessels of the skin and promoting the free passage of the secretions through the cutaneous sieve of the system. Being a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, where there is a tendency to dropsy, and as a blood depurant and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, anodyne, diaphoretic and antibilious properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawje2

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. dawzmo9

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.—CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued, to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the interior, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Greenleaf. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

Twenty miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the cold and bracing Melionville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally improve in health, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent chills, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a tight cough, a disordered stomach and bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a sad reproach it is, that people allowed if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will pass off of itself, and they pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a good supply of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse in his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry: I know instances of my friends who will relieve just the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a clean line of the lungs, when the cough decreases and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats cease, and a healthy condition of the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question will be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the right kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be about certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They not on the liver better than calomel, and have none of its mortal effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have constipation, piles, fever and diarrhœa, cases, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take one of the Mandrake Pills, and it will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of weather, or the too free indulgence in food, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without fear of any harm inside sick by them. They will protect those who live in a very unhealthy locality, they are so mild. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, on Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged Five Dollars. The Respirometer shows the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ We are glad to announce that a large force of workmen will speedily be employed at the Navy Yard.

☞ The ladies of the Methodist Society are to have a Festival and Old Folks' Concert at Congress Hall, on Tuesday evening of next week. Tickets 25 cents.

☞ The dividend on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad shares held by residents in this city and vicinity, is now payable at William H. Hackett's office, without limit as to time.

☞ The prohibition Caucus for the election of delegates to the State Convention takes place this (Thursday) evening at Sons of Temperance Hall, corner of Ladd and Market Street.

☞ Mr. William Ward and others have purchased the Nelson distillery at Christian Shore and are fitting it for the manufacture of rum. A barrel manufactory is talked of, now that there is such a demand for barrels and casks, from the breweries and distillery. The brewers have been buying barrels at Albany, New York, but think a manufactory here would be a good investment, with their largely increasing business.

☞ We are pleased to notice the great increase of business of one of our neighbors, Mr. E. A. Joy, who has found it necessary to hire the large room back of and on a level with the Chronicle counting room, for the better exhibition of his extensive stock of sewing machines, of which he sells twelve different kinds, at prices ranging from $5 to $100 each. His music and musical instrument store at No. 9 Pleasant Street will still be carried on as heretofore.

SINGING SCHOOL. — Many persons have spoken thro' the press and otherwise, of the lack of opportunies for youth in this city to become acquainted with music, there being no juvenile singing school or other means whereby they might learn, except at considerable cost—more than many can afford to pay. This want is shortly to be remedied, Mr. T. P. Moses having decided to open a school for young persons at Mercantile Hall—of which his advertisement will appear to-morrow.

THE P. M. L. A. LYCEUM ENTERTAINMENT, Tuesday evening, was attended by a very large audience, as it richly merited. The rendering of the local "picture" poem by Miss Flora M. Fitts fully sustained her previous reputation as a reader; and the instrumental concert by Cushing's orchestra was such as has not been heard here since the visit of the Mendelssohn Quintette Club, and was as pleasing to the musical portion of the audience as it was creditable to the taste and skill of the performers. The orchestra were complimented with perfect silence during the performance of their pieces—no small compliment to receive from a Portsmouth audience, as all who are conversant with the habits of our playgoing population will readily admit—and with well-deserved applause at the close of each piece.

Mr. Albee's lecture on The Farm was a bright and often humorous "talk," containing many pointed hits and much sound common sense; and the whole affair was one of the most successful yet got up in this popular course of Lyceum entertainments.

COAT THIEF.—On Monday night a fellow calling himself George Webster was furnished with lodgings at the Station House, and released Tuesday morning by the City Marshal, who earnestly advised him to leave the City, which he agreed to do. Tuesday afternoon the Marshal saw him again, outward bound right off. In the evening of the same day Mr. Johnson was notified that Mr. J. Brooks, the corn and flour merchant, had lost a coat with valuable papers in it from his office, and he at once set out to hunt up Mr. Webster, whom he suspected of being the thief.

The coat was soon found, with the papers all safe, in the possession of Cornelius Leary, keeper of a "saloon" at the north end of Market Street, who said he purchased it of Webster. The latter was tracked by the Marshal through a number of saloons to Mr. H. Locke's fruit store, where he had made his appearance a short time before, rather drunk, and a little enquiry brought out that Mr. Alfred Stavers' clerk, Mr. Tucker, had just taken the nuisance over to the brick market, and handed him over to Officer Stearns, who had locked him up for safe keeping.

Wednesday morning the thief interviewed Judge Odell, who blandly invited him to furnish securities in $200 for his appearance at the April term of the higher Court—failing which, he has taken up his residence with Mr. John M. Davis, in the mansion near Mason's Hill.

☞ Gov. Stearns has finally accepted the resignation of Hon. Horton D. Walker, as Trustee of the State Reform School, by urgent request of Mr. Walker, and Hon. Daniel Marcy will probably receive the appointment.

☞ While an auction sale was proceeding in a room of the house of Mr. Nathan Brown of South Hampton, last Thursday, the floor gave way and the bidders fell into the cellar. Mr. Ira Blake of Kensington had a leg broken and others were severely injured.

THE WAR.—Gen. Faidherbe's army fought the Prussians near Bapayume from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M. of Monday. Gen. F. telegraphs that the Prussians were driven from all their positions and their loss was enormous. The French suffered severely.

☞ The President and some Senators have had under consideration the condition of affairs in the Southern States. In some of them there is a fearful condition of lawlessness and outrage. It is not improbable that the President may think it worth while to send a message to Congress on the subject.

BAD WORK.—In New York, Tuesday, Captain Ingram of the steamship Ashland was shot in the left shoulder by a thief who came on board for the purpose of plunder. Abraham Jones, who carving-knifed his wife on New Years Day, has been arrested.

Irwin, the burglar, who was mortally wounded while robbing a spice mill in Brooklyn, has disclosed the names of his confederates, and the history of several murders before hidden in mystery. One of the thieves is believed to have been the murderer of Benjamin Nathan.

The dead body of a man was found in the Lake basin at Chicago, Wednesday, bruised and cut and with a rope tied over his mouth.

In Leavenworth, Kansas, Wednesday, a man named Kennedy suspected a man named Goffrey with being too intimate with his wife, met him on street and put four pistol balls through his head, killing him instantly, and then gave himself up. A young man named Thomas Killian was stabbed in front of a dance house by an unknown person.

At Clinton Miss., on Tuesday evening, a white man named Scales was stabbed and instantly killed by a negro named Willburn.

City Marshal Hall, of Crystal Springs, Miss., was shot and killed by a man named Ganway, who escaped, on Saturday night.

William Williams and J. Hewit quarrelled near Fort Smith, Ark., on Friday last, during which Williams was shot and killed, and Hewit surrendered himself to the authorities.

A man named Ross was shot and killed at the Cherokee agency, a few days since, by a half breed.

☞ Rome has been visited by the severest flood known since 1530, causing immense loss of property. The rain lasted 48 hours. The lower city was entirely submerged, and the Florence railway was interrupted.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and gluttinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thoroughly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 27.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

WALTER BAREFOOT, fourth Provincial Governor of New Hampshire.—When Edward Cranfield was commissioned as the highest officer in the Province, in May, 1682, Walter Barefoot was named as one of the Councillors. Cranfield found him a supple tool for using in his tyrannical measures, so he put him in several important places of trust. Elias Stileman, Captain of the Port, at or near Portsmouth, had offended Gov. Cranfield, and he removed him and appointed Barefoot Captain. The same year he made him Judge of the Court.

Barefoot lived in what is now Newcastle. His birth was in England, in 1635. He was at Newcastle at the age of 25 or earlier, where he became a merchant. After coming into office, he evinced not only an arbitrary spirit, but considerable pomposity, and wore a velvet cap quite plushed and gay.

Cranfield had made Barefoot Deputy of the council. This was late in 1682. Complaints having been made to the king and privy council for mal-administration, a decision was made against Cranfield, in March, 1685; and the Governor having information of this, about two months later, left the country by ship, and Barefoot, by virtue of his office as Deputy in the council became acting Governor. He was in office about one year.

Gov. Barefoot was unpopular, and the discontents and tumults of the former administration continued.

On the 6th of February, 1685, Charles II, king of England, suddenly died of apoplexy, and was succeeded by his brother James II. The people of New Hampshire were loyal to the British Government, and soon after the death of the king the Governor and council issued a proclamation, in which after noticing the decease of the sovereign, they declared that "the high and mighty prince, James the Second, has become our only lawful, lineal leige lord, by the grace of God, king of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, and defender of the faith, and supreme lord of the plantation and colony of New Hampshire in New England." But while thus loyal, they watched with care any unjust infringement of the privileges delegated to them by the British Constitution.

Barefoot had few to respect him. When he appeared abroad he was insulted and derided. In Dec., 1685, two men who had been members of the Assembly, went to Gov. Barefoot's house in Newcastle. Mason was there, and the conversation becoming warm on public affairs, Mason seized one of the men named Wiggin, and attempted to put him out of the house. Wiggin being stronger than Mason, threw him into the large fire-place, where his clothes and one leg were much burned. Gov. Barefoot coming to his assistance, Wiggin served him in the same way; his velvet cap came near going into the flames; two ribs were broken and a tooth knocked out. Barefoot was offended. He and Mason made affidavits of the encounter, but there is no account of any judgment in the case. On the 25th of May, 1686, Joseph Dudley became Governor by a commission of James II. Barefoot's tyranny was at an end.

Tyrants and others who have run an inglorious career, have not always been so bad. Nero of Rome was once tender and humane. Barefoot once had some redeeming qualities. In Dec., 1662, three Quaker women were publicly whipped at the tail of a cart in the streets of Dover, Hampton and Salisbury, ten stripes apiece in each town. Barefoot persuaded the constable to make him his deputy, and then saved the women from further stripes by setting them at liberty. He died in 1688, at Newcastle, aged 53 years.

—A Georgia editor is in luck. Twenty-four heathen Chinese walked into his sanctum the other day, and through the medium of an interpreter, paid cash down for twenty-four subcriptions to his paper. The editor wondered greatly what they wanted of an English paper, not being able to read it, and was informed that they took it for the "pictures" in it, the paper having Costar's rat cut, a catarrh cut, guano trade mark, and an umbrella "picture."

—A Duluth man had a wagon-tongue driven clear through him, and it took three men to pull it out, says the local paper; whereupon a Detroit journal brags of a citizen of that village who got a wagon-tongue into him, wouldn't bother any one to pull it out, and carried it for years in his body till it worked out itself.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect.

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.

The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE

On which they are constructed brings the core o centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are Mounted in the finest Manner.

In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.

THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY

Cannot be Surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

WAR! WAR!! WAR!!!

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

☞ They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

☞ They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

ATTACHED TO BRICK OR PORTABLE FURNACES, OLD OR NEW.

HOW TO FIT A COLLAR TO A HORSE. In purchasing a collar for your horse, it is important to get one that fits him, as both the animal and yourself will thus be saved much annoyance. The Harness and Carriage Journal says:—

"The plan adopted in the West, which we are assured by men who have been long in the collar business, does not injure the collar in the least, is to dip it in water until the leather is thoroughly wet, then put it on the horse, secure the hames firmly, keeping it there until it becomes dry. It is all the better if heavy loads are to be drawn, as that causes the collar to be more evenly fitted to the neck and shoulder. If possible, the collar should be kept on from four to five hours, when it will be perfectly dry and retain the same shape ever afterwards; and as it is exactly fitted to the form of the neck, will not produce chafes nor sores on the horse's neck."

MANAGEMENT OF BROOMS.—If brooms are wet in boiling suds once a week, they will become very tough, will not cut the carpet, last much longer, and always sweep like a new broom. A very dusty carpet may be cleaned by setting a pail of cold water out by the door, wet the broom in it, knock it to get off all the drops, sweep a yard or so, then wash the broom again as before and sweep again, being careful to shake all the drops off the broom, and not sweep far at a time. If done with care, it will clean a carpet very nicely, and you will be surprised at the quantity of dirt in the water. The water may need changing once or twice, if the carpet is very dusty. Snow sprinkled over a carpet and swept off before it has time to melt and dissolve, is also nice for renovating a soiled carpet. Moistened Indian meal is used with good effect by some house-keepers.—Michigan Courier.

"WHO'S DEAD?"—An incident of Dicken's readings recently came to our knowledge, which will bear telling. A lady of excellent good sense, who was not so familiar with the great novelist's writings as she might have been, attended one of the readings, and afterwards described her experience as follows:—

"I went in and took a seat well in front. I was quite alone, and did not see a single familiar face around me. Presently a man rushed on the stage and cried, 'Marley was dead, to begin with!' It was so sudden and unexpected that the announcement quite upset me. I turned round to the people immediately behind me, and asked, 'What did that man say?' They being of the haute noblesse, stared at me an instant, but answered not a word. 'For heaven's sake,' said I, 'will you tell me what it means—who is dead?' But not a word did they vouchsafe in response. Their numbness intensified my wonder and mystification, and a third time I besought them, 'Gracious, goodness! will none of you tell me what is the matter? Somebody's dead—can't you speak?' They gorgonized me from head to foot with a stony Boston stare, exchanged glances of derision, but opened not their mouths. I found I could get no information from that quarter, so I looked about me, and seeing no indications of general dismay, but everybody intently regarding the man on the stage, I presently came to the conclusion that he must be Dickens himself and that there wasn't anybody dead after all."

—The Louisville Journal says: "We live in a sewer age;" whereupon one of its contemporaries remarks that its editorial columns back up the statement.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of sickness, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white fabric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1871.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Wednesday, Mr. Morrill of Vermont offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing an inquiry by the finance committee as to the expediency of imposing a tax of one dollar upon each application for an official position having a salary of not less than $1000. And the same upon each signature thereto, made by the President, or to be presented to any of the executive departments; and where the salary is in excess of $1000, an additional tax of 50 cents.

The bill amendatory of the funding act of last session authorizing the increase of the issue of five per cent. bonds from two hundred millions to five hundred millions, and making the interest on the same payable quarterly, was passed.

Mr. Sumner's resolution calling for information on the San Domingo matter was adopted without objection.

In the House, Mr. Coburn of Ind. introduced a bill, the purpose of which is to make a large number of the offices now filled by appointment elective. The bill leaves the diplomatic offices, department offices and judiciary offices as at present to be filled by appointment, but makes elective postmasters, officers of internal revenue, customs and land officers, pension officers and all other local officers engaged in the civil administration of the government.

Mr. Sargent of California from the committee on appropriations, reported the annual Indian appropriation bill, which was made special order for Wednesday. It appropriates nearly $2,000,000 less than the act of last year.

WAR NEWS.—A dispatch from Havre dated the 3d, reports that Gen. Bourbaki is marching on Germany, and that Chauzy at Le Mans is constantly pushing ahead troops in flying columns. Ten thousand troops are marching towards Paris via Chartres.

NAVAL.—U. S. Steamer Saginaw, Commander Licard, with a crew of one hundred picked men, left Honolulu four months ago for the midland islands, to make a hydrographic survey of them and the adjacent waters. She has not since been heard from.

☞ Capt. Eyre of the steamer Bombay will sink no more Oneidas. He has finally been discharged from the service of the company that employed him.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT AT MANCHESTER.—About 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, a party of young men and girls were amusing themselves by coasting in the moonlight down Stark street, which leads from Elm Street, near the City Hall, to Canal street. The lower end of the street is quite steep. Patrick Fleming and Harriet B. Halleck were coasting together upon one sled, and passed rapidly across Canal street over upon the track of the Concord Railroad, at a point opposite the counting room of the Amoskeag Mills. Just when they reached the track the northern up express train approached, and struck the sled and its occupants. The body of the girl was shockingly mangled, and she was instantly killed. Her head was completely severed from her body and thrown upon one side of the track. The remainder of the body was borne about three rods further, and the train passed over it.

The young man was thrown upon one side of the track, and one of his legs was completely cut off from his body. His head and other portions of his body were badly bruised. He may recover. He worked at the Stark Mills and is about twenty years of age. The unfortunate girl is the daughter of Mrs. Halleck, the widow of the late John Halleck of New Jersey. She was fourteen years of age. The mother and daughter went to Manchester from Gloucester, New Jersey, in September last. The poor mother was thrown into an agony of grief on hearing of her bereavement.

☞ The mouth-and-hoof cattle disease is said to have reached Seabrook.

—The country could put up with an Admiral, but it don't want to promote Vices.—Lou. Cour. Jour.

☞ A partial eclipse of the moon, visible in the United States east of Minnesota, commences at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and continues three-quarters of an hour.

☞ The Maine and Massachusetts Legislatures are in session.

Hon. Moses Humphrey of Concord, member of the executive council, resigned his seat on account of discourtesies to him by members of the council in matters of appointments.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS.—The fast-falling blows around Paris render of interest most news from that centre of polished civilization. We are kindly permitted to make the following extracts from a letter of one of the special correspondents of a great New York daily, (formerly a resident of this city,) to a promising young American artist. Its conciseness will not detract from its interest:

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.

Here I am at last, and very glad, I assure you, to breathe once more in a pure, clear atmosphere after living in smoky, dark and dirty London. Last Lord Mayor's day, in November, the fog was so thick that the gas had to be lighted in the shops all day; at night the streets were almost impassable, and link-boys were on the streets of the most important thoroughfares to guide pedestrians over the crossings; cabs went at a walk, and many persons used bells to warn the other drivers of their approach. * *

I went to Paris, and arrived there after the provisional government had come in power. I found that though many were not fully satisfied with the republic, they agreed to be quiet for the present and support it in its energetic efforts against the invaders. I saw the Prussians gradually approach the city, and often stood before shop windows to watch the changes of the little pins used to indicate [on the map] what still remained French. The government issued printed reports, with an account of where and when the foe was "last seen and heard from."

At last, when Paris had been invested a couple of days, all railroad communication with the outer world had been cut off, and we had some important news for our paper, I bought a horse and started for Vernon to find railroad trains thence to Rouen and Dieppe or Calais. Our minister made me bearer of dispatches, so I had an official character to help me through. I started from Paris on the road to St. Germain. At the gates I passed batteries of flying artillery ready to move to any point; the fortifications I found strengthened and pierced for many guns; before the gates were outlaying earthworks, protected against assault by wires running from post to post, and by boards studded with spikes. Then followed the military zone, an open space to give the guns full play. Villas were torn down, the bricks strewn broadcast, the boards carried away by the raiders, always on the lookout for spoils. Next I passed through the belt of villas and suburban villages around Paris, all of which were silent and deserted; I only met a party of guards, national or "mobiles," now and then, who demanded my pass.

At La Malmaison I came upon Prussian outposts. Being refused permission to pass and told to go round to the Orleans road, I determined to try another point in their lines. So I went to Chaton. There I found the bridge blown up, and I was about to ford the river when I saw a railroad bridge below me. I galloped to it, rode through the station near La Malmaison and at a tearing pace towards St. Germain on the railroad track, passing German sentries on the way, who I saluted with much gravity. I reported to the highest officer I could find in St. Germain, a German lieutenant, and made my way to the Crown Prince's headquarters, where my pass was vised. The next day I went on and was taken up as a suspicious person, examined before the Mayor and Town Council, and finally let free. I arrived safely in London and left again for Paris, but only succeeded in reaching Versailles, where I stayed some days. On my way thither I was made prisoner by the franc tireurs, and obliged to march with them some distance. * * *

New Hampshire Items.

The new Dover city government was inaugurated on Tuesday.

The Governor and Council have made the following nominations: Daniel Marcy of Portsmouth, trustee of the State Reform School, vice Horton D. Walker, resigned: Leavitt H. Eastman of Conway, Sheriff of Carroll county; John W. Currier of Alton, solicitor of Belknap county; David C. Batchelder of Gilford, sheriff, and S. Dinsmore of Laconia, register of probate of Belknap county.

In the suit of Concord Railroad vs. George Clough, judgment was rendered at the late terms of the court at Concord for $14,664.32 debt, and $2459.14 costs; total $17,123.46. Execution for this amount has been issued and sent to the receiver, Hon. W. P. Wheeler, for collection.

Joseph Wiggin of Dover committed suicide at Tuftonborough on Tuesday by hanging himself.

Manchester pays its Mayor $2000.

The Dover city debt is $219,982.77.

☞ The second adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Home Insurance Company was held at New Haven on Tuesday. The amount of re-insurance fund had then reached $112,000, leaving $38,000 to be raised. The meeting adjourned till to-day without doing any business, when it is expected the whole amount for the re-insurance fund, $150,000 will be raised. A gentleman who left New Haven, Thursday at noon, says the subscription has reached $135,000—only $15,000 more to raise.

☞ The Lawrence Daily American begins the new year enlarged, and bearing evidences of prosperity.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a diuretic, by toning the vessels of the skin and promoting the free passage of exhausted matter through that natural sieve of the system. As a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, where there is a tendency to dropsy, and as a mild deputent and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, antiseptic, diaphoretic and antibilious properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

MOSES, still in the bright field of Music, continues to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and pleasant Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils, in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to pay a Quarterly Tuition of Three Dollars at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable tuition will be equally shared by for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for the most skillful teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to join the class after taking perhaps twenty, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the Art of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "note" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention, to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally lost case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located in Florida, should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible for the cold to take hold there. The cars might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hilliard, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reason for saying so is, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, costiveness, or coughs; but, for those lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia in winter, where I have examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On New England, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which is so slight it is ridiculous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action, I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens up about us, the creeping chills and chamber night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Do what you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by these means.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act as a tonic, leaving no bad effects behind, as do none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are needed in all cases where a positive cathartic is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to costiveness, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you are troubled with a slight change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may laugh at diarrhœa, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick in consequence. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination of their lungs, should be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one who has diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can administer them to a consuming one, and can be bought from any druggist.

Printing. — Hanscom, Waterhouse and Gardner.

The President read the Joint Standing Rules and Orders.

The Aldermen notified the Council of the Committees appointed in that Board; and a petition of John S. Rand and others for the appointment of Rev. C. P. Smith on the School Committee of Ward Two, in place of Dr. E. B. Goodall, resigned, was accepted.

The Joint special Committee on Revising the Rules and Orders of the City Council reported in favor of adopting the rules of 1850. The report was accepted and the rules were adopted for the current year.

A series of joint resolutions (relating to economy in city affairs) were sent down from the Aldermen for concurrence, which were adopted, and Messrs. Waterhouse, Hanscom and Wendell were appointed on the part of the Council, to confer with the Aldermanic Committee appointed to consider what offices and salaries, if any, should be abolished or reduced.

Adjourned for one week.

WANTED, 14 Maltese cats or kittens at 45 Congress Street, Trafton's Express Agency.

☞ An order was received at the Navy Yard on Thursday to employ an additional force of workmen.

☞ The attention of parents and others is called to the advertisement of Mr. T. P. Moses in another column.

☞ Twenty-six barrels of whiskey were seized on Thursday by the United States Internal Revenue officers in this city, from Mr. J. S. Grant, on a charge of being improperly stamped.

☞ At the late session of the Governor and Council, Chas. N. Clifford, a native of Portsmouth, was pardoned out of the State Prison. Clifford was committed in April, 1866, for highway robbery.

☞ Dr. Dean Clark of Boston will lecture at the Brick Vestry on Fleet St. on Sunday at 2 1-2 and 7 P. M. Subject, "The Dynamics of Mind, Mesmerism, Psychology, Clairvoyance and so-called Spiritual Manifestations scientifically explained." The lecturer is said to be thoroughly posted on these subjects.

☞ Mr. Smith, principal of the Boys' High School, invited Mr. Clarke, the assistant teacher, and the Fourth (graduating) class of pupils, to a social entertainment at his house on Wednesday evening. The occasion was a pleasant one for all concerned, and evinced the existence of that good will between scholars and teachers which should always be found in our schools.

THE PROHIBITION CAUCUS in this city met at Sons of Temperance Hall at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, voted Mr. Alonzo F. Craig to the chair, and elected the following named gentlemen as delegates to the State Temperance Convention:—

Henry A. Yeaton, A. F. Craig, B. F. Thorndike, Andrew Hill, C. M. Dinsmore, L. L. Harmon, J. R. Curtis, J. L. Hatch, E. K. Amazeen, F. E. Vennard, L. A. Fletcher, Robert Drew, W. B. Rand, Fred F. Moses, Charles E. Young, Dr. Adams Perry, Alfred Lang, Daniel McIntire, J. W. Fogg, G. B. Came.

The Caucus adjourned at a late hour, to meet again at the same place on Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

☞ Although the Republican nominee for Governor was not the choice of the Portsmouth delegation, there is to be no disaffection or disinclination to support Mr. Pike, as has been hinted at in certain quarters. Mr. Pike will receive the full support of the Republicans throughout the State, and there is no man in the Democratic party who can defeat him at the polls. The friends of Hon. Horton D. Walker propose to make him Mr. Pike's successor. The large vote Mr. Walker received considering the short time in which his friends urged his nomination is at once complimentary and satisfactory to him and his supporters, who are confident that he was the second choice of more than two thirds of the Convention.

Lizzie Delany broke one of the bones of the right forearm in J. O. Reynold's shoe manufactory, at Dover on Saturday last, by getting it caught in an elevator.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 8¾ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9¾ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

WATCHES AND WATCH-REPAIRING.—Did ever a dentist look in your mouth without finding a hole in one of your teeth that needed filling, did you ever show your watch to a watchmaker who didn't say it needed cleaning? Mark Twain, in a recent number of the Galaxy, thus tells us of his tribulations with a fine watch which did remarkably well till it accidentally fell into the hands of a watch-doctor. Here him tell the story:

My beautiful new watch had run eighteen months without losing or gaining, and without breaking any part of its machinery or stopping. I had come to believe it infallible in its judgments about the time of day, and to consider its constitution and its anatomy imperishable. But at last, one night, I let it run down. I grieved about it as if it were a recognized messenger and forerunner of calamity. But by and by I cheered up, set the watch by guess, and commanded my bodings and superstitions to depart. Next day I stepped into the chief jeweller's to set it by the exact time, and the head of the establishment took it out of my hand and proceeded to set it for me. Then he said: 'She is four minutes slow—regulator wants pushing up.' I tried to stop him—tried to make him understand that the watch kept perfect time. But no; all this human cabbage could see was that the watch was four minutes slow, and the regulator must be pushed up a little; and so, while I danced around him in anguish and beseeched him to let the watch alone, he calmly and cruelly did the shameful deed.

My watch began to gain. It gained faster and faster day by day. Within the week it sickened to a raging fever, and its pulse went up to a hundred and fifty in the shade. At the end of two months it had left all the timepieces of the town far in the rear, and was a fraction over thirteen days ahead of the almanac. It was away into November enjoying the snow, while the October leaves were still turning. It hurried up house-rent, bills payable, and such things, in such a ruinous way that I could not abide it. I took it to the watchmaker to be regulated. He asked me if I had ever had it repaired. I said no, it had never needed any repairing. He looked a look of vicious happiness and eagerly pried the watch open, then put a small dice-box into his eye and peered into its machinery. He said it wanted cleaning and oiling, besides regulating—come in a week.

After being cleaned and oiled and regulated, my watch slowed down to that degree that it ticked like a tolling bell. I began to be left by trains, I failed all appointments, I got to missing my dinner; my watch strung out three days' grace to four and let me go to protest; I gradually drifted back into yesterday, then day before, then into last week, and by and by the comprehension came upon me that all solitary and alone I was lingering along in week before last, and the world was out of sight. I seemed to detect in myself a sort of sneaking fellow-feeling for the mummy in the museum, and a desire to swap news with him.

I went to a watchmaker again. He took the watch all to pieces while I waited, and then said the barrel was 'swelled.' He said he could reduce it in three days. After this the watch averaged well, but nothing more. For half a day it would go like the very mischief, and keep up such a barking and wheezing and whooping and sneezing and snorting, that I could not hear myself think for the disturbance; and as long as it held out, there was not a watch in the land that stood any chance against it. But the rest of the day it would keep on slowing down and fooling along until all the clocks it had left behind caught up again.

So at last, at the end of twenty-four hours, it would trot up to the judges' stand all right and just on time. It would show a fair and square average, and no man could say it had done more or less than its duty. But a correct average is only a mild virtue in a watch, and I took this instrument to another watchmaker. He said the kingbolt was broken. I said I was glad it was nothing more serious. To tell the plain truth, I had no idea what the kingbolt was, but I did not choose to appear ignorant to a stranger. He repaired the kingbolt, but what the watch gained in one way it lost in another. It would run awhile and then stop awhile, and then run awhile again and so on, using its own discretion about the intervals. And every time it went off it kicked back like a musket.

I padded my breast for a few days, but finally took the watch to another watchmaker. He picked it all to pieces, and turned the ruin over and over under his glass; and then he said there appeared to be something the matter with the hair-trigger. He fixed it, and gave it a fresh start. It did well now, except that always at ten minutes to ten the hands would shut together like a pair of scissors, and from that time forth they would travel together. The oldest man in the world could not make head or tail of the time of day by such a watch, and so I went again to have the thing repaired. This person said that the crystal had got bent, and that the mainspring was not straight. He also remarked that part of the works needed half-soling. He made these things all right, and then my timepiece performed unexceptionably, save that now and then, after working along quietly for nearly eight hours, every thing inside would let go all of a sudden and begin to buzz like a bee, and the hands would straightway begin to spin round and round so fast that their individuality was lost completely, and they simply seemed a delicate spider's web over the face of the watch. She would reel off the next twenty-four hours in six or seven minutes, and then stop with a bang. I went with a heavy heart to one more watchmaker, and looked on while he took her to pieces. Then I prepared to cross-question him rigidly, for this thing was getting serious. The watch has cost two hundred dollars originally, and I seemed to have paid out two or three thousand for repairs. While I waited and looked on, I presently recognized in this watchmaker an old acquaintance—a steamboat engineer of other days, and not a good engineer either. He examined all the parts carefully, just as the other watchmakers had done, and then delivered his verdict with the same confidence of manner.

He said: "She makes too much steam—you want to hang the monkey-wrench on the safety-valve!"

I brained him on the spot, and had him buried at my own expense. My uncle William used to say that a good horse was a good horse until it had run away once, and that a good watch was a good watch until the repairers got a chance at it. And he used to wonder what became of all the unsuccessful tinkers, and gunsmiths, and shoemakers, and blacksmiths; but nobody could ever tell him.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

STALLIONS FOR COMMON LABOR.—There are very few goldings in France. The reason is, the stallions are not unmanageable, dangerous and vicious work-horses, but docile, obedient, easily managed and intelligent. There is nothing in the nature of things to prevent our having the advantage of the greater toughness, strength, spirit, fearlessness, safety (in being less liable to take fright,) freedom from disease, and longer serviceableness of the stallion over the gelding, were it not that we and our ancestors have so abused the temper of the horse, that his progeny exhibit, among the unaltered males, vicious and treacherous tempers, such as make them unsafe and unreliable as work-horses, even under the kindest and most uniform treatment.

The English thoroughbreds, unexcelled for spirit, endurance, fleetness and wind, are the most vicious of all horses. They came from the gentle, docile, affectionate Arab, and it is only the training and abuse of the English stable boys and grooms, we verily believe, which has thus, in the course of generations, ruined the temper of the most noble of the breeds of horses. Its blood is infused through all our common stock, and to it we owe most of the characteristics for which we value our horses.

Where thoroughbreds have been bred for generations under different treatment, as under the handling of the negro grooms and riders of the Southern States, their tempers improve, and extraordinary exhibitions of vice are rare among the stallions. The habit of using stallions is followed a great deal by French Canadians, who send to this country so many so-called "Kanuck" horses. These horses are small, close-knit and powerful, and when entire, tough beyond comparison. Wherever we meet with them, they are praised for easy keeping qualities, great endurance, and freedom from ordinary ills, and are seldom complained of as vicious.

Do we not, in our ordinary treatment, sacrifice a great part of the usefulness and serviceableness of the horse, in rendering him intractable, more liable to disease, and less intelligent and spirited? Is it not worth while to make experiments oftener of rearing stallions for labor, though it require more patience, gentleness and kindness on the part of those who handle them, and repeated floggings administered with a will, for any stable boys who dare to pinch or tickle, or to ruffle their tempers?—Am. Agr.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.—Is there any position a mother can covet for her daughter, more glorious than to be the wife of an honest, independent, happy farmer, in a country like this? To be the wife of one who is looked up to by the neighbors as one whose example may be safely followed—one whose farm is noted far and near as a model of neatness and perfection as cultivation? To be the mistress of a mansion of her own, that it may be the envy of every passer-by, because it is neat and comfortable—a sweet and lovely cottage home.

To be the angel that flits through the garden, bidding the flowers bloom, and twining roses and honey suckles around the bed-room or sweetening their fragrance with her sweetest smile; or spreading the snowy cloth beneath the old oak at the door to welcome her husband as he returns from his toil; or ever tipping the cradle with her foot as she plies the dasher with her hand, or busily moves the needle, at the same time humming a joyous song of praise that she is the happy and fondly beloved wife of an American farmer—one of the noblemen of this free country, one that should by right rank as the pride and glory of America.—Southern Rural Gentleman.

A PLEASANT PICTURE.—It is evening. The rich glow of the sinking sun casts athwart the little cottage doorway a mellow golden light that enriches and enlivens the scene. A balmy breeze blows from the west, and the tall surrounding trees, and the hedge shrubbery and the bare garden stalks and bushes bend their tops, and seem to nod a pleasant good-night to the disappearing orb. A dream-like stillness settles about the place. The busy hum of day gradually sinks away, and the peaceful calm of night falls about. Finally, all is still and dark. The happy domestic circle within the cosy cot prepare to enjoy the blissful repose of even. Father and children are grouped around the center table, and while the man takes his solace in his newspaper, the young matron sits quietly by with her work, and the little ones discuss their rag dolls and sugar plums in the corner. The sweet warbler, in his golden cage above the vine clad window, has ceased his merry song; Carlo has gone to sleep on the rug; the playful kittens have tired of their gambols, and have curled up in their little box; and now no sound is heard save the cricket's chirrup. Stiller and darker it grows until by-and-by the sharp "Hist" from behind the garden gate tells now is the time to steal watermelons.—Mark Twain.

—Riel, of Red River notoriety, has been poisoned.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 13th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD' Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A DRESSING which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1871.

THE WAR.—The Prussians in force attacked the French on the left bank of the Seine Wednesday. The result is not yet known.

Chanzy is making a desperate effort to advance on Paris, via. Chartres. Considerable excitement has been created among the Prussians at the exposure of the fact that the manufacturers of Solingen have been as active as the English manufacturers in supplying arms to the French.

The Prussians are in force between Barentin, Croix, Mare and Rouen. An attack was made Wednesday morning by the French, numbering about 800. One hundred sharpshooters advanced to a farm near Balbec, held by a body of Saxons, under Manteuffel. The object of the French was to capture the garrison. The first success was promising, resulting in the capture of three outposts without any alarm being given by the French.

It is rumored that a Prussian courier has been captured by the franc-tireurs, near the Belgian frontier, and that on his person were found despatches urging the United States to press the Alabama claims. The report is hardly credited.

SQUALLY.—Russia has made a levy for a new force of 1,600,000 men.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE. — The Methodist Society in Seabrook have built a vestry at an expense of $700. A bell has been put in the belfry of the meeting house.—a present from widow Fowler.

The First Congregational Church in Derry has raised $5.36 for the American Tract Society. North Hampton Congregational Church $16.59 for the American Board of Foreign Missions. Seabrook and Hampton Falls, for the same, $22.26.

Three ministers have been settled as pastors of churches in Rockingham County of late. Rev. S. Bunker at Raymond, installed over the Congregational Church, Nov. 30th; sermon by Rev. Mr. Hayes of Boston. Rev. J. McLane at Hampton, Dec. 15; sermon by Rev. C. R. Palmer of Salem; and Rev. E. W. Ballard at Hampstead, Dec. 16.

☞ John Bell Crockett, a grandson of Col. Davy Drockett and a steady and promising young man of 24 years of age, was recently murdered at Bradley's Landing, Ark., for his money.

☞ John Smith, the alleged mutineer on the ship Shatemuc, died Thursday morning of wounds received at the hands of the second mate, who is now on bail for the offence.

☞ The house of Mrs. Drew, a widow, at Plainville, Minn., was destroyed by fire on Friday night. Her babe perished in the flames, and the mother was fatally injured.

A NEW SOLOMON.—Justice Dowling, of New York, decided a case the other day in a way that would have astonished Solomon in all his glory. The only difficulty was, the dog was not up in his part. The Sun tells the story as follows:

Hans Sanerkept, a Teuton, and Dinny Tucker, an Irishman, were before Justice Dowling, yesterday, with a huge black dog tied to two pieces of rope, one held by Hans and the other by Dennis. The sagacious animal, not liking it a bit, entered the court room snarling and barking.

"Tees is mine torg," began the Dutchman, addressing Justice Dowling.

"The divil a bit," retorted the Irishman, "the crater is my own, so it is."

"Dass bees nicht ter trooth," said Hans. "Ter torg ish mine, oond I kot him von Schwaben; mine brooder sent him to me!"

"Troth," said the Irishman, leaning confidentially on the shoulder of the angry Dutchman, and whispering into his ear, "bejabers, the crater come from Cork."

"Dass ish von beek lie," yelled the Teuton, standing off from the too familiar Celt, "I knowsh besser as you; ter torg ish mine."

Justice Dowling here stroked his moustache, and sitting up in the chair said:

"I can't find out whose the dog is by your jargon," and turning to Mr. Barret, he exclaimed:

"Roundsman, cut the rope with your knife, and he whom the dog knows shall have him."

Mr. Barret dived down to the bottom of his trousers' pocket, and scooped out a huge jack-knife, with which he cut the rope, and, when the dog found himself released he dashed out of the room in an instant, upsetting Monsieur Parlout, a tall, lean Frenchman, who had just entered. The two Germans rushed after him head-long, and, unless they have been stopped by the city police force, may be still pursuing the animal.

—Beggars in Muscatine demand a hot roll, a beef steak and a cup of coffee, and if it is not given them they put tar on the front steps.

POLITICAL.—Gov. Perham of Maine was inaugurated Thursday. The republican State officers of last year were re-elected, 136 to 35 for the democratic candidates.

The genesal assembly of Illinois met Thursday, elected republican officers, and listened to a message of extraordinary length from Governor Palmer.

The Missouri legislature organized Thursday, electing democratic officers.

Gov. Clayton, of Arkansas, in his message to the legislature, gives a favorable account of the condition of the State, and says that old animosities are fast dying out.

Hon. Lot M. Morrill was nominated by the Republican caucus of the Maine legislature on Thursday evening, by a vote of 105 to 34 for Ex-Gov. Chamberlain, as a candidate for United States Senator for six years from March next.

—The Republicans in New Hampshire on Wednesday nominated James Pike of Newmarket, for Governor, and there is no doubt of his election. He is one of the most popular men in the State. He is a man about fifty years old, born in East Salisbury, just across the river, son of Mr. Caleb Pike. He is a Methodist preacher, educated at the Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., and some thirty years in the ministry; but like many clergymen of late years he has not remained ignorant of politics. From the first—the nomination of James G. Birney in 1840—he has been a Republican; and for two terms—or four years—was a member of Congress from the first New Hampshire district. During the rebellion he entered the army and was colonel of the 17th New Hampshire regiment, who were sent to the southwest and participated in opening the Mississippi at Port Hudson. He has always been held in the highest esteem in the Methodist church, and is a determined advocate of temperance. He will carry some two or three thousand votes that otherwise would be given to a Prohibitionist. We see nothing in the way of his making a most successful run.—Newburyport Herald.

VIRGINIA.—Affairs in Virginia are represented to be in a deplorable condition. As a general thing business is prostrate and the people are very gloomy. Being desirous of emigrating West, many land-holders express a willingness to sell esfates at any price to raise money for this purpose. Those who have attempted to locate in the State claim that this is but the natural result of the policy pursued by the people, who have discouraged northern immigration in every possible manner.

At the close of the war there was a strong movement of the small farmers of Pennsylvania and other northern States to northern and central Virginia, and they purchased lands in those localities in considerable quantities. That movement has now been thoroughly checked; and those who bought with the intention of a permanent settlement are now most anxious to sell. In many instances lands within a few miles of Washington are offered at much lower rates than in the newest Western States. It is predicted that both from North Carolina and Virginia there will be a large emigration westward when the seasons opens.

☞ An explosion of fire damp occurred Wednesday in the Forrestville mines, near Minersville, Pa., killing one man instantly and burning another so that he died in a few hours, and slightly injuring two others. The mine had been inspected in the morning by the fire boss, who reported it free from gas, and especially the working in which the explosion occurred. There was another explosion at the Ravensdale Colliery, near St. Clair, Pa., burning six men, some it is thought fatally. The explosion was terrific.

☞ The Supreme Court of California has ordered a new trial in a certain case on the ground that the defendant was convicted on Chinese testimony under the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. The court holds that the amendments cannot affect and do not abrogate or annul the State law regulating practice in the courts. Judge Rhodes, a democrat, alone dissents in the opinion, which covers one hundred pages of folio.

☞ Judge Rosekrans of the New York Supreme Court has rendered a decision against the Erie Railway Company and in favor of the holders of the preferred stock. The learned gentleman commented severely upon the long-continued swindling of the Erie Railroad Company, and the infamous prostitution of the New York State courts to their wishes.

☞ The case of Frederica Rhiel, a girl aged 21 years, against Robert Mines, of Evansville, Ind., 72 years of age, and worth half a million dollars, for a breach of promise and seduction, the damages being laid at $50,000, has been concluded by the jury rendering a verdict for the defendant. The trial lasted for five days, and was of a most sensational character.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull and stupid or debilitated, pain or pressure in the head, take cold easily, you may be sure you have the Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. Dr. R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., is the sole proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy—a perfect specific for Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," or Catarrhal Headache, which he sends to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite cassemates are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to encounter them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, in a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the orpifying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive organs, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is inimical in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and adopting a course of the Bitters at this season is particularly desirable, especially for the feeble and sickly. As a remedy for billousness, dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawje2

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. dawzmn9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that should be pursued to restore a miserably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can point to as one that I would be willing to be overcome. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and is more wind, breaking. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly! I never from my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a hoarse, or diseased throat, ulcerated bronchial bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, affording ample means of studying lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and I have every confidence in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the simple reason, they are likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it is not quite so prevalent as in the Eastern States, but it is generally

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Dr. Daniel H. Peirce of this city has donated the munificent sum of $5000 to Phillips Exeter Academy.

☞ We learn that Mr. J. G. Anthoine will commence a dancing school at Irving Hall on Thursday evening next.

☞ The P. M. L. Association have removed from the Hall they have so long occupied to the brick vestry on Fleet Street.

☞ Dr. Dean Clark will lecture at the Brick Vestry on Fleet Street tomorrow at 2 1-2 and 7 P. M., on Psychology, Spiritual manifestations, &c.

☞ The cat advertiser, who dropped the notice which we published yesterday in our office box, will receive a reward on calling at this office immediately.

☞ Auction Sale this day, Saturday, at the M. P. Union Store on Daniel St., of the remaining stock of groceries, &c. Also will be sold at same place a wagon and sleigh. See adv't.

☞ Some of the merchants of Bath, Me., have recently presented a magnificent bracelet to Miss C. H. Snow, formerly operator at the Western Union Telegraph office there, and now of this city, as a New Year's gift. The correspondence is published in the Bath Times. Miss Snow bids fair to make as many friends in Portsmouth as she has in Bath, by her courtesy, promptness and correctness in receiving, delivering and sending messages.

☞ The retirement of Ben. P. Shillaber, the genial writer and witty poet, from the publishing house of Thomes & Talbot, is a subject of regret in all quarters, his colleagues of the press taking occasion to pay such compliments that even "Mrs. Partington" may blush with becoming modesty. We trust that a little rest will bring our jolly friend right side up, and that the muse may inspire him to further amuse and make merry the "youngsters" and "old 'uns" who have chuckled over so many good things emanating from "brother Bob's" brother Ben.

JUVENILE MUSICAL INSTRUCTION.—Owing to the want which has so long been felt in this city, of some means (other than private tuition, which is costly) by which children and youth can become proficient in music, very many of our young people are growing up to be men and women, wholly unable to distinguish one note in music from another. The neglect of this branch of education is a positive wrong to the rising generation, as it deprives them of a means of innocent and healthful enjoyment, debars them from understanding and appreciating music if of a more elevated character than "Jim along Josey" or that equally wondrous composition "Shoo Fly," and may leave them to seek other and very questionable sources of recreation and entertainment.

The pupils in our public schools might easily be taught so much of music as would enable them to read simple and plain tunes, at sight—but not by having an instructor visit the schools for an hour one day in each week, for a few weeks; it must be a part of the regular course of study if it is to be of any real benefit, and this city is hardly ready as yet to take so decided a step forward as to pay the salary which a competent teacher would demand, for that purpose.

Private tuition does much to keep up musical taste and knowledge in the community, but the Singing School is and must long be the principle means on which we can rely for their general diffusion; and Mr. T. P. Moses, who is too well known in Portsmouth to need any introduction from us, has decided to open one, and keep it open, for the purpose of giving instruction to beginners as well as those already advanced in the study of music. His advertisement may be found in another column, and parents whose children do or do not "read music" will do well to look it over.

☞ Gen. Schenck has been complimented by the passage of a resolution in the House of Representatives, appropriating $2500 per year to pay for a private amanuensis so long as Gen. S. is minister to England, his right arm having been disabled in the action at Vienna during the late war.

[illegible] convention in the third New Hampshire district nominated at the first ballot Simon G. Griffin, of Keene, he receiving 142 out of 236 votes cast.

☞ At Lewiston, Me., Wednesday night, the thermometer was 14 degrees below zero.

LIBEL SUIT.—Hon. S. W. Kellogg, Republican Representative to Congress from Connecticut, has sued Dr. Jacques of Waterbury, Conn., for libel, on account of a letter which appeared in the Hartford Times, purporting to have been written by a soldier's widow, in which it was said that Mr. Kellogg had "interceded for her in getting a pension, but had appropriated most of the money to his own use," the "widow" inclosing to the Times editor a fifty-cent shinplaster "as the last of her possessions." The letter was a touching affair, and was eagerly seized upon by the democratic press to make capital against Mr. Kellogg and his supporters; but a week or two after, the Times said it had been convinced that the letter was a forgery, and washed its hands of all responsibility for it. Mr. Kellogg, during the recess of Congress, has given the matter a thorough investigation, and has succeeded to the satisfaction of those who have seen the testimony he has accumulated, in proving that the letter was written by Jacques, out of pure malice. Mr. Kellogg has brought a civil suit to recover $50,000 from Jacques, who is a man of means, and has real estate which has been covered by attachment to meet the responsibilities of the suit in case a verdict for the plaintiff is rendered.

SYMPATHY.—The London Times of Thursday morning has an article on the Alabama claims question, in which it says: "England only desires, by fair concessions and frank allowances, to bring about a settlement of this foolish quarrel, which alienates two great nations allied by blood and sympathy." The "sympathy" of the London Times with this great nation was very successfully concealed from the world at large, just about the time the Alabama claims were being got up by the British rebel-pirate cruiser.

New Hampshire Items.

At a family party, at Londonderry, on the last day of 1870, at the house of Mason Boyd, there were present eight persons, each over 72 years of age, six over 80, four over 84, and two over 90. Considering that it was not an attempt to get old folks together, but merely a family gathering, it was remarkable.

S. D. Weeks of Sanbornton was recently driving his ox team to Franklin, loaded with twelve barrels of apples. His foot slipping he fell, and the wheel ran over him, breaking his thigh, and otherwise severely injuring him. He lay four hours upon the ice and frozen ground before he was discovered. He is now doing well.

One Rollins, formerly a resident of Lee, and for a time a wood-chopper in Raymond, made an assault on Andrew Locke a few days ago, at the latter place, wrestling his axe from him and giving him blows on the head. He was brought before J. S. James, Esq., and for want of bail was committed to Exeter jail.

☞ Further investigation into the case of William Gambleton of Boston, whose body was found in the Lake Basin in Chicago on Monday, renders it certain that he was murdered and robbed of a large sum of money. A telegram from Blake Brothers of New York says that they forwarded to Gambleton a check for $7980. He deposited it in the Manufacturers' Bank and subsequently withdrew the money, since which the officers of the bank have not seen him.

☞ The books of a prominent German sugar importing firm in New York, lately seized for frauds in the customs, were released on the payment of a fine of $70,000.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best quality of the article now prepared is strictly maintained.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, on a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

AT THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION, held in Concord, Wednesday, Hon. Asa Fowler of Concord, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reported the following resolutions, which were read, applauded and passed unanimously:

1. Resolved, That the Republican party is not only the party of the past, but of the present and future—the party of progress and advancement; not only to be honored and revered for its noble principles, its brave utterances and patriotic deeds, by which a nation has been saved; but to be trusted for its willingness to consult and promote the true interests of every class and condition of our people, and to adopt such measures of improvement and reform as the public good and the changing exigencies of the times may demand.

2. Resolved, That, as in the past, the great work of that party, so gloriously and successfully accomplished, has been, while suppressing treason and rebellion, to give freedom to the oppressed, and secure to all their just rights under the Constitution, by the enacting and enforcement of wise and equal laws, thereby developing and strengthening the national prosperity and the national unity; so the true mission of that party in the future is to invigorate, and, if possible, perpetuate such freedom, rights, prosperity and unity, by educating, improving and elevating the masses of the nation, whose intelligence, happiness and virtue furnish the only safeguard for the stability of free institutions.

3. Resolved, That, in the fulfillment of its mission, it is the duty of that party to establish and enforce such a national system of education as shall place within reach, and ultimately compel every subject of the Government, of sufficient capacity, to embrace and improve such opportunities for mental and moral culture as will qualify him to discharge with fidelity and wisdom the responsible duties of an American citizen.

4. Resolved, That all laws imposing unnecessary or unequal burdens, by taxation or otherwise, upon the whole or any portion of the community, thereby diminishing or wholly depriving them of that compensation, leisure and opportunity for development, improvement and happiness which their industry and devotion to duty fairly entitle them to enjoy, are unjust, oppressive, and should be immediately repealed.

5. Resolved, That all laws which favor capital at the expense of labor, or offer a bounty to accumulated wealth at the expense of productive industry, are inconsistent with the principles of democratic republicanism, and we hereby repudiate and denounce them as in direct conflict with the purpose and aims of the Republican party.

6. Resolved, That the Constitution having vested in Congress the exclusive power of coining money and regulating the value thereof, it is manifestly the duty of the General Government to provide such convenient medium of exchange, if any be necessary in addition to coin for the use of the people as will best subserve their interest, at the smallest possible expense to the Government, and consequently to the people themselves.

7. Resolved, That, as the success of any system of government depends almost wholly upon the character and ability of those who administer its affairs, it is pre-eminently important, in a free republic, that the selection of public officers should be determined by merit and qualifications; we are therefore in favor of rigidly applying the Jeffersonian test of honesty and capacity to the choice and appointment of all officers in the civil service.

8. Resolved, That we cordially approve the policy of the Administration in selling gold and purchasing the bonds of the Government, thereby strengthening the national credit and reducing the national debt.

9. Resolved, That we heartily indorse the sentiment of President Grant, expressed in his inaugural, and exemplified in his administration, that every department of the Government should be conducted with fidelity and the most rigid economy, and every law be strictly and persistently enforced.

10. Resolved, That we protest against the so-called revenue reform movement, now being inaugurated by a few quasi Republicans, in concert with the great body of Democrats, because while we desire, in common with the great majority of the people, that all taxation shall be reduced so far and so fast as is consistent with the necessities of the Government, we still believe that necessary taxes should be imposed chiefly upon the rich, rather than the poor, upon the luxuries of life, rather than its necessaries, and that a duty upon such articles of foreign manufacture as come in direct competition with the products of our own industry, is essential to the well being and permanent prosperity of the nation.

11. Resolved, That the franking privilege should be immediately abolished, and the rate of postage reduced to the lowest point compatible with a reasonable remuneration for the service rendered by the Post Office Department.

12. Resolved, That while practicing the most rigid economy consistent with the public interest, it is the duty of our State Government and its officers to do all in their power to secure prompt and efficient enforcement of those salutary laws designed to protect the poor, the improvident and the helpless against fraud, avarice and oppression, among the most important of which are those against gambling, licentiousness, and the sale of intoxicating liquors; the encouragement of honest industry, the prevention of crime, pauperism and misery, the education of the young and the maintenance of good morals being the highest duties of all legislators and other public officers.

13. Resolved, That the sympathies of the Republican party have ever been, and still are, with and for the laboring men of the country; prompted by this sympathy we struck the fetters from the slave, and threw open the public domain for the location of free homesteads for the working man thereon. We have always favored all legislation calculated to advance the true interests of labor and will continue so to do.

14. Resolved, That the recent proposition of Sentor McCreery, to dig up the bones of the soldiers who fell in defence of their country, preparatory to the restoration of Arlington to the widow of the arch rebel Lee; the recent declaration of sympathy with secession made in the House of Representatives by Mr. Jones of Kentucky; and the recent outbreak of rebel violence in the late rebel States have been inspired, one and all, by Democratic successes at the polls and are but a small foretaste of what may be expected should the so called Democracy succeed in obtaining possession of the National Government.

15. Resolved, that the wealth of the nation should pay its debt, and hence we are opposed to abolishing the income tax, the or taxes upon those luxuries that wealth only can afford, while we favor the reduction of all taxes upon the necessaries of life.

16. Resolved, That the Republican party of New Hampshire looks with alarm upon the efforts made to squander the public lands in the interest of schemes backed by railroad speculators, lobbyists and stock gamblers, and is opposed to each and every one of them; and while it opposes them, looks with favor upon any act that may give a homestead to each disabled soldier who periled his life to put down the Slaveholders' Rebellion, and save this nation equality of labor, religious toleration and liberty.

17. Resolved, That in HON. JAMES PIKE, this day nominated for Governor, we recognize those sterling qualities of mind and heart, and those traits of character which peculiarly fit him to become the standard bearer of the party in the approaching campaign, and so abundantly qualify him wisely, judiciously, economically and acceptably to administer the affairs of our State Government.

18. Resolved, That we have felt confidence in the ability, integrity and fidelity of Dauphin W. Buckminster, this day nominated for Railroad Commissioner, and earnestly recommend him to the Republican electors as eminently worthy of their suffrages for that office.

WAR! WAR!! WAR!!! GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES. "The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!" It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end. THE ÆTNA is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised. CHARLES S. DODGE, No. 10½ DANIEL STREET, n11 At Montgomery's Music Rooms.

LINSEED TEA FOR SICK HORSES.—Linseed tea is not only a valuable restorative for sick horses, but it is exceedingly useful in cases of inflammation of the membranes peculiar to the organs of respiration and digestion; it shields and lubricates the same; tranquilizes the irritable states of the parts, and favors healthy action. We have prescribed linseed tea in large quantities, during the past month, for horses laboring under the prevailing influenza; they seemed to derive much benefit from it, and generally drank it with avidity. Aside from the benefit we derive from the ration of mucilage and oil, which the seed contains, its nutritive elements are of some account, especially when given to the animals laboring under soreness in the organs of deglutition, which incapacitates from swallowing more solid food. In the event of an animal becoming prostrated by inability to masticate or swallow more food, linseed tea may be resorted to, and in case of irritable cough, the addition of a little honey makes it still more useful.—To prepare Linseed Tea, put a couple of handfuls of the seed into a bucket, and pour a gallon and a half of boiling water upon it. Cover it up a short time, then add a couple of quarts of cold water, when it will be fit for use.—Am. Veterinary Journal.

THE AGE OF POULTRY.—Farmers usually sell poultry alive. Poulterers in town, on the other hand, kill and pluck every sort of fowl for sale, so that the purchaser has it in his power to judge of the carcass; and if he buys an inferior article at a high price, it must be his own fault. It is easy to judge of a plucked fowl, whether old or young, by the state of the legs. If a hen's spur is sharp, or the scales on her legs rough, she is old, whether you see her head or not; but the head will corroborate your observation, if the under bill is so stiff that you cannot bend it down, and the comb thick and rough. A young hen has only the rudiments of spurs, the scales on the legs smooth, glossy, and fresh colored, whatever the color may be, the claws tender and short under bill soft, and the comb thin and smooth. An old hen turkey has rough scales on the legs, callosities on the soles of the feet, and long, strong claws; a young one the reverse of all these marks. A young goose or duck is distinguished by the tenderness of the skin under the wings, the strength of the joints of the legs, and the coarseness of the skin.

BEEF FOR FARMERS' TABLES.—On account of the short hay crop, farmers early in the fall began to dispose of their stock, to reduce it for the winter to correspond with the bulk of their hay mows. The ordinary animals were of course disposed of—as should always be the case—and in consequence of this, local markets all over the State have been supplied with beef of a very inferior quality. The neat stock which has also been sent to the large markets of Brighton and Watertown has generally been of a second and third quality. We notice, however, that better beef begins to be brought into our market, and a better class of animals are being transported by rail. Farmers are also putting down more beef for their own use this fall than common, and will in consequence have better fare during the winter months. Beef is better than pork, and whether corned or fresh, it furnishes, with bread and butter, living which no man need complain of.—Maine Farmer.

THE CATTLE LOUSE.—There are several kinds of lice (Pediculi) which are found upon cattle, but the most common is the cattle-louse, Hæmatopinus vituli, which is the polish brown species so often found upon our cattle in the barns. It is a degraded insect, is without wings and procreates viviparously. This species is about one-tenth of an inch long, with a small, narrow head, and is parasitic on both cattle and horses. They are furnished with a sucker, by means of which they suck out the juices and blood of the animal, causing an itching and irritation.

Nearly any of the various remedies proposed and in vogue, prove effectual, but perhaps the simplest is to anoint the parts where they most congregate with some soft grease, as lard, &c., or with an oil. The lice cannot live where oil or grease of any kind is present. Do not apply strong alkaline preparations as ashes, lime, &c., nor benzine or kerosene, as they are dangerous.

—The Quincy (Ills.) Journal recently insinuated that copies of the Chicago Republican were given away by "hundreds." The paper thus impeached retorts as follows: The remark of the Journal idiot is hardly in order; and to give that person a practical proof that we are not as liberal as he supposes in the distribution of the Republican we have discontinued his 'free copy;' and hope he will relieve our waste paper basket by a return of the compliment. If he wants the Republican hereafter, he must buy it or steal it.

—May Ballard, an old maid of La Crosse, took a hot brick to bed with her to warm her feet, and burned up a $3,000 house by it. May "bellered" considerably over the consequence of her folly.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD' Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway, New York.

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1871.

THE WAR.—During the battle which took place in the vicinity of Bapaume, the ground occupied by the hostile armies was several times lost and retaken. The French troops took six villages during the engagement, storming and capturing every position in which the Prussians endeavored to establish themselves, as slowly but irresistibly they were driven back by the brilliant and impetuous charges of the French battalions. The Prussians lost 3000 troops in the engagement. The decisive victory gained by the French troops on this occasion was mainly attributable to the excellence of their artillery, and the splendid manner in which it was handled. The enemy observed this, and several times during the battle made determined charges with the view of effecting a capture of the batteries and position held by the artillerists, but the efforts proved futile. Every attempt was met by a tremendous raking cannonade, which so thinned their columns that they were forced, after several attempts, to abandon the project as hopeless. The people and troops are wild with exultation over the success of the French army.

The battle of the left bank of the Seine was commenced by the Prussians, who attacked the French army. It lasted for several hours, but as far as can be ascertained no decided advantage has been gained. The loss on the part of the Prussians has been very heavy, and the French troops showed remarkable spirit and daring.

Gen. Manteuffel claims German victories in both battles.

The war movements in France are more active and on a larger scale. From present indications nothing can scarcely prevent a junction of Bourbaki and Faidherbe, who are handling their troops with considerable judgment and skill. The enemy's line of communications and of supplies connecting with Germany have recently been repeatedly destroyed, and immense quantities of provisions and ammunition captured. The defence of Havre consists of 50,000 troops and 200 cannon.

—An anecdote is told of Chief-Justice Marshall evincing his ready humor. The old gentleman, like Miles Standish, was very fond always of doing everything for himself, and objected strongly to any assistance being rendered him. One day, wishing to consult some work of reference, he entered the law library and proceeded to mount the steps and draw out a book from an upper shelf. The books being tightly backed together refused to leave one without the other and the Chief-Justice, not noticing this, in withdrawing the one he wished, dislodged the entire row, which came down upon him, felling him to the floor. The librarian instantly ran to the rescue inquiring if the venerable gentleman was hurt, and offering him assistance in rising. "Let me alone," said the Chief-Justice; "let me alone, I'm a little stunned for the moment; that's all. I have laid down the law often, but this is the first time the law has ever laid me down."

DAIRYING IN THE UNITED STATES.—The following statistics are from the Live Stock Journal. But few persons realize the magnitude of the dairying interest in this country at the present time. The present produce of cheese is supposed to be 300,000,000 pounds, which at fifteen cents a pound, amounts to $45,000,000; and of butter, 575,000,000 pounds, which at twenty-five cents a pound, amount to $152,000,000; with 100,000,000 gallons of milk sold in the cities and towns, and 60,000,000 gallons consumed in families where produced, worth $25,000,000; making together a dairy product of $215,000,000 besides the pork made from the refuse of butter and cheese dairies. The number of cows is probably not less than 9,000,000; the number in 1860 was 8,628,862.

If we allow 500,000,000 cows for making the butter, it will give one hundred and fifteen pounds to a cow, and 1,500,000 cows employed in producing cheese which will be two hundred pounds to a cow; 700,000 cows for the production of milk consumed in cities and families of producers, leaving 1,800,000 cows in the Western and Southern States devoted to raising stock. From these facts it will appear that the average product of butter and cheese is very far below what it might be with the intelligence and attention to breeding, feeding and general management which the magnitude of the subject demands. The first Collins cheese factory of Erie county, N. Y., for 1869, reports the average from seven hundred and thirty cows at four hundred and twenty pounds of cheese to a cow, while two hundred pounds and ever is a common yield to a cow, in butter, from good well-fed cows.

—The miracle of the age has been found in the person of Wm. H. North, who won't take the State Senatorship of the Tenth District of Wisconsin, because he only got the certificate of election on account of the misprinting of his opponent's name on some 600 ballots.

—A sign in Red Bank, N. J., reads thus: "New maid and old maid clothing always on hand."

NOT SUITED.—The nomination by the Republicans of Hon. James Pike as their candidate for Governor, meets with very general disapprobation throughout the State—from the Democracy. These gentlemen bring against Mr. Pike two serious charges, either of which is enough to excite their bitter hostility; first, that he is a clergyman; and second, (and worse still,) that he fought during the rebellion on the side of the Union, and freedom for the working man.

We are not of those who think all ministers are good men, or all lawyers must necessarily be scamps; but we do think a minister is just as likely to be a good man as a lawyer. The outcry of the copperheads against Mr. Pike because he is a clergyman, reminds us of the saying of a Maine democratic paper two years ago, in answer to the boast of a republican cotemporary, that a large majority of the members of all Protestant churches were Republicans, —"if the churches and the schools were taken away, there would be nothing left of the Republican party;" to which the other retorted, "we are content to have the churches and the schools, and willingly leave the barrooms and the brothels with the democracy."

We do not protest against the unfounded and slanderous personal attacks which some of our democratic brethren of the press have already commenced against Mr. Pike, (in common with the other Republican candidates,) being fully aware that such is the regularly recognized method of conducting "honorable political warfare" by that party, and that no man's moral or political reputation suffers from an attack in a copperhead paper, but we wonder a little at the surprise they express that the Republican party should (as the democrats say) submit to "church influence," when their own party in many states has been absolutely ruled by one church, and a church whose whole creed is directly opposed to freedom of thought and conscience, at that.

One paper urges the democracy to nominate "true men, whose record is unexceptionable," in order to defeat the republican candidates; but it is rather a puzzle to tell what the democrats regard as an unexceptionable record. Some of them opposed the rebellion; and a rebel will not please that wing of the party, any more than a "war democrat" will the genuine old hold-backs, the true blue bunkers who fancy they may yet live long enough to see the earth roll backward. We suppose that if a man can be found who owns a distillery, who subscribed liberally to the Confederate loan and was Colonel of a rebel regiment when "our Southern brethren" were trying to overthrow freedom, his record will be regarded as "unexceptionable" by the great men of the democratic party, and his nomination be certain. We shall see what we shall see.

THE ADMIRAL AND THE NAVAL STAFF.—A New York journal which is conducted with more ability than regard for truth and justice, and which is one of the few papers of any kind—republican or democratic, neutral, religious or independent—that oppose the demand of the naval staff officers that they shall receive equal rank and pay with the line for equal service, reads the staff a lecture on their duty to their superior officer, the Vice-Admiral, and on their awful sin in injuring the morale of the service by refusing to bow the knee to the legitimate offspring of the Annapolis Naval Academy—class exclusiveness, as manifested in the arrogant assumptions of the fledgelings of the line.

With this opinion of "staff" duty and misconduct we shall not quarrel, nor with the unique idea as to which corps (staff or line) is to blame for the injurious controversy so long existing in our navy. Different people draw different conclusions from the same premises; and some people may consider the peaceable citizen who knocks down an insolent bully for insulting him, as the one who commences the quarrel. We don't.

But the papers to which we refer says plainly that "the one great object of the staff is to prevent Vice-Admiral D. D. Porter's promotion!" and makes about the most specious plea against the staff that we have seen; and it's almost a pity that its statements of facts are false in the first place, and the subsequent deductions consequently worthless as arguments, when so much skill is exhibited in bolstering up a bad cause. The staff certainly cannot have much love or respect for Porter; but to say that their one great object is to keep him from becoming an Admiral, or that they are working to that end, as a body, is as ridiculously false as it would be to say that the great mass of the people and almost the whole press of the country are not opposing such a promotion, heart and soul.

COST OF LIVING.—We have frequently directed the attention of our readers to the remarkable difference in the cost of living between San Francisco and Atlantic cities. Before us lie bills of fare of well-known restaurants in Boston, New York, and San Francisco, from which we cull the following salient points:

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite cerements are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to encounter them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, in a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the orpifying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive o s, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is inimical in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and therefore a course of the Bitters at this season is particularly desirable, especially for the feeble and sickly. As a remedy for biliousness, dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there who lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a place which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Enterprise and Enterprise are located there, and I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The air in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and with this it is natural to generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My patients are saying on their return, that they were able to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say, that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, to go well down into Florida out of reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or places within 20 miles of it, mentioned, or named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce torpidity of the liver than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in Boston, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease, and in the Middle States, the number is largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily impressed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action, I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work for which I required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or slight exposure, is a fool or knave. Nature is relieved of sweats no longer prostrate and nauseated, and the patient gets well, provided he strictly follows my directions.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no chance for them? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to remain in a room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such persons take exercise in the house, in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have saved scores thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the jaws of death by the use of these.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are needed in all cases where a cathartic medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you catch a cold, from any slight change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, peaches, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their system are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me. Medicines can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.
THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.
MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.
MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should be a their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this simple principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

☞ The second reading in Mr. Bartlett's course comes off to-night at Congress Hall, when sketches from "David Copperfield," by Charles Dickens, will be read. This will be one of the most entertaining of the series including as it does the celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Micawber, Poor Pegotty, Ham and Emily—to say nothing of little Dora, the child wife.

THE FAKIR OF VISHNU.—This celebrated magician, (who drew full houses in this city seven years ago,) in connection with other attractions, will appear at the Temple for five nights, commencing on Wednesday evening of this week. The Fakir is pronounced one of the best in the line, and in addition to his performance we are to have one by the noted Marionette Family. Valuable presents will be distributed among the audience each evening. Their advertisement will appear to-morrow.

☞ A drunken driver with a sober horse, was seen on Islington Street, headed westerly, Thursday evening. The horse, being the wiser of the two, was disposed to go homeward, but the biped in the pung was lying back with his feet higher than his head, leaning the latter on the side of the pung, with the reins held taut on the port side. The horse thus guided turned the pung on its axis until he stopped. The drunkard expostulated and a looker-on started the horse ahead again, but the driver bade him "let go them reins," and the horse began his revolutions afresh. Finally the driver's clutch on the reins gave way, and he woke up shortly after at his own door.

FIRE.—On Saturday afternoon, while the wind was blowing hard from the north-west, fire broke out in a shed on Russell Alley, off Russell Street, in which a lot of crockery ware, belonging to Mr. James Burns was stowed. Engine No. 6, from the immediate vicinity, was soon manned, and the fire was kept down until more help arrived, when one end of the burning building was pulled down and the fire was soon extinguished. The shed was situated in close proximity to several other wooden buildings and had not the parties first on the ground worked with skill and will, we should have chronicled a disastrous conflagration. The praise of the Fire Department is on everyone's lips, and to No. 6 are the thanks of our citizens especially due. A few hundred dollars will cover the loss, while it might have been many thousands. Several contiguous buildings caught fire but were speedily wet down.

—It is related by an estimable and very pious lady, whose exertions in every work of charity and benevolence have endeared her to our community, that on her way to Sabbath school one bright sunshiny Sunday morning, she saw several boys, one of whom was a newsboy, seated in a door-way playing cards; one of them was a Sunday school scholar of the lady. She stopped and insisted that they should accompany her to church. After some persuasion the three oldest consented, but the youngest, a lad of some six years, persistently refused. "Why won't you come, my boy?" said the lady; "it is very wrong of you to refuse." "But I don't want to go." "Why, what is the reason?" The impatience of the little fellow waxed desperate, and in an indignant voice he exclaimed, his hand full of cards: "Would you go to Sunday school with a hand full of trumps like that?"—N. O. Pic.

☞ Holyoke, Mass., has had so much small pox that it has voted $4000 to run like pest house.

☞ The debate in the National House of Representatives on the Paraguay affair of Minister Washburne excited great attention. The speeches in favor of the majority resolutions were strong and effective. Mr. Banks said he did not regard the resolutions as a censure of the admirals, but a censure of the Navy department for its assumption of superiority to and independence of the State department in its instructions to naval officers abroad. It was evidently the sentiment of the House that naval officers implicated in this business had failed in the performance of their duty as protectors of the rights of American citizens abroad. The excuse for their conduct made by Mr. Swann of Maryland, that Bliss and Masterman were persons of no prominence and reputation, was severely dealt with by Messrs. Dawes and Voorhees, both of whom asserted that their personal character had nothing to do with the matter, the fact that they were entitled to the protection of the American flag being enough for any officer's guidance. Ex-Minister Washburne was on the floor during the debate on both days, and doubtless feels a degree of satisfaction over the strong approval of his representations given by the votes at the close of the debate. Many members, almost enough to carry the point, were in favor of a stronger expression of disapprobation and censure than the reported resolutions. The temper of representatives was, however, so unmistakably shown that it will doubtless have a strong influence on the bearing and conduct of officers of the navy, and will prevent similar action and inaction in the future. The resolutions censure Admirals Davis and Godon severely.

After refusing—14 to 116—to lay the matter on the table, the House adopted —89 to 26—Mr. Farnsworth's resolution directing a court of inquiry for the trial of Admirals Godon and Davis; 100 to 62, Mr. Orth's dissapproving the the conduct of Admiral Davis in delaying for an unreasonable time to proceed to release Bliss and Masterman, in accepting their release in the manner and under the circumstances detailed in the testimony, and in receiving, holding and treating them as prisoners; 89 to 39 that reported by the committee, declaring Admiral Godon, in neglecting to aid Mr. Washburne to reach the government to which he was accredited, failed to discharge his duty as commander of the South Atlantic Squadron, and the other majority resolutions without a division.

Mr. Maynard's resolution, censuring Captain Ramsey and Lieutenant Commander Kirkland, and Mr. Swann's substitute for a majority report, were rejected, only 14 members voting in their favor.

THE BEST CLAIM.—The bill for the relief of one Best, whose house was burned by order of the commander of the Union forces during the war, passed the Senate by a vote of 27 to 15, after debate at great length on several occasions. Many republicans opposed the bill on the ground that the property was destroyed in actual battle, and the allowance of the claim would be a precedent for a multitude of similar claims entailing an enormous cost on the government. The position of the advocates of the bill was that the property was not destroyed in battle, but was taken possession of and then destroyed for the advantage of the government.

—A gentleman, in his eagerness at the table to answer a call for some apple-pie owing to the knife slipping on the bottom of the dish, found his knuckles buried in the crust, when a wag who sat opposite him very gravely observed whist he held his plate: "Sir, I'll trouble you for a bit while your hand is in."

—News has been brought from Dr. Livingstone that he was at Mozambique, waiting for a homeward bound vessel.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are somewhat subject to severe colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the Pectoral.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 5½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after thus date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

"Where there's a Will there's a Way."

BY ELIZA COOK.

We have faith in old proverbs full surely,
For Wisdom has traced what they tell,
And Truth may be drawn up as purely,
From them as it may from "a well."
Let us question the thinkers and doers,
And hear what they honestly say,
And you'll find they believe like bold wooers,
In "Where there's a will there's a way."

The hills have been high for Man's mounting,
The wood's have been dense for his axe,
The stars have been thick for his counting,
The sands have been wide for his tracks,
The seas has been deep for his diving,
The poles have been broad for his sway,
But bravely he's proved in his striving,
That "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have you vices that ask a destroyer?
Or passions that need your control?
Let Reason become your employer,
And your body be ruled by your soul.
Fight on, though ye bleed in the trail,
Resist with all strength that ye may,
Ye may conquer Sin's host by denial,
For "Where there's a will there's a way."

Have ye Poverty's pinching to cope with?
Does suffering weigh down your night?
Only call up a spirit to hope with.
And dawn may come out of the night.
Oh! much may be done by defying,
The ghost of Despair and Dismay,
And much may be gained by relying
On "Where there's a will there's a way."

Should you see afar off that worth winning,
Set out on the journey with trust;
And ne'er heed if your path at beginning,
Should be among brambles and dust;
Though it is but by footsteps ye do it,
And hardships may hinder and stay,
Keep a heart, and be sure you'll get through it,
For "Where there's a will there's a way."

Communication.

A FAVORITE SECURITY.—The remarkable success which has attended the efforts of Henry Clews & Co. to place the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railway Bonds, is due to many causes, among which are the following:

The road has the best initial point in America, the terminus of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy R. R.—St. Paul and Mankato, the best lumber and grain depots in the land, as its terminal points; and runs through the garden of Cereals, the Cedar Valley, pronounced by geologists as chemically superior to all other lands suitable for bearing Cereals. The axiom necessary to a first class road, 1st, That it begins somewhere, i. e. a place of importance: 2d. Go somewhere; and, 3d. Pass through a fine country, is therefore met.

The traffic of the road in lumber will be immense carrying from the St. Anthony mills in the gondola car, when its double track is finished, for all that great lumberless region south of the St. Peter's River and west of the Mississippi, even to the slopes of the Colorado and Rocky Mountain peaks, and returning over the same track the same gondola car, laden with coal from the Desmoines Valley or from Illinois.

Like the neck of a bottle or sack, this Cedar Valley is the only outlet for the great Northwest, with its 2,000,000,000 acres of the finest wheat lands in the world, the vast railroad system of Minnesota, the coal, iron, copper and timber of the Saskatchewan, Red River and Superior regions.

The road serves more interests than any in the country. St. Paul being by this 45 miles nearer to Chicago, than by any route, and the distance to St. Louis being lessened 90 miles. It serves also no less than thirteen confluents receiving and imparting trade. It is but a continuation of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy R. R., whose stock in its original investments is 260 and upwards. It is but a continuation of the Pennsylvania Central, whereby a locomotive may go out of Jersey City over its bed or track into St. Paul and beyond. The great Southern lines now building and to be built, must pass through this sack's neck up into the Northwest.

It is a fair estimate that every acre of land in Iowa could raise two hogs annually. There are over $35,000,000 acres. Two hogs are worth $50,—making a gross product of $1,750,000,000—such is the capacity of Iowa. A smart Yankee could lease the State, pay off the National Debt in two years and have a snug sum for his trouble. Now this road belts this State across the middle. It is in fact the pride of the State, since instead of serving Chicago only as all other Iowa roads do, it serves Chicago no less, but St. Louis entirely. When manufacturers shall become established along this Cedar Valley, receiving the iron from the North and the cotton from the South, and the coal just at hand in the Desmoines Valley, a population greater than New England must swarm all along the route of this road. The men that are engaged in pushing this road to completion are for probity, power and energy unequaled. The great banking-house of Henry Clews & Co. negotiate the bonds, and so fully convinced are they that a Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Bond is as good as a 5-20, that they offer to buy back, at the price sold, all bonds previous to the placing of these bonds upon the stock board, thus making a market now for the bonds.

The road will be opened within ten days to Cedar Falls, giving a complete connection at once. The earnings on the portion already completed are not far from $8,000 per mile yearly, and when the fragments are connected by completion it is confidently expected the income will be doubled.

Such a bond, bearing interest at 7 per cent. Gold free of U. S. tax, coupon or registered, convertible into stock, and secured by a first mortgage upon a completed road, cannot fail to become a favorite with all capitalists.

All Banks and Banking Institutions throughout this country sell these bonds, at the subscription price of 90, and interest in currency.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

THE RUTA BAGA CROP.—Some of our best farmers annually put in an acre or two of ruta bagas, and thus lay up for a winter a supply of good succulent food that comes into use when they are obliged in a great measure to depend upon dry food only. When the bagas are chopped up and sprinkled with a little corn meal or bran, they are eaten eagerly by cows and steers, and are not only fattening and milk producing, but extremely wholesome. They are raised as easily as a crop of ordinary turnips in drills. The ground must be well prepared and manured deeply, the rows struck about thirty inches apart and the seed drilled in. When up two or three inches the plants should be thinned out, removing the weakest to four or five inches apart, and thoroughly cleared of weeds.

The cultivator should be passed through once or twice carefully. In three or four weeks more another thinning out should take place, allowing the plants to stand eight or ten inches apart. The hoe should be freely used between the plants, and the cultivator between the rows. Frequent stirring of the ground is indispensible in the production of a large crop. They are not removed from the ground before November. We have known eight hundred bushels to be raised to the acre, and have heard of twelve hundred. The seed should be put in the ground from the 15th to the 28th of June. A sod broken up the previous autumn is perhaps the best for this crop. Germantown Telegraph.

A correspondent of the Vermont Journal gives his method of growing ruta baga turnips with corn, as follows:

"First, draw your manure in the spring on sward land, spread and plough under, plough deep, and give the land a through harrowing. Mark with a marker, three feet apart, or some more than that. Take two parts wood ashes, one part plaster, and put your seed into it. Give it a thorough mixing up with a shovel. Drop a good handful in the hill, and plant your corn. The turnips will come up thrifty. The corn can be hoed nearly as quick the first time. Care must be taken not to cover or to cut up the turnips. The next hoeing or hilling they are out of the way, and should be reduced down to one turnip in the hill. If your corn fails, you are sure of a turnip crop. I have tried it successfully. One turnip in the hill does not injure the corn. Hundred of bushels can be raised in this way, paying all the expenses of labor on the corn. Every farmer planting from five to ten acres of corn, can raise from 500 to 1000 bushels of turnips in this manner, which is almon clear gain. Cut up your corn as soon as it is fit, five rows together. Set it around a hill and blind with two bands. Your turnips then have a chance to grow, and stand till very late in the fall. Then take a common hoe and chop off the tops. Then haul the turnips partially out of the ground with the side of the hoe, cut off the top root and give them a toss into rows, which clears them from dirt. You can then pass along with your cart and load for the cellar."

—The Boston Journal says this is the conundrum of the hour:

"The Pilgrim Fathers, where are they?"

And "Puck" replies:

"Where'er they are, Lord, let them stay."

—A fiend in human shape was engaged in planking a sidewalk in a certain western city, when a woman in gorgeous apparel stopped near the scene of his labors to chat with a friend. Her train hung over the edge of the last plank he had put in position, and he quietly slid another one alongside of it and securely spiked it down. The fiend then went away to dinner.

—A scientific lecturer on walking says his experiments show that one side of the body always tends to outwalk the other side. It is not possible when the eyes are shut to walk in a straight line for any length of time, and it will be found, where persons lose their way, that they almost invariably wander off to the right rather than to the left.

—A better speech, for such an occasion, than that of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, on accepting the chair of the State Convention, is not often made. It contains all that need be said before an expectant assemblage of delegates, put into the most terse and elegant form.—Concord Statesman.

—Dr. Lewis in a recent lecture suggested that physicians shall be engaged at a yearly salary, with deductions for illness occuring during the twelve-month. This method has been practiced by the Chinese from time immemorial.

—A Chicago boy, being asked if he had a mother, said he didn't know, as he hadn't been home since morning, and when he left his father and mother were quarrelling, with odds in favor of his father, as he had the hatchet in his hand.

—McKay, the leader of the mail robbers of Central Utah, has been captured.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopeas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammatoin exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD'S Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPRETIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethe, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway, New York.

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and elegant for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1871.

THE WAR.

The armies of France are in motion, the bombardment of Paris goes on and Gen. Trochu is preparing for another sortie.

The Prussians have silenced and made breaches in Forts d'Issy and Vanores.

Gen. Chanzy was reported marching on Paris, last week, while Gen. Bourbaki's force was heading for Germany. Should these armies act simultaneously with Trochu, the Germans before Paris may find their communication with home interrupted, their supplies cut off and a junction of Trochu's and Chanzy's armies probable.

Chanzy's command is reported to be 200,000 strong and ready for action. Reinforcements of 77,000 troops are marching to join them.

The Germans on Friday attacked the French positions at Villebrave, Villepoucher and St. Cyr sur Gault, and afterwards forced the lines at Neuville. The French at night took the offensive, reoccupied all their positions, and entered St Amand. The enemy retired toward Vendome, leaving many wounded and prisoners.

One hundred thousand French have arrived at Harve to equipe for active service. The advance of the French from Havre, which is to be aided by gunboats, awaits the departure of the ice from the Seine.

The Germans are generally withdrawing from the northern department.

Gen. Roy is reported retreating after having been twice beaten on the left bank of the Seine.

The French, however, claim a victory over 10,000 Germans by Gen. Roy's army.

The French approximate the losses in the battle at Bapaume at 9000 Germans and 4000 French. The Germans evacuated Bapaume on Friday.

Gen. Faidherbe is again advancing.

Gen. Bourbaki is marching on Nancy and Belfort.

A battle is imminent between Von Werder and Bourbaki, whom Faidherbe is endeavoring to assist.

Prince Frederick Charles telegraphs that while marching to fight Gen. Chanzy, his force encountered two corps beyond Vendome. A heavy battle was fought; both sides claim the victory. The Prussian loss was heavy.

The Germans captured by the French are sent to the Island of Oberon, on the west coast of France, opposite the mouth of the Charente.

WRECK OF THE SAGINAW. — The United States steamer Saginaw went ashore on the morning of Saturday, Oct. 29th, on Pelan Island, French Frigate Shoals, near Midway Island. From the time the vessel went on until she finally went to pieces on the 14th of November following, a heavy surf prevailed, and in consequence very little could be saved from the wreck. Especially was it difficult to obtain provisions on board, and because of the small quantity saved the officers and crew, ninety in number, were placed on quarter rations, as the island on which they were wrecked furnished no food.

On the 18th of November the executive officer of the Saginaw, Lieutenant Talbot, with some sub-officers, started in a gig for the Sandwich Islands, and on the 18th of December, one month afterwards, came in sight of the Kanai, one of the Sandwich Island group, but all were so exhausted, because of continued privations and suffering, that while attempting to make a landing, Lieutenant Talbot, executive officer, Peter Francis, quartermaster, and James Mure and John Andrews, sailors, were drowned in the surf. Their bodies were subsequently found on the beach and interred.

The survivors immediately took measures to forward to Honolulu the news of their arrival at Kanai and the loss of the Saginaw, and upon receipt of the information the United States minister chartered a Kanai packet, placed a supply of provisions and water on board and despatched her to the relief of the shipwrecked seamen. Two days later the Sandwich Island government placed the steamer Kilsuea at the service of the United States minister, and he immediately dispatched her to the scene of the disaster, where it is hoped she would arrive in season to rescue the officers and crew from death.

☞ Vinnie Ream's statute of Lincoln has arrived in Washington.

—"Fancy," said Sidney Smith to some ladies, when he was told that one of the giraffes at the Zoological Garden had caught cold, "a giraffe with two yards of sore throat."

New Hampshire Items.

There are 2000 French Canadians in Nashua.

The Nashua Gazette looks well in its new dress.

Scarlet fever is prevalent in Exeter.

Great Falls is projecting a brass band.

The receipts of the last Rockingham County Fair warrant the payment of only 42 per cent. of the money premiums awarded. It is thought that the present Society will be abandoned and a new one formed, as many members of the Society favor such a course.

Mrs. Pamelia Brown, aged 83 years, attempted to light a kerosene lamp with coal of fire, at the Amherst Town Farm, Saturday evening; the lamp exploded, setting her clothes on fire and burning her flesh to a crisp. She died in an hour after the accident.

Isaac W. Johnson, a master mechanic connected with the Vale Mills in Nashua, was stabbed in the bowels, on Saturday afternoon, by William Joslyn the superintendent. It seems that Joslyn has been in the employ of the company but a few weeks, and that in showing off his authority, he discharged Johnson and demanded the keys in his possession. Johnson replied that he did not acknowledge his authority and declined to deliver the keys except on an order from Benjamin Saunders, proprietor of the mills, whereupon Joslyn thrust a knife into him and walked away. Mr. Johnson is very low and there is but little hope of his recovery.

A PERILOUS TRIP ON NIAGARA RIVER.—At about four o'clock Sunday afternoon, two sons of Mr. Joseph F. Smith, a well known resident of Grand Island, started from his residence, a little above La Salle, to come across the river to visit an uncle at the latter place. The eldest of the two, named Eugene, was a young married man, aged twenty-three years; the youngest, Henry, a lad aged nine. The boat in which they attempted to cross was a light skiff, utterly incapable of resisting the huge pieces of ice that flowed increasingly down with the tide, and they had not proceeded far out into the stream when they saw that it would be impossible to make the journey, and they therefore attempted to turn back; but all their efforts to guide the skiff either way proved unavailing, and despite their exertions they were swept down the river, past La Salle, and on still further with such rapidity that all hope was for a moment dispelled, and they gave vent to loud and continued cries, which were heard on both sides of the river. A mile or more below La Salle, Mr. Tompkins put out with a small boat to rescue them, but he was obliged to turn back in order to save his own life.

The frail craft, with its two half-frozen occupants, kept on drifting down, and the boys soon expected to find themselves in the rapids; but when near Schlosser they encountered a small island in the middle of the river, which turned the course of their boat in towards the American shore, where, they landed a little before nine o'clock. Although stiff with ice and worn out with shouting the lads managed to get upon shore, and attempted to drag their boat after them; but there being two tons or more of ice attached to the sides and bottom they were obliged to leave it to take care of itself. They then walked to Niagara Falls, a distance of about four miles, where they spent the night. Monday forenoon they came up on the Niagara Falls train as far as Tonawanda, and from thence recrossed the river and went home to astonish and gratify their friends by the assurance of their singularly providential escape from death.—Buffalo Express, Dec. 28.

☞ Smith, the colored West Point Cadet, is in trouble again, charged with lying and with conduct unbecoming a gentleman, and will probably be expelled from the institution. Can any one ask more conclusive proof that men with black skins are unfit for liberty and the franchise?—Three white cadets have also got into trouble by lying, and have run away from the military school to escape being court-martialed; and their names also are to be stricken from the rolls. Their conduct proves conclusively that white men are unfit for liberty and the franchise.

FATE.

BY BRET HARTE.

"The sky is clouded, the rocks are bare;
The spray of the tempest is white in air;
The winds are out with the waves at play,
And I shall not tempt the sea to-day."

"The trail is narrow, the wood is dim,
The panther clings to the arching limb;
And the lion's whelps are abroad at play,
I shall not join in the chase to-day."

But the ship sailed safely over the sea,
And the hunter came from the chase in glee,
And the town that was builded upon a rock,
Was swallowed up in the earthquake shock.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

☞ $1,000 Reward will be paid by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical discovery for a medicine that will equal it in curing all the diseases for which it is recommended. It acts promptly upon the liver, removing torpor or "Billiousness" Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite casements are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to encounter them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, to a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the orpifying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive o s, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is inimical in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and therefore a course of the Bitters at this season is peculiarly desirable, especially for the feeble and sickly. As a remedy for billiousness, dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawje2

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by DR. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I do not understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the Gulf States, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is the place I recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and is dry and healthy. Melionville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Enterprise, as it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in health, and then the things must be had.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than when living in a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to the frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of travelling east winds. I have the Art, from a long experience, that no other of the localities I have named, will benefit the sick quite as much as Florida. Rapid livers, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week, and my practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. I find the combination of the Pills with the Syrup, generally do all required. The accompaniment of a good appetite, the physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a "feather on his hands before long."

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give the liver a good shock,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to get hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it comes flesh, which is the place, although by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer persist in making a visit, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within doors, and if he wants to walk out, let him do so as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go there you will, you will be disappointed, unless you some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

As to the Mandrake Pills as I use them, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than any other pills, and are none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is needed. If you have pimples on the face, or foul breath, and diarrhœa comes, a dose of the Mandrakes will generally set you right. If you are subject to sick headache, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may think what you will, and eat mince pies, pickles, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the rudiments of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils a Public Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio; he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a thorough and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

☞ We are glad to greet our old friend and schoolmate, Mr. Charles E. Moses, who is now on a visit home after an absence of eleven years in California, Arizona, Idaho and other places. Mr. Moses is now connected with the Indian Department in Idaho.

☞ Mrs. M. E. Tilton of Kittery, with her juvenile singing class, assisted by the choirs of the Christian and Universalist churches of that town, will give a concert on Thursday evening at the Second Christian church. The programme includes a cantata by C. A. White, to be performed by the lady's scholars.

☞ Notwithstanding there has been no sleighing, Messrs. Came Brothers of this city have sold a considerable number of sleighs this season. And they are preparing for a large carriage trade next summer. Their works, with the recent enlargement, are now so extensive that they can manufacture a fine carriage complete each day. For a concern that has been established but two years, Came Brothers have now much favor and celebrity.

REV. G. W. BICKNELL'S TEMPERANCE LECTURE in the Universalist Church, Sunday evening, was an able and extremely interesting effort in behalf of a noble cause. The speaker took his stand squarely on an anti-rum platform, and drew vivid pictures of the misery and disasters caused by the use of intoxicating drinks, by people of all grades of society; he spared neither statesmen, or soldiers, sailors or landsmen. His strictures on the effects of intemperance upon the generals and naval officers of high rank, making them "play such fantastic tricks" before the world as no sober man could be guilty of, several times provoked smiles on the faces of his hearers; and many of them found their eyes moistening as they listened to some tale of bitter agony that was caused directly by the traffic in rum. The church was filled with an earnestly attentive audience, and the general impression among them was that such lectures must be good in assisting to rouse the community to a sense of the great moral guilt of supporting the soul-destroying liquor trade, or in not opposing it.

YORK.—Dr. J. S. Putnam of York, Me., has furnished us with an interesting Bill of Mortality in that town for the year 1870. From this it appears that York must be a good place to live in, for those who desire to attain a green old age. The whole number of deaths for the year was forty, twenty males and twenty females; two children died, one aged two months and the other two years; but the average age of the forty reaches the extraordinary limit of 54 1-4 years! We question if another town can be easily found whose record will compare with this for longevity. We are unable to give the list entire, but present the number of persons who died in each month, with their respective ages:

January, 4; aged 60, 78, 79, 58.
February, 4; 61, 78, 65, 70.
March, 4; 15, 23, 38, 73.
April, 2; 71, 65.
May, 3; 74, 62, 30.
June, 6; 35, 98, 70, 74, 57, 35.
July, 2; 25, 83.
August, 2; 58, 2 months.
September, 3; 32, 87, 30.
October, 5; 83, 32, 2, 29, 78.
December, 5; 31, 89, 83, 68, 25.

Six persons died of heart affections, five of whom were over 60 and four upward of 74; two were drowned, two died of dropsy, seven of consumption, three of cancer, two of internal schirrous disorder, two of typhoid and two of puerperal fever, one of chronic diarrhœa, three of old age (98, 83 and 87 years,) two suddenly (aged respectively 89 and 78,) one each of epilepsy, marasmus, paralysis, inflammation of the brain and infantile disease, of bronchitis two, and from cause unknown two. Of the forty who died twenty-five were over 50 years of age, twenty-two over 60, fifteen 70 and upwards, six over 80, and one over 99.

York is certainly a place where a moderate population does a great deal of living. Our venerable contributor is no longer a young man, but we wish all our correspondents wrote as steady and legible a hand as he does—we should not then be so often shocked at the muttered remarks of our compositors as they leave the sanctum after enquiring the meaning of some strange hieroglyphic.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ There will be preaching at the Christian Church on Court Street this (Tuesday) evening. All invited.

☞ The Festival and Old Folks Concert comes off at Congress Hall this evening. A social time is expected.

☞ The friends and patients of Dr. S. C. Whittier will be pleased to learn that having recovered from his recent severe illness he is again attending to his professional duties, and is to be found at his office, No. 5 Congress Street, as formerly.

☞ The Fakir of Vishnu of "auld acquaintance" will appear at the Temple, to-morrow night. He performed before large houses on Saturday afternoon and evening at New Bedford. The Fakir has made himself immensely popular there by his fairness.

☞ By vote of the last year's Aldermen, a small but convenient room has been fitted up for use of the Board of Engineers, in the City Building, adjoining the City Marshal's room, which was occupied by the Engineers on New Year's; and there for the first time, the Fire Department have neat and comfortable headquarters of their own.

☞ Agreeably to a City Ordinance, most of the City Officers are to be elected on the 12th instant, (the second Thursday in January;) and the election of all was postponed until that date, probably, by the Board of Aldermen. Notwithstanding the usual buncombe talk of reform, by the Opposition, we presume the present faithful and efficient encumbents will be re-elected.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—Friday evening, January 6, Hoosac Division No. 25, Sons of Temperance, of Kensington, was visited by B. F. Thorndike, G. W. P., and L. Augustus Fletcher, G. C. of New Hampshire, and the following officers were installed:—

A. G. M. Titcomb, W. P., Martha W. Brown, W. A., Henry C. Tuck, R. S., Susie L. Brown, A. R. S., Ellen F. Wadleigh, F. S., Chas. E. Tuck, Treasurer, W. W. Shaw, Chaplain, B. F. Austin, Con., Anna E. Wadleigh, A. C., Daniel E. Palmer, I. S., Harrison Rowe, O. S.

The Grand Officers were most hospitably received and entertained, and their kind reception by Hoosac will long be remembered. They found the Division in a healthy and flourishing condition, numbering over 100 members, all wide-awake in the cause of Temperance, and not a dram-shop in the town! Good for Kensington. Would to God the same might be said for our own Portsmouth.

What crimes, what follies have been perpetrated for rum. A river of alcohol rolls through our land, sweeping away honor, health and happiness with its remorseless tide. The genius of accidents and the bad angel of offences, worship thee, O! Rum. Thou art the inggernant beneath whose wheels millions throw themselves in blind adoration.

The rum-seller says, whilst thy tide rolls on, I am sure to thrive. Look at the ghastly train which marks thy progress: apoplexy, palsy, dropsy, delirium-tremens, consumption and madness! Yes, great is thy power! Thou sweepest over the world with the wing of the pestilence. Thy breath is that of a plague. And where the graveyard is heaped up with mouldering bones, where disease and death prevail in their most hideous forms, where misery is most keenly felt, and poverty is most pinching, where the wails of hopeless children ascend to heaven in vain appeals against the cruelty of inhuman parents, where all is sorrow, suffering and want—there are thy triumphs and thy victories. L. A. F.

NEW MUSIC.—O. Ditson & Co. have just published the new song, The Heathen Chinee; song and chorus, Kiss the Little Ones at Home; song and dance, Little Green Veil; ballad, Irish Air Castles: and Agnes Polka, Les Brigands Lanciers; Winter Evening Waltz, for the piano. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the roses of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this remedy for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed to be fastening upon the lungs, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the diseases of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40 000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, on a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB.

Little Mary had a lamb,
Its fleece was snowy white,
That followed her around all day,
And slept by her at night.

Once Mary's little lamb was small,
But now it is not so,
For Mary's pretty little pet,
Has had a chance to grow.

One day it went with her to school:
They tried to put it out,
Which made the little girls all laugh,
The boys all raised a shout.

The teacher was a little man;
His face was cross and red;
He had but little hair upon
His bald and shiny head.

The scholars all enjoyed the sport,
And thought it jolly fun
To see the teacher jump about—
He wasn't built to run.

He wiped his forehead, shook his cane;
Then roughing up his hair,
He mutter'd, and a scholar said
"She thought she heard him swear."

An inkstand at the lamb he threw,
Then a three-legged stool;
And such an angry man before,
Was never seen in school.

The fleece that once was snowy white,
With ink was covered o'er—
And Mary's lamb was never seen
In such a plight before.

The teacher ran till out of breath;
And then could run no more;
While desks and benches round him lay
Upset upon the floor.

And when he could not catch the lamb,
He called upon the boys,
Who chased it all around the room,
And made a dreadful noise.

And still it ran around the room,
And did not seem to tire,
Until at last the stove upset,
And set the house on fire.

The bells then rang, the firemen came,
And made a dreadful noise;
They quenched the fire, and saved the girls,
And nearly all the boys.

When Mary missed her little lamb,
She raised a dreadful wail;
Just then a fireman pulled it out,
And saved it by the tail.

EPIZOOTIC APHTHA.—The Newburyport Herald says this disease (hoof and mouth disease) has appeared in that vicinity; ten cattle on one farm in Oldtown having been stricken with the disease on Sunday and Monday. The farmer whose herd is thus diseased had handled a cow from a drove which was sick, and in this way had communicated it to his own herd. The Selectmen of Newbury met on Monday and took measures for the prevention of the further spread of the disease. The milk from the sick cow is destroyed, so there need be no particular alarm at present from diseased milk, although judging from the rapidity with which the contagion has spread thus far, it would not be surprising if all the cattle in New England should be affected by it in the course of the year.

It spread throughout Great Britain thirty years ago, and there was scarcely a parish in the kingdom which escaped. There, it was not confined to cattle, but affected sheep, swine, deer, poultry, cats and rabbits. At the same time, and before and after, influenza prevailed among the horses. The temperature and the weather seemed to have but little influence upon the disease, nor was one kind of locality more exempt than another. The disease is not often fatal, and readily yields to medical treatment. Its worst result is the loss of the use of the cattle for the time and the debilitated state in which they are left, from which it takes some time to recover.

The cattle throughout Uxbridge and Mendon in Massachusetts are extensively diseased, the infection having been brought from Brighton. Within a few days the disease has appeared in Woonsocket and Smithfield, Rhode Island. In one case a farmer introduced it into his herd by borrowing a pair of oxen from a neighbor. In another case a farmer after offering a pail of meal to his cows, who refused to eat, gave it to his horses, who are now sick with the disease. In a third case the hogs are represented as attacked. A few of the cattle first attacked, are said to be recovering.

On the other hand the milk from infected cows is said to produce serious sickness. According to one statement the drooping from the mouth of cattle before appearance of the apthons, sores or blisters amount to "a pailful." There seems a probability, therefore, that the contagion should be spread even by cattle passing over the public thoroughfares.

The town of Uxbridge last week forbade the driving of cattle into or through the town.

The disease is alarmingly prevalent in Eastern Massachusetts and Eastern New York.

REMEDY FOR CANCER.—Col. Ussery of the parish of De Soto, informs the editor of the Caddo Gazette that he fully tested a remedy for this troublesome disease, recommended to him by a Spanish woman, a native of the country. The remedy is this: Take an egg and break it, pour out the white, retaining the yolk in the shell, put in salt and mix with the yolk as long as it will receive it; stir them together until the salve is formed; put a portion of this on a piece of sticking plaster and apply it to the cancer about twice a day. He has tried the remedy twice in his own family with entire success.—N. O. Picayune.

It has also been tried in two cases in Rhode Island with perfect success. Such a remedy is within the reach of every one, and should be known to the whole world.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR
FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.
This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.
1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.
In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

AN EXCELLENT FERTILIZER.—We advise those who have farms and gardens to cultivate, to prepare as large a quantity of this fertilizer as they possibly can. It embraces in its composition quite every element required in the growth and maturation of roots and the cereal grains; and it has the advantages of being comparatively cheap and easily prepared. No fertilizer we have yet devised—and we have prepared and experimented with a large number—affords more certain and satisfactory results than this one; and those who prepared and used it last season are extravagant in their praises of it. It supplies a most desirable dressing for fruit-trees and vines. We use no other fertilizer for our grapes; and if any of our friends have had better results in their cultivation than we have, it will afford us pleasure to publish their successes. The method of preparing the fertilizer is as follows:—

Take one barrel of pure, finely-ground bone, and mix with it a barrel of good wood ashes; during the mixing, add gradually about three pailsful of water. The heap may be made upon the floor of an outbuilding, or upon the barn floor; and, by the use of a hoe, the bone and ashes must be thoroughly blended together. The water added is just sufficient to liberate the caustic alkalies, potash, and soda; and these react upon the gelatine of the bone, dissolving the little atoms, forming a kind of soap, and fitting it for plant aliment.

It must be used in small quantities, or in the same way as the so-called superphosphates. A barrel of this mixture is worth two of any of the commercial fertilizers, and the cost will be but about half as much. It remains to be added; if the bone-meal and ashes are very dry, four pailfuls of water may be required; but care must be exercised not to have it inconveniently moist. It will be ready for use in a week after it is made. Pure, raw, finely-ground bone, and the best of ashes should be employed.—Jour. of Chem.

—The effect of the long drought has begun to be seriously felt in Jersey City, where the supply of water for the upper portion of the city has entirely failed, and that for the entire city was not expected to last through the day. We shudder for Jersey City if things come to such a pass that they have to take their whiskey clear.

—A Bridgeport dog has broken a four hundred dollar light of glass, and thus in an instant destroyed more pane than some doctors would do in a lifetime.

—Those who raise their own pork will please remember that "the pen is mightier than the sward."

—Whatever potatoes you may plant next spring, don't neglect to put in early rows.

BACK-ACHE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE URINARY ORGANS, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, or any affections that interfere with the functions of these organs always cause great pain and weakness in the small of the back and loins. To relieve this, a diuretic medicine is necessary.

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

have been thoroughly tested for the past thirty-eight years, and pronounced the most efficient diuretic ever discovered. They are purely vegetable and contain no mercury. Sold by druggists. Sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cts. per box.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it. Free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1851.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms; Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, Impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway, New York.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and elegant for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for useful uses by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1871.

THE WAR.

An engagement took place on Thursday, in the neighborhood of Langres, between a portion of the army of Garibaldi and a detached column from the command of Prince Frederick Charles, in which the former claims to have been victorious, and to have driven the Prussians off the field.

A sharp engagement occurred at Clamart, 5 miles south of Paris, between several French batallions and a Prussian force. The latter attacked and carried the French position with considerable loss.

Gens. Bourbaki and Garibaldi are premeditating a united attack by both armies on the positions occupied by Gen. Von Werder at Vessoul.

Rouen has been almost entirely evacuated by the Prussian troops since the victory of Gen. Ray's French troops on Thursday.

Gen. Bourbaki reports a successful march thus far on Belfort, in which he has repeatedly beaten the Germans opposing him. He fought a heavy battle at Mont Bellard, capturing the German encampment and considerable quantities of munitions of war. This capture is one of the utmost importance to the success of Bourbaki's enterprise against Belfort, as the camp of Mont Bellard covered the parallels defending the approaches to Belfort, and these being removed, the path to the latter city now lies open to the French troops. The command of Garibaldi is now operating on the Swiss frontier.

A detachment of 25,000 troops has left Lyons, en route for the army of Bourbaki, with which they will join and co-operate in a united attack on the German forces within the city.

A detachment of the army investing Belfort stormed the village of Danpontin, south of that city, on Saturday, and took 700 prisoners.

CONGRESS.

The Senate went into executive session at an early hour on Monday, and the nomination of Admiral Porter was first on the calendar. A motion to adjourn was carried after a little preliminary business, the purpose of the move being to avoid action on Porter's case. The contest over the matter is now reduced to securing a day in executive session before the House bill abolishing the rank of Admiral can be reached in open session.

The House refused to call up the San Domingo resolutions, three less than two-thirds voting to take it from the table.

New Publications Received.

McDonald's Illustrated Annual for 1871 is of large quarto size, each page illustrated with engravings. Among the contributors are Grace Greenwood, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Joseph P. Thompson, D. Nelson C. Hobbs, of the firm of Chick & Hobbs, fell from a chair on Friday morning at Great Falls, ruptured a blood-vessel, and died Monday morning. He was a prominent member of the Masonic order.

Captain S. Soper of Bedford, fell from a scaffold in his barn, a few days since, and was serious injured.

Two children of Mr. James B. Palmer, in Durham, were fatally burned, in the absence of their mother, a few days since.

Benjamin F. Brown of Moultonborough, the Centre Harbor fire-bug, has been committed to the county jail at Ossipee on two charges of incendiarism. There are two charges of the same character against Brown, which will be brought before the grand jury of Belknap county. Brown is charged with several attempts to burn the village of Centre Harbor. The fires laid to him destroyed $20,000 worth of property before they could be stopped.

Only 31 degrees below zero at Lancaster, Tuesday.

CLIPPINGS.—A former Portsmouth editor, now of the New Haven Lever, (democratic,) is in a chronic state of warfare with the Hartford Post, (republican,)—or rather, the Post keeps up a steady fire at the Lever, whose editor long ago found out that his famous "democratic thunder" was not of sufficient calibre to make an even fight against his antagonist's ready repartee and often bitter sarcasm, and drew out of the contest. The Post man, however, pitches an occasional hot shot at him by way of reminder. We give a few specimens:

The most disgusting sight under the broad canopy of heaven, is a Southern Democrat or old line Whig, who, after having been insulted, abused and outraged in every possible way by carpet-baggers, military satraps and northern cut-throats and scoundrels of every degree, meekly bows his head, falls upon his knee-pans and "accepts the situation."—Lever.

And the most soul-inspiring spectacle in the world is a Northern copperhead who never had spunk enough or soul enough to risk his own person or half a dollar in money in support of a rebellion he pretended to believe in, standing round when the danger is all over, cursing and abusing those who risked and lost all, because they gave up so soon.—Post.

The New Haven Lever, speaking of D. L. Yulee of Florida, who was a democratic United States senator in 1861, and now "accepts the situation," to the disgust of The Lever, says in a moralizing way, "Thus do some specimens of mankind seem to be created with the peculiar faculty of swallowing themselves." If some others had that faculty, the wonder would be not so much at the swallowing feat as that their own stomachs could bear them.—Post.

The New Haven Lever says, "Our own judgment is that the best idea of 'hell upon earth' can be obtained by trying to live and be what is called 'respectable' in any modern city." So, now, that's what ails him. But we are afraid that he mistakes the cause of his trouble. It isn't "trying to be respectable"—that's too thin—it is trying to edit a democratic paper in New Haven, where, between the troubles and the jim-jams, life becomes a weariness and the grasshopper is a burden.—Post.

AN ACT THAT HEAVEN SMILES ON.—The annual dinner to the "fallen women" of Boston has just been given by one of the city missions. The ladies were served by some of the first ladies of the city, and it is said that some of the unfortunates were much affected by the attention paid them.

DOUBLY USEFUL.—Dogs are regularly quoted now in the Paris provision markets. We have always felt confident, says an exchange, that the time would come when a nobler use would be found for the mild-eyed poodle than tying him on a pole to wash windows with.

MUSICAL.—Out West they tell a story about a dog which was greatly interested in music, which attended a singing-school, and was subsequently found in the back-yard with the music, book in front of him, beating time with his tail on a tin pan, howling "Old Hundred."

OLD ISRAEL.—In all their wanderings it seems the Israelites preserved the purity of their language, for the command "Flee to your tense, oh Israel," was given that they might escape the sin tax of the Egyptians.

GETTING READY FOR 4TH OF JULY.—A young man in St. Louis went into a toy store, picked up a nitro-glycerine torpedo, and tried to bite it. He succeeded, and his dentist will furnish a new set of teeth.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite cassements are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to withstand them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, in a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the orpifying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive o s, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is inimical in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and therefore a course of the Bitters at this season is particularly desirable, especially for the feeble and sickly. As a remedy for biliousness, dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawje2

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by Dr. R. GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. dawm2m9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Into such a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the dry and healthy Melloneville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Melloneville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and prices somewhat lower, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally improve in flesh, and then the lungs mend well.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where they live, on account of the temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a person exposes himself to the severest and frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of whistling east winds and fogs, to Melloneville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years, prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that "live oak" is not rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third or one-fourth of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands annually carried off. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about yellow fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation of a cough, which settles on the lungs, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I never recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and, then advises the patient to walk out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to cure the disease, not cough,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is the best of cures by a healthy of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate the patient, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, that they never be tied to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which will cause he kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go thou and do likewise. As far as Mandrake Pills are some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

As far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have a cold, or the grippe, or fever, and diarrhœa causes, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp atmospheres, chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.
THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward wherever required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.
MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.
MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should be their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, to Teacher and pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

☞ Mrs. Colman's temperance lecture is necessarily postponed until further notice. Rev. C. M. Dinsmore closes the course by the ministers, next Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

☞ A full attendance is requested at an important meeting of the Mercantile Library Association and Y. M. D. Club at the Brick Vestry on Fleet St., this (Wednesday) evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

NAVAL.—Second Assistant Engineer James A. Deaver has reported for duty on board the U. S. Tug Speedwell, which is to cruise on this coast under command of Lieut. G. R. Durand, for the purpose of aiding vessels in distress.

☞ By invitation of the citizens of Greenland, Rev. Mr. DeNormandie delivered his lecture upon "the Sea," at the Congregational Meeting House, in that town, Monday evening. Our rural neighbors speak of the lecture in as high terms as their city friends, but no better of it than it deserves.

☞ We call attention to the advertisement of the Fakir of Vishnu in another column. He commences a five nights' engagement at the Temple, this evening. He is very highly complimented by the press. The Poughkeepsie Eagle of Dec. 5, 1870, has the following:—

The Fakir of Vishnu closed his engagement at Pine Hall on Saturday night, when it was filled by the largest crowd we ever saw there. The $500 piano fell into the hands of Mr. R. E. Southwick.

☞ We are requested to annnouce that there will be a meeting of the Philharmonic Society at G. A. R. Hall this evening at half past seven o'clock, at which the attendance of every member who is averse to the dissolution of the Society is earnestly desired. At the last adjourned meeting, owing to a variety of attractions in other places, but a small proportion of the members were present; but this evening a full meeting is expected, and decisive action in favor of continuing is hoped for.

DICKENS, as represented by Mr. Bartlett, in his Readings from David Copperfield, at Congress Hall Monday evening, was highly enjoyed by a full audience of our best people; and it is sufficient to say, that the reader of the evening was eminently worthy even the great author whose genius he so successfully essayed to portray, and the several characters assumed were skillfully and to the life presented. We regard Mr. Bartlett as one of the best readers and characterizers we ever heard.

☞ The annual meetings of the several National Banks throughout the county were held on Friday.

The Directors of the First National Bank of Portsmouth were re-elected as follows: W. H. Y. Hackett, Wm. M. Shackford, Ichabod Goodwin, John Stavers, Wm. L. Dwight, William H. Hackett.

The stockholders of the Rockingham National Bank elected Messrs. J. M. Tredick, Geo. W. Haven, Wm. P. Jones, Wm. F. Parrott, John S. H. Frink and John J. Pickering as Directors.

ANOTHER FAILURE.—The miserable apology for a fire-bug who operates in Hunking Street has made his fourth failure at getting up a fire in that locality. His last attempt was made between Saturday night and Monday morning last, in the house of S. L. Russell, the same he has previously experimented on. A partly burned candle was found in close proximity to paper which had been soaked with kerosene; and the wretch had evidently tried to place it so that it would fall against and ignite the paper, but it luckily tumbled the other way and was extinguished by its own grease. The rascal, when he gets caught, should receive a liberal term in the State Prison, for he not only renders property in the vicinity of Hunking Street insecure, but endangers the lives of human beings.

ANOTHER BUSINESS ENTERPRISE.—The Rockingham Co-operative Boot and Shoe Company was organized in this city on Monday, Jan. 9, by the choice of the following officers: President, J. Albert Sanborn; Vice President, Joseph Sanborn; Secretary and Treasurer, L. V. Newell; Directors, Charles Proven, Benjamin R. Walker, William E. Roberts.

The reasons for forming the new Company and the objects they hope to attain, are set forth in the preamble to their Constitution and By-laws, as follows:

1st. To raise by the voluntary subscriptions of its members, a fund to enable them to purchase stock and material necessary for the manufacture of boots and shoes, and to thereby carry on the business of making and selling in common with other manufacturers.

2d. To obtain for every practical worker on boots and shoes, belonging to this association, the just products of their labor; to protect its members from injurious, false and forced competition; to check the pernicious practice of over selfish manufacturers, who are frequently endeavoring to secure the markets at the price of great distress and poverty amongst their employees; and by the abolishment of other abuses, to create a steady demand and insure a fair compensation for our toil.

3d. To invite the investment of capital on a basis where the risks of the same are greatly lessened by the increased zeal, economy and efficiency of co-operative labor, to adjust the relationship of capital and labor, whereby the uses of each may be acknowledged and the rights of both respected; and to demonstrate that, as it is acknowledged practically, that the opportunity which capital gives and the means which labor furnishes are co-operative until the result is reached, it would be for the interest of both, if the result—or profits—were made co-operative also.

4th. Claiming as we do, that labor is capital, and the only capital capable of reproducing itself; that it is the interest underlying all other interests, and that it is the duty of society and legislation to protect and encourage it; and believing that in co-operation is to be found the proper and most efficient remedy for the present iniquitous system of wages, which concedes to labor only so much of its own productions as shall make comfortable living a bare possibility, and places education and social refinement beyond its reach—we therefore invite all workers on boots and shoes to join us in this effort to secure through the power of organization, both for ourselves and our children, ter us, that position in society which as wealth producers and loyal citizens we are justly entitled to.

The capital stock of the Association is to be $6000, in 60 shares of $100 each; but it may be increased by the investment of accumulation of unpaid wages or the re-investment of dividends, to an unlimited extent. The maximum number of shares to be held by any member or association is ten, and no stockholder can transfer his or her stock without first tendering the same to the Company at its par value, and thirty days' notice must be given of an intention to transfer stock.

The Company are to occupy the building on the corner of State and Water Streets, belonging to Hon. Frank Jones, who has generously offered it rent free to the new organization till Spring, when he proposes to remodel it, adapting it to the wants of the Company, and other parties who may wish to occupy it for manufacturing purposes. This encouragement of working men in a legitimate endeavor to better their condition is another evidence of public spirit rightly directed; and we take much pleasure in recording Mr. Jones' liberality—a great deal more than we should in announcing the success of his political party.

The members of the association are mostly practical workman, nearly all young men and energetic and enterprising, as their present action shows; and they will have the good will and encouragement of all who desire to see our city prosper. The great question of reconciling the interests of capital and labor may yet be satisfactorily solved by co-operation, which will give to each laborer what he earns—and not what he earns, minus so much as will enrich the employer. When labor has shown that it can employ itself, the long war between the capitalist and the laborer will be near its end; each will recognized the value of the other, and "strikes" and "lockouts" will be matters of history.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this remedy for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed to be settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and, disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4¾ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9¼ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

NAVAL RANK AND ARISTOCRACY.

We understand that the long postponed question of rank in the Navy is to be taken up and definitely settled by Congress. Members of both Houses are now convinced that they should themselves determine this whole matter, instead of as hitherto, leaving it to whims and caprice, the selfish pride and caste feeling of an utterly irresponsible and autocratic power. Late developments have very plainly proved how necessary it has become for Congress to reassume its wonted exercise of authority with regard to naval affairs, and the Navy Department itself has been reorganized and placed upon an altogether different basis, very much to the credit of the present intelligent and self-reliant Secretary, and to the more efficient and economical administration of the naval service.

Amongst the much that is found necessary to reverse we earnestly call attention to the matter of Staff rank in the Navy. The gentlemen holding this rank have for the past two years suffered much from the degradation and humiliation put upon them by the unjust reduction of their rank and pay. Congress should promptly restore them to their original rank, and place it upon a respectable, firm and legal basis. Staff officers should by law be given a rank similar to that of the Line of the Navy, a rank equally respectable and valuable, and, relatively, equally high with that enjoyed by the Staff Corps in foreign services.

All caste distinctions between the Line and Staff of the Navy, discriminating in favor of the former as a superior or aristocratic class, and against the latter as inferiors — "civilians," "non-combatants," as certain Line officers ungenerously style those who share with them the perils of "the battle and the breeze"—are absurd and unjust, and, above all, unrepublican and undemocratic. All these distinctions should be done away. It is well known by those familiar with the service that the Staff officers of the Navy are in all respects the equals of the officers of the Line. The needs and best interests of the Navy, and of the Government itself, require that these Staff positions, equally with those of the Line, shall be filled by first-class men, possessed of the very best professional knowledge, the brightest capacity and strictest integrity, and the highest skill and intelligence.

They entered the Navy in their best youth, bringing with them their already acquired knowledge. Their education and fitness for their respective positions were the result of their own personal achievement, at the cost of years of their own time, money and persevering industry, and not, as in the case of Line officers, at Government charges. Sadly disappointed and mortified at the unexpected and undreamed-of treatment they have latterly been subjected to at the hands of their brother officers of the Line, and by the strange neglect of Congress and of those whose duty it is to provide for the well-being of all alike in the service, these men are resigning their once-coveted positions and are returning to civil life as fast as opportunities offer.

But how shall their places be filled? How can young men of this character be expected to seek them when there are really no inducements whatever held out to them—when it is known, on the contrary, that entrance into the naval service of the United States as Surgeon, or Engineer, or Paymaster, or Chaplain, now involves certain degradation and positive subjection to a caste class; and further, that it now involves inferior or second-class rank, position and pay? Manifestly they will not willingly begin their career by entering what are thus made second-rate positions when, by remaining in civil life, they may be the peers of any under the broad heavens. Their country's Navy, on such poor terms, is not fit sphere for such as these, who have "all the world before them where to choose." And how long, at this rate, we ask, will it be ere the whole Staff of the naval service shall inevitably be lowered so far that charlatanism, incompetency and dishonesty, ignorance and want of skill must be the rule therein? The whole Navy must, of course, in such case suffer correspondingly. Line officers should themselves be the first to feel and acknowledge this, for what seriously affects for evil one or more branches of the service must of necessity damage and deteriorate the whole sooner or later.

It is most strange and unaccountable to us that Staff officers in the American Navy are honored and appreciated less under our republican form of Government than their confreres in the navies and armies of the monarchies of Europe. But it is even so. And stranger still, while the aristocratic principle, as manifested in the national arms of monarchical Europe, is latterly more than ever on the wane, it is on the increase in the Navy of our Republic. Before the war, it is well known that Naval Staff officers ranked equally with Line officers, with the sole exception of the one highest grade of rank then known in the Navy. Staff officers now have five grades of rank above them, the very highest to which they can attain being the sixth order of rank. They have nothing whatever by way of rank, &c., to show appreciation on the part of the Government of their war services, equally sharing as they did the perils and labors of the Line. The modest rank they had was not long since arbitrarily taken from them by irresponsible Line power, and they were shamefully reduced in rank, and, still worse, even this pitiful rank was rendered absolutely valueless, and their few privileges steadily limited, by "regulations" emanating from the same arbitrary and irresponsible power. In short, the aristocratic principle was fully established, and now obtains in our democratic Navy.

Now, is it too much to hope that this studied degradation of brother officers should be sternly rebuked by Congress, the only proper power to legislate for the Navy, and that the hitherto all-prevailing Line influence and power, as well as their officious meddling and urging upon Congress bills for Staff rank, drafted by themselves, should now be effectually put an end to? And finally, not only should all those who have suffered by this late regime be restored to the rank of which they were so needlessly and unjustly deprived, and their former status relatively with the Line be re-established, but their rank should be made positive and legal, of veritable worth and value, as it is the Staff Corps of the Army. To this end we heartily endorse and commend General Stevens' Staff Rank bill (now in the House Naval Committee, and, we believe, favorably reported on and adopted by them,) as the only plan of just compromise amongst the several offered that will assuredly place the whole matter on a proper and legitimate basis, and bring peace, true brotherhood and harmony to the naval service.

In the European navies, we repeat, this degradation of Staff officers, as now practiced, in the American Navy, is nowhere recognized. Take, for instance, the medical service, which in the Russian service attains the highest military rank known. In the British and Spanish Navy medical officers attain the rank of Vice Admiral; in the French and Austrain Navies Rear Admiral; and in the Dutch Navy to the rank of of Major General. In the United States Army this degradation of the Staff officer has never been attempted, medical officers enjoying every rank from First Lieutenant to Brigadier General. The Surgeon General is Brevet Major General, and nine Surgeons are Brevet Brigadier Generals. Their rank is positive, well defined, universally acknowledged, and carries with it uniform pay, right to quarters, and every other incident to rank except military command in line.—Baltimore American.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the Claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MAGON, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

The Chronicle.

—Col. John Hay, formerly private secretary of Mr. Lincoln, and now an editor of the Tribune, has written the following:—

JIM BLUDSO,

(OF THE PRAIRIE BELLE.)

Wall, no! I can't tell what he lives,
Because he don't live, you see;
Leastways, he's got out of the habit,
Of livin' like you and me.
What have you been for the last three year
That you haven't heard folks tell,
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks,
The night of the Prairie Belle?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike—
One wife in Natchez-under-the-Hill,
And another one here, in Pike.
A keerless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awkward man in a row—
But he never flunked, and he never lied,
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had—
To trust his engine well;
Never be passed on the river;
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Belle took fire—
A thousand times he swore,
He'd hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last soul got ashore.

All boats has their day on the Mississip,
And her day come at last—
The Movastar was a better boat,
But the Belle she wouldn't be passed.
And so she come tearin' along that night—
The oldest craft on the line,
With a nigger squat on her safety valve,
And her furnace crammed, rosin and pine.

The fire bust out as she cleared the bar,
And burnt a hole in the night,
And quick as a flash she turned, and made
For that willer-bank on the right.
There was running and cursing, but Jim yelled
Over all the infernal roar, [out,
"I'll hold her nozzle agin the bank,
Till the last galoot's ashore."

Through the hot, black breath of the burning
Jim Bludso's voice was heard, [boat,
And they all had trust in his cussedness,
And knowed he wouldn't keep his word.
And, sure's you're born, they all got off,
Afore the smokestacks fell—
And Bludso's ghost went up alone,
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle.

He weren't no saint—but as judgment
I'd run my chance with Jim,
'Longside of some pions gentlemen,
That wouldn't shook hands with him.
He seen his duty, a dead sure thing—
And went for it thar and then:
And Christ aint a goin' to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

THE FARMER'S SECURITY.— The high prizes of life are not offered to the farmer—not one in a thousand acquires a princely fortune by the cultivation of the soil. This is so well understood by the shrewd men, who "will be rich," that almost every man of them all avoids farming, as by instinct. But there is another side of the subject, which is full of instruction.

Almost every farmer who has average health and industry, acquires a competence, and an independence. Four out of five of all the families to which the Ohio Farmer is welcomed, will furnish proof of the assertion, that men, beginning with nothing but vigorous industry, and an unsullied name, have, within the last twenty years, risen to the possession of comfort and abundance. The exceptions to this rule are few, and can be readily accounted for on the most obvious principles. Now set down against this fact, which the last fifty years has developed, namely, that nine out of every ten of all who engage in trade fail in business, and farmers have abundant reason to felicitate themselves on their position and its blessings.

Where the farmer exercises care and prudence, and does not go out of his business to make money, he is quite beyond the reach of bankruptcy.

We have taken some pains to learn the actual condition of the farming interest in the region of our calculation, and it is our belief that nearly every serious case of embarassment has arisen from one, or both, of the two following cases: Farmers have purchased faster than necessity required, or prudence permitted; or they have gone beyond their business to engage in speculation, more or less remote from their work as farmers; when they have become commercial men, they have incurred the risks of commerce, and these risks should not be set down to the account of agriculture; for where farmers have kept aloft from these, they have avoided those entanglements which have been the "lion's net" to so many men.

We invite the attention of our young men to these facts. They are worthy of the most thoughtful reflection. Other professions are always crowded to overflowing; very few succeed in them. The present commercial derangement is scattering the fictitious fabrics built on hollow credit, while the farming interest passes comparatively unscathed. Ohio Farmer.

SAD CATASTROPHE.—What's the difference between a chilly man and a hot dog? One wears a great coat and the other pants.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS
—ON—
MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,
PUBLISHED BY THE
PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,
(Opposite Revere House.)
DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.
Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EFFECTS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES OF MATURE YEARS. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 288 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 126 pp. cloth. Price $2. or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on those matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of these diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26d1yr

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the moisture of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1871.

CONGRESS.

The House debated the San Domingo resolutions on Tuesday.

Mr. Ela of New Hampshire opposed the joint resolutions as tending to entangling alliances with foreign people having no common interest with the people of the United States, who have already in their midst enough of conflicting elements. It meant the expenditure of vast sums of money for fortifications, navy yards and ships of war. He believed that this policy would end in disaster, and opposed it.

An amendment was adopted, 106 to 76, declaring that nothing in the resolution was to be construed as committing the government to the annexation of Dominica.

The joint resolution as amended was then passed—128 to 63.

THE WAR.

A dispatch from Berlin says Gen. Von Werder has been heavily reinforced. The fighting when Dajoutin was carried by storm was desperate on both sides, and the German loss was heavy.

A Prussian dispatch from Versailles says the German columns which have been sent against Gen. Chanzy have encountered severe resistance. Several hot engagements have taken place between the Prussian advance and the troops of Chanzy in which the Prussian troops have suffered severely.

Count Bismarck expresses sincere regret at the sinking of the English ships in the Seine and severely reprehends the action of the Prussian soldiers. On behalf of Prussia he offers a full indemnification to the owners.

POLITICAL.—J. R. West was elected senator from Louisiana on the first ballot, by a large majority.

Gov. Clayton has been elected U. S. Senator from Arkansas.

New Hampshire Items.

The wife of Charles Hurd, of Rochester, died on the 4th, from injuries received on Christmas evening from her drunken husband. Hurd is under arrest.

Jonathan T. Dodge, proprietor of Dodge's hotel at Rochester, died on Monday.

Mrs. James Hicks of Concord had her husband fined $19.90 for blacking her eye. The Patriot says James alleges that Mrs. Hicks pulled him out of bed by the hair of his head and smacked him over the pate with a flat-iron.

A State musical festival opened at Concord on Monday.

An effort is being made to raise funds to establish a home for orphans and homeless children in the State.

☞ We accidentally omitted the name of Col. George Marston of Sandown in the list of the Republican county committee.

THE MOTLEY-FISH CORRESPONDENCE is published, and is racy reading compared with state letters generally. Minister Motley at first enters complaint at his summary removal from the English Mission, says he was insulted, and then loses his dignity and seeks to account for the motives which prompted the action of the President, uncharitably hinting that it was because the friend who suggested his appointment, (Senator Sumner,) opposed the purchase of San Domingo, and citing the fact that his removal was made the next day after the bill was defeated in the Senate. It is evident that if Minister Motley used such language at the British court as he has in his communication to Secretary Fish, his recall was none too early, and that as a diplomat he is not an extraordinary success.

Secretary Fish in his reply does not hesitate to write pointedly and very undiplomatically in defence of the President, and the document is one of the most sarcastic papers ever given to the public to read by any administration of late years. He explicitly denies that the President was actuated in deciding to remove Mr. Motley because of Senator Sumner's opposition to the San Domingo treaty, but states that Mr. Motley, before leaving for England, drew up a plan in regard to the Alabama claims under which he wished to act by instruction in the forthcoming attempts at settlement with Great Britain. His views were deemed too radical by the President and Mr. Motley was furnished with other instructions, that the settlement of the claims might not be arbitrarily insisted on while the British people were laboring under excitement caused by the rejection of the Reverdy Johnson treaty.

The Secretary charges that Mr. Motley adopted his own views as a basis of action, after arriving at his post of duty, ignoring the views of the administration to a great extent and placing it in a false position at home and abroad. His removal came as a matter of course, as soon as it was practicable, there being causes for his retention until other matters at issue with the British government, then under consideration, could be settled.

On being requested to resign, on the death of Lord Clarendon, Mr. Motley refused and the name of a successor was sent to the Senate for confirmation. Mr. Fish speaks of Mr. Sumner as the "venerable Senator" and refers to the alleged reasons for Mr. Motley's removal as follows:—

Mr. Motley collates the dates of the rejection of the San Domingo treaty, the 30th of June, and that of my letter requesting his resignation, the 1st of July, which he places on record as a historical fact. To some minds post hic proptor hoc is conclusive of cause and effect. There is a tradition in England, believed by many, that the Goodwin Sands owed their appearance to the fact of a certain steeple in a preceding year. This coincidence, which it stamps as a historical fact, is not the only or most remarkable one which has been the subject of history. He finds its parallel in that recorded by an illustrious author of two old women, who tracing things backs from effects to causes, naturally reverted to their deceased husbands, respecting whose lives, deaths and burials they compared notes, and discovered sundry circumstances that tallied with wonderful exactness, such as Barbara's father having been exactly four years and ten months elder than Kit's father, and one of them having died on Wednesday and the other on Thursday, and both of them having been of very fine make and remarkably good looking, with other extraordinary coincidences. How can Mr. Motley, who in his paper on the end of his mission denies having ever expressed any opinion on the subject of the San Domingo treaty, seek to connect his recall with the almost contemporaneous rejection of that treaty, except by some process of reasoning similar to that which occupied the heads of two worthy old women and by placing himself under the sheltering wing of the eminent senator referred to. It is as difficult as it were useless to attempt to refute such logic, but Mr. Motley and the world know that the hostile position of the senator in question to the San Domingo treaty accomplished all it could accomplish towards its rejection, many months before he was invited to resign. The treaty was admitted to be practically dead and was waiting only for the action of the Senate for weeks and months before the decease of the illustrious statesmen of Great Britain. This event, which took place on the 27th of June, determined the time for inviting Mr. Motley to make place for a successor who might be entrusted with the negotiations in case a disposition was shown on the part of the successors of Lord Clarendon to enter into the discussion and adjustment of the Alabama claims.

Fish isn't a sardine—that's evident.

—A man in Cairo, Ill., after witnessing the performance of a tight-rope artist, said it was easy enough to walk a rope if a man had the nerve. He said he had the nerve, so he fastened a clothes-line from the top of the barn to the chimney of the house, took a hoe handle to balance himself, and started. It wasn't forty-eight hours after that before the family were out riding in carriages, dressed in mourning.

"MONEY IN EGGS."—This is the simple narrative of a journeyman mechanic, who, at the age of twenty-five, and with a family to support, was compelled by failing health to abandon his trade, and seek some more healthy occupation. Without means or experience, he embarked in the poultry business and after many discouraging failures and vexatious disappointments, finally mastered its mysteries, satisfactorily solving the oft-repeated question, "Is the Rearing of Poultry in large numbers Profitable?" regained his health, and in a few years amassed a fortune. He now gives to the public his experience, with such minuteness of detail, and such precision, that even the dullest and most inexperienced cannot fail to obtain such a knowledge of the business, that they may embark in it with a certainty of success.

The publisher of Sibley's Dollar Monthly has secured the copyright of this work, and will publish it in that magazine, commencing with the number for January, 1871. It will be fully illustrated with engravings and diagrams of buildings, apparatus, &c.—Send twenty-five cents for January, February and March numbers, or one dollar for the whole year. Address Ed. F. MR. AH SIN IN OREGON.—In the Oregon legislature, Mr. Hendershott asked and obtained leave to introduce a bill to enable the State of Oregon to have a dead thing on Chinamen:

"Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

Section 1. No Chinaman shall be allowed to die in this State until he has paid ten dollars for a new pair of boots with which to kick the bucket.

Section 2. Any Chinaman dying under this act shall be buried six feet under ground.

Section 3. Any Chinaman who attempts to dig up another Chinaman's bones, shall first produce a license from the Secretary of State, for which he shall pay four dollars.

Section 4. Any dead Chinaman who attempts to dig up his own bones, without giving notice to the Secretary of State shall be fined $100.

Section 5. Any Chinamen who shall be born without bones for the purpose of wilfully and feloniously evading the provisions of this act, shall be fined $500."

The reading of the bill created great laughter.

—A young lady upon one occasion requested her lover to define love, "Well, Sal," said he, "it is to me an inward impossibility and an outward alloverness."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed;" for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

☞ $1,000 Reward will be paid by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical discovery for a medicine that will equal it in curing all the diseases for which it is recommended. It acts powerfully upon the liver, removing torpor or "Billiousness." Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite casements are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to encounter them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, in a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the emptying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive o s, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is inimical in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and therefore a course of the Bitters at this season is particularly desirable, especially for the feeble and those of sedentary habits. Dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. lydawje2

Dr. Greene's Hair Restorer

Restores gray and faded hair to its natural color, strengthens its growth, and insures a good head of hair. It is also the best dressing for the hair ever discovered. It is prepared by Dr. R. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a fearfully bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the island, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as to more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air more balmy, at Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is less exposed to river fogs, and in Florida it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain of the cooking, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the cure must follow.

Jacksonville, Libernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida can be only recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than anywhere else, and the even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of sudden and cold winds, and of Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is more pretty decided recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce billious habits than more northern latitudes. I have established a fact, that was never before, rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one fifth of all the deaths are from consumption of disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands annually perish. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking cold as they are about wetting their feet, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are so credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, and who is to be in a state of use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and to those who I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that, when they used the direct accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. Some accomplish a cure sooner than the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out the next day, will be sure to place a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to place a patient to the stream,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it, more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and chamber sweats no longer prevent rest and sleep, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

My plan is, to give my three medicines to those who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Yes, there is. My advice to such is, that if ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees; and, if possible, be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Mandrake and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will find persons cured by them, some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver and other digestive organs, and have none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do no good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for vocal and instrumental instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his uncle and partner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons, and then, perhaps, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in this business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Name has had better be entered in without delay.

ECONOMY AND REFORM.—If there is any one thing more noticeable than another in the conduct of the democratic party, it is the persistent earnestness with which they advocate Economy and Reform—when they are not in power. Their fervid denunciations of "extravagance and corruption" have often misled the confiding multitudes, and gained the democracy opportunities to initiate their wondrous improvements; but the only change that has been apparent has been the increased numbers and rapacity of the raiders on the public purse, and the diminished quantity of work done by them in return.

In the Jackson times, the democrats sung themselves into power to the tune of Reform; but the moment they were in they changed the programme, and the whole party "went for" the Treasury, keeping step to the music of that good old democratic anthem, "To the Victors belong the Spoils." There are voters yet living in this city, who well remember the confusion and demoralization occasioned by the grand democratic scramble for the loaves and fishes, and the manner in which the Post Office Department was "reformed" into bankruptcy in a few months.

The democratic reformers kept things very nicely during their long administration of National affairs, previous to Abraham Lincoln's election to the presidency. One of their great reforms was the creation of a Naval Academy at Annapolis, to serve as a barrier to prevent the entrance of Northern mudsills into the navy—but perhaps the party should not to be blamed for that, as it was done by a Cabinet officer solely on his own responsibility, and was never established by law at all. But throwing the Charity School on one side, (it ought to be thrown overboard altogether,) the condition in which the national finances were left by Floyd and his brother traitors when they went South to help overthrow the Union, was not favorable at all, to state it in the mildest manner.

Coming nearer home, we find that in the neighboring city of Manchester, not many days ago, the democratic City Council hardly waited to get into their seats before they raised the Mayor's salary from $1000 to $2000 a year—but then he is a democratic economist, and was elected on a free-rum ticket.

In our own city the party fiddle away on the same old strings—eeonomy and reform. This would be all well enough if they meant economy and reform; but they don't. What they mean is, to get rid of as many officers as they can, and reduce the salaries of those remaining to a figure at which capable and trusty men cannot be procured,—when such officers are republicans; and if any one is weak enough to believe that the democracy, if they were to come into power to-morrow, would themselves carry out the programme they so kindly prepare for the republican party, that person's faith is stronger than a whole pot of mustard mixed with vinegar, and to remove mountains and throw them overboard would be a light job for him.

☞ The Temperance State Convention will meet at Concord to-day. The Portsmouth delegates are said to favor the nomination of Hon. James Pike for Governor.

☞ The Associated Press reporter says that a passenger car left in the Eastern Railroad station at Portsmouth on Monday night was found next morning to have caught fire from the stove and the inside burned considerably, but the fire somehow burned itself out.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION met at Concord on Monday. Hon. James A. Weston, Mayor of Manchester, was nominated for Governor, on the first ballot. Weston had 427, Albert R. Hatch 143. David Gilchrist of Franklin was nominated as candidate for Railroad Commissioner by acclamation.

NAVAL.—Commander O. C. Badger has been detached from the Portsmouth navy-yard and is ordered to the command of the Ticonderoga, to which Engineer O. H. Lackey, of the Norfolk navy-yard, is ordered. Commander J. C. P. d'Krafft is to relieve Comdr. Badger.

☞ Republicans and Democrats of this vicinity are disappointed at the result of the balloting for a candidate for Governor by the Democrats in Convention at Concord; the Democrats personally—the Republicans, politically, as Hatch, the Portsmouth candidate, was the easiest man to beat and Portsmouth Republicans would have delighted in laying him out handsomely next March.

☞ The Fakir of Vishnu opened at the Temple, last night. An exchange says:—

"We have seen many sleight of hand performers from Hermann down to Hartz, but must give our most unqualified preference to the Fakir of Vishnu, who, in our opinion, stands pre-eminently above all his colleagues."

The principal gift last evening, $40 in greenbacks, was received by Mrs. A. L. Peirce.

A RASCAL CARED FOR.—By a special despatch from our correspondent at York, over the International Telegraph Line, we learn that the scoundrel calling himself Daniel Webster, who attempted to outrage a young girl in that town while she was on her way to church on the 12th of July last, was on Wednesday brought before the S. J. Court at Saco, Judge Tapley presiding, and received a well-earned sentence of ten years in the State Prison, which is the extreme penalty the law of Maine provides for the offence—more's the pity, for a little hanging would do the brutal villain a world of good. He is an Englishman, about 35 years of age, well built, and of good natural abilities. Our correspondent says that "he has confessed enough to his room-mate in the jail at Alfred; if it could be verified, to entitle him to a hempen necktie." The young lady whom he assaulted is a clergyman's daughter and highly respected, and the people of York are much gratified at the sentence of the wretch who attempted to injure her.

☞ The Italian ship Uncowa, from Macao for Callao with coolies, was set on fire when near Neptune Island, and was abandoned by the captain and crew, who were saved by a San Salvador ship. One hundred and twelve of the coolies were picked up by the ship Juanpore. The remainder of the coolies, 425 in number, perished in the flames.

☞ There will be a meeting of the Republican State Committee at Eagle Hotel, in Concord, on Wednesday evening, January 18, at 8 o'clock. It is desirous that there should be a full attendance, as the preliminary arrangements and plan of the approaching campaign will be made and determined upon.

☞ Hon. John Covode of Pennsylvania died on Wednesday, aged 62 years.

SEE HOW THEY RUN.—Newark is to have a game of base ball, to be played upon skates.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD'S Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N.Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 24 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

A SAVAGE DUEL.—The Texas Civilian publishes an account of a savage fight at Pontrance, between a cattle-driver from Texas, named Joe Bigger, and Watrous, a gambler, which occurred in the Indian Territory. The Civilian says: The Texas party were returning home with the proceeds of their cattle sales, when the gamblers rode into camp, and a game of cards was proposed. The gamblers were detected in an attempt to cheat, and a row ensued, when it was decided that Bigger and Watrous should fight on horseback with bowie-knives. They were divested of their coats and shirts, and their knives were bound to their right hands. They were placed sixty yards apart, with orders to ride at each other at full speed, passing on the left side. Both were splendid horsemen. Bigger was mounted fourteen hands high, while Watrous rode a "watch-eyed" vicious roan pony.

Six rounds were fought, resulting in desperate wounds on both horses and men.

At the seventh round the horses came together with a shock, the pony being thrown, falling upon his rider; but both regained themselves. Watrous' horse was fast bleeding to death from the stab in the neck, and Watrous himself could hardly keep his seat from the wound in the thigh. Bigger succeeded in again stabbing Watrous in the thigh, and was struck in turn in the side.

The fight had lasted more than half an hour, when the final round took place. As they came together, Watrous endeavored to rise in his stirrups and to throw himself upon Bigger, but neither horse could stand the encounter, and both fell. Bigger was streaming in gore from the cuts in the face, back and arms, but was able to extricate himself and rush upon Watrous, who could not rise on account of the wounds in the thigh. Bigger threw himself upon Watrous with the fury of a fiend, and almost in a moment his knife was buried in the unfortunate gambler's heart. Bradford, a fellow gambler, seeing the fate of his friend, raised his pistol, fired, and Bigger fell dead across the corpse of Watrous.

A free fight then ensued, resulting in the death of Bradford and the wounding of two Texans, who, however, are likely to recover. We have read of nothing more utterly savage than this since the horrible knife duel between Bowie and the French planter on the Red River.

HOW TO FATTEN A POOR HORSE.—Many good horses devour large quantities of grain or hay, and still continue thin and poor; the food eaten is not properly assimilated. If the usual feed has been underground grain and hay, nothing but a change will effect any desirable alteration in the appearance of the animal. In case oil meal cannot be obtained readily, mingle a bushel of flax seed with a bushel of barley, one of oats and one of Indian corn, and let it be ground into fine meal. This will be a fair proportion for all his feed. Or the meal or the barley, oats and corn, in equal quantities, may first be procured, and one-fourth part of oil cake mingled with it when the meal is sprinkled on cut feed.

Feed two or three quarts of the mixture two or three times daily, mingled with a peck of cut hay and straw. If the horse will eat that greedily, let the quantity be gradually increased until he will eat four or six quarts at every feeding three times a day. So long as the animal will eat this allowance, the quantity may be increased a little every day. But avoid the practice of allowing a horse to stand at a rack well filled with hay. In order to fatten a horse that has run down in flesh, the groom should be very particular to feed the animal no more than he will eat up clean and lick his manger for more.—American Stock Journal.

UNFERMENTED MANURE.—Many excellent farmers have an idea that manure to be most efficient in raising crops should be well rotted; but this is a mistake. Manure loses a very heavy percentage. Fresh manure, dripping with animal urine, hauled directly from the stable on the land and ploughed under, is worth nearly double that which has decomposed to saponaceous consistency. When it is convenient for farmers to haul manure on corn ground from the stable as fast as it is made, it saves handling it twice, and forwards the work in busy spring time. No fears need be entertained that the atmosphere will carry off the strength of the manure if left on the surface. The only danger to be apprehended by this method will be in the case of the ground being frozen and covered with snow and ice when the manure is applied; if upon sloping land, the virtue of the manure might wash away; but on level land there is no exception to this plan of operation during the entire fall and winter season.—Germantown Telegraph.

—A drummer tells the story of a "first-class" Wilmington, N. C., hotel, that he ordered one morning, of its attentive waiter, "two soft boiled eggs." Sambo went off to the kitchen, and soon returned, and asked, "Mass Boss, did you want dem eggs scrambled?" "No, I want them soft boiled." "All right, sar," and off he trotted again. In a few moments he loomed in again, and remarked in a most persuasive tone, "Mass Boss, you better have dem eggs scrambled." "What do you mean?" "Well, Mass Boss, I'll tell you; dem eggs ain't very fresh, and dey'll look better scrambled." He concluded not to take any.

—Appreciation of nature: Mistress—"Are not these lovely flowers, nurse?" Nurse—"They be, indeed, ma'am! Equal to the best artificials!"

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

FATALISM ILLUSTRATED.—A Hard-Shell Baptist minister, living somewhere on the frontier of Missouri, was in the habit of saying to his family and to his church: "Friends, you need not take any unusual care of your lives; the moment of your death was written before the foundation of the world, and you cannot alter it." His wife observed when he left on Saturday to meet one of his frontier missionary engagements, that he dressed the flint of his rifle, with unusual care, put in dry powder, fresh tow, and took every pains to make sure that the gun would go off in case he came upon an Indian.

It struck her one day as she saw him in the saddle, with his rifle on his shoulder, that his conduct contradicted his teachings, and she said to him: "My dear, why do you take this rifle with you? It was 'writ' before the foundation of the world that you were to be killed during this trip by an Indian, that rifle won't prevent it; and if you are not to be killed, of course the rifle is unnecessary; so why take it with you at all?"

"Yes," he replied, "to be sure, my dear, of course you are all very right, and that is a very proper view, but, see here, my dear—now—really—but then, you see, my dear—suppose I should meet an Indian while I am gone, and his time had come, and I hadn't my rifle with me, what would he do? Yes, my dear, we must all contribute our part toward the fulfillment of the decrees of Providence."

—A man in Covington made a bet the other day, that he could drink a pint and a half of Cincinnati whiskey in twelve hours. He won the bet and his widow remarked at the funeral the next day that it was the first money he had earned by hard work in ten years.

—A Sunday School teacher, who had become almost discouraged over the listlessness of her class, at last felt rewarded by an interested look from a little girl. The reward was lost when the little creature touched a bracelet on her arm and asked "Teacher, are them threaded on 'lastic?

A CARD.
A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS
ON MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,
PUBLISHED BY THE
PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,
(Opposite Revere House.)
DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.
Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.
A Book for every Man.
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 295 pages, bound in cloth.
A Book For Every Woman,
Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.
A Book for Everybody.
Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp., cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpaid.
These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.
☞ "VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Cons Republican, Lancaster, N. H.
"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.
Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.
N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26 6 1yr

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from these dangerous complaints. Its timely use spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1871.

THE WAR.

The army of General Von Werder stormed the fortifications of Villerexel on Sunday, and after a severe bombardment captured the town, with several hundred prisoners. Afterwards the French drove the Germans from the works and regained possession of the town, inflicting heavy loss upon the Germans. The prisoners taken by the latter were recaptured. The fighting continued until night, when the French army held its position, and bivouacked on the field of battle.

On Sunday evening the Prussian advanced column of Prince Frederick Charles overtook and engaged the extreme right wing of the army of General Chanzy, about seventeen miles northeast of Tours. The Prussian columns were but feebly supported and were several times in danger of being repulsed, but a portion of the main body of the Prusaian army arriving, the French troops were compelled to withdraw, which they did after a determined fight. The Prussian columns suffered severely in this encounter until re-enforcements arrived.

The army of Chanzy is reported retreating at all points. The Germans are in pursuit, and have taken 1000 prisoners.

☞ The San Domingo Commissioners will probably sail in the U. S. S. Tennessee on Monday and return to this country before the close of February.

☞ The U. S. Senate finally passed the San Domingo resolutions on Wednesday.

THE TEMPERANCE STATE CONVENTION at Concord, Thursday, was attended by about 150 delegates. Rev. D. C. Babcock of Nashua presided. Adams Perry, Jr., of Portsmouth was appointed a member of the Finance Committee. Resolutions were passed endorsing Hon. James Pike, the Republican nominee for Governor. The Strafford County delegation, 25 in number, withdrew and organized by the choice of C. H. Chase of Rochester as President and E. C. Davis of Lee, Secretary. Rev. A. G. Comings of Lee was nominated for Governor, and C. C. Hayes of Dover for Railroad Commissioner.

The following nominations were made in this District by the regular Convention:—Councillor, Dr. Jacob H. Gallinger of Concord; County Commissioner, John P. Sanborn of Epping; Register, Lorenzo D. Towle of East Kingston; Treasurer, John Albee of Newcastle; Senator, Charles Robinson of Portsmouth.

A FEW REFLECTIONS. — From the "Grizzly Papers" in the January number of the Overland Monthly we borrow the following comments:

"To be seen at his best, the Grizzly must be seen at home—an instructive example, sir, that may be advantageously studied by some other great brutes, and one, Madame, by which even a lady may profit. In his native wild, the grizzly is much given to the arts of peace, and seldom takes the war-path against his fellow-man, unless rudely disturbed in some philosophical meditation; in which case, it must be confessed, he usually devours the intruder while getting his scattered faculties well in hand. But the major part of his time is passed in peaceful pursuits, among which the pursuit of the California Indian holds an honorable place. To nose about for the edible nut and drag it from beneath the dead leaf, to spoil the acquisitive bee, to nip the nimble Digger as he flies—these are the humble triumphs of his unambitious life.

A pig carrying a wisp of straw in his mouth portends rain. Minor showers occur without the intervention of the pig. Nicely roasted, he is very good.

The representative Californian is an ass. He is so absurdly thin-skinned that one must not poke at him with anything harsher than a feather duster, or he will get him into a coniption directly. You must temper your talk to him, as you do to a girl-baby, the convulsive working of whose under lip indicates that she is crammed with cry pregnant with vast possibilities of shriek. Not only must you praise his climate, his soil, his crops and dog, but you must elaborately and minutely disparage the dog, crops, soil and climate of everyone else. If you do not, he will choke you in his congenial fog, pelt you with a fruitful clod, and bite your body with his pup."

☞ At a meeting of Storer Encampment, No. 1, G. A. R., held Tuesday evening, Jan. 10th, the following named comrades were duly elected for the ensuing term:—

William H. Lovell, Comdr.; Edwin H. Leslie, S. V. C.; Frank H. Mahan, J. V. C.; John H. Manby, Adjt.; William Nellins, Q. M.; Joseph R. Curtis, Chaplain; Brainard Dearborn, Surgeon; Charles Cummings, O. D.; Thomas Moore, O. G.; Robert Aldrich, S. M.; George H. Tripp, Q. M. S.

THE FRAUDULENT HELMBOLDS.—Dr. Henry T. Helmbold, of New York city, has been out on the war path recently, and the field of his operations has been the city of Chicago. Dr. Helmbold is widely known throughout this country in connection with the celebrated "Buchu," said to be an efficacious remedy for many of the ills which flesh is to heir to. The great demand for this preparation led certain unprincipled persons to get up a spurious article of the kind, and to trade upon the Doctor's reputation.

It appears that six months ago Dr. Helmbold learned that counterfeiters were at work, and that the market was being flooded with spurious articles bearing his name. The manufactory of the bogus article was finally found to be located at the rear of No. 100 Washington street, Chicago. The counterfeiter was a former specialist, and now engaged in the manufacture of spring beds. His piratical adventure was suggested to him by the names of two Germans, George and Fritz Helmbold, which he found in the city directory. They were both poor, unsophisticated men, one of them being a mere boy, ignorant even of the English language. Whittier made a written contract with them, whereby he agreed to pay them $1,000 per annum for their labor in making spring-bed frames, and the additional sum of $10 per month for the use of their name in the making of medicinal preparations.

Having thus provided himself with a good name, Whittier proceeded to issue a preparation called "Helmbold's Buchu," with wrappers and labels closely resembling those of the genuine article. The real Helmbold soon heard of the fraud, and he at once made a descent upon the enemy. Whittier found himself enjoined by Judge Drummond of the United States Circuit Court from proceeding further in the fraud. An action was also commenced against him in the same court, in which damages were laid at $2,000, while proceedings were said to be in contemplation for his indictment for conspiracy. Sworn affidavits of George and Fritz Helmbold were placed in the hands of Dr. Helmbold's attorneys, disclosing the manner in which their names had been obtained.

Under these circumstances, Whittier resolved upon an unconditional surrender. He delivered up the key of his laboratory, and handed over his lithograph stones, electrotypes, plates, dies, stamps, and all the material and equipments of his business, with a list of all parties who had purchased his spurious preparations, and the names of those to whom it had been consigned, or who were in any way connected with his nefarious business. He also gave a bond in $20,000 that he would abstain from similar trespasses for the future.

Dr. Helmbold's object in thus promptly checking the operations of the Chicago counterfeiter was less with a view to punish the pirate than to secure the public against any similar frauds that may be attempted. Having expended immense sums of money in advertising his extracts and remedies, and bringing home to the people a knowledge of their merits, he has determined to adopt such measures as will prevent anything but the genuine article from being foisted upon purchasers.

MORE OF IT.—The coroner's jury in the case of John Smith, the "mutineer" of the ship Shatemuck, who died at Belleville, N. Y., on the 31st ult., acquitted George Hall, the first mate, and held John Wright, second mate, for trial for causing Smith's death. The evidence showed horrible cruelty by the officers of the ship toward the crew. It may be remembered that when the ship arrived, several of the crew were arrested for mutiny, and their examination led to the arrest of the officers (who were admitted to bail, and only one witness retained against them,) for savage barbarities practiced on the crew. The inquest on the sailor, Smith, has shown that the crew would have been fully justified (morally) in taking the lives of all their officers in self-defence. Another instance of the working of our slave laws.

☞ The Boston Mutual Admiration Society have tendered a complimentary benefit to the departing Fechter, which comes off on Saturday evening. From the accounts published in the Boston papers some time since, we are inclined to believe that these benefits, as a general rule, are far more complimentary than substantial to the supposed beneficiary.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED.—Cambridge tradition has preserved an amusing story which is not without its bearings upon church matters at the present time. A certain undergraduate was under examination, and among the questions contained in one of his papers was the following:—Why will not a pin stand upon its point? The examinee was not very strong in his subjects, but as there was nothing like putting a good face on the matter, he set to work to answer the question in as formal a way as possible. The interesting result stood as follows:—1. A pin will not stand on its head, much less is it possible that it should stand on its point. 2. A point, according to Euclid, is that which has no parts and no magnitude. A pin cannot stand on that which has no parts and no magnitude, and, therefore, a pin cannot stand on its point. 3. It will if you stick it in.

Our Correspondence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.

Messrs. Editors:—I wish you a Happy New Year, and send the greeting along the rail to your sanctum. This is a gala day in this city, our cosmopolitan population having brought their habits and customs with them. The gentlemen are out in their best broadcloth, calling on their lady acquaintances, and the fair ones are all aglow with smiles of the new year beaming in every feature. This is an agreeable custom to all concerned, for a gentleman can make calls this day upon a very slight acquaintance, and thus become better known to his lady friends.

I notice that some of the callers seem to be loaded down with kindness,—so overburdened with the commodity that they stagger or sway gently under its weight as they continue on to make further visits. In a jocular way they join by twos and threes—for in union is strength—and go merrily on to the next place, where perhaps a bevy of beauties awaits them. Others, with two or four-horse teams, drive around, to increase the number of their calls without fatiguing themselves too much. All goes "merry as a marriage bell," and the belles and beaux seem to think that "Amour et bonheur" has started in the right direction for the year 1871.

Yours, J. E. W. C.

A SONG FROM TENNYSON'S NEW POEM.

Where is another sweet as my sweet?
Such another beneath the sky;
Fine little hands, fine little feet,
Fine little heart and dewy blue eye.
Shall I write to her? Shall I go?
Ask her to marry me bye and bye?
Somebody said that she'd say no,
But somebody knows that she'll say ay,
Ay ay, ay ay, ay ay!

Ah, my lady, if asked to her face,
Might say no, for she is but shy.
Fly, little letter, apace, apace,
Down to the light in the valley fly.
Fly to the light in the valley below,
Tell my wish to her dewy blue eye;
For somebody said she'd say no,
But she won't say no, and I'll tell you why,
She will say ay, ay, ay!

—Why don't the great men of France stir? Why do they remain motionless and cold while our bleeding country is ruined? asked an orator in Paris the other day. "Because they are cast in bronze," answered a voice in the gallery.—N. Y. World.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Defensive Medication.

Investigation is as necessary for the protection of the human body against disease when unhealthy influences are abroad, as iron armor and granite casements are for the protection of ships and fortresses when assailed by shot and shell. Hence, it is desirable when those potent enemies of vitality, damp and cold, pervade the air we breathe, to put the system in the best possible condition to encounter them. The stomach is the organ by which every other organ is nourished and sustained, and therefore upon its vigorous and regular action depends, in a great measure, the capacity of the system to resist the assaults of the invisible enemies of health and life, by which, at this inclement season, it is surrounded. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as an admirable tonic and regulating medicine for all seasons, is never more needed than in winter, when the orpifying influence of a chilly atmosphere effects all the vital functions, and renders the body extremely susceptible. By toning the digestive o s, and the liver, and the bowels with this unequalled vegetable specific, a physical condition is attained which seems to be proof against all varieties of temperature, and that is minimal in the air of winter. Defensive medication is a precaution which should never be neglected when danger is present, and therefore a course of the Bitters at this season is particularly desirable, especially for the feeble and sickly. As a remedy for biliousness, dyspepsia, nervousness and bowel complaints, there is nothing comparable to this wholesome restorative. 1wdawjan7

SHALL WE LIVE—Kind friends it is for you to decide; with your patronage we can go along, without it, it would be an impossibility. We have tried hard to serve all faithfully. But our hardest work has been in contending with one jealous Express Company, who are determined we shall not live. Finding that words were of no avail, they have been to our oldest and best Provision customers, offering to bring their goods for less money than we have to pay freight for, and now that these did not forsake us, they offer them greater inducements by bringing them for nothing. DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Florida is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healthy influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and invigorating. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is some miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossibleto take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the tables are good.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, are highly recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than in other parts (even temperature); and it is not necessary to say, that, when a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to shorten his days; the my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds; and Mellonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, with disordered stomach, disordered bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and therefore my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, Western and Northern Pennsylvania, it is a terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. With a vast percentage of life would often to be consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about a scratch, or small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, goes all lightly, is to buy a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for patients day or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I love tones of flesh. When a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs, and healthy tissue forms and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate nature, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, if the means can be had, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept equably at the same temperature by a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within doors, and use as much or more medicine and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, if the means can be had, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept equably at the same temperature by a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within doors, and use as much or more medicine and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

So far as Medicine is concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver like a little calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. They are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. I would have gardeners, too, fond of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, if the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp, unwholesome places, and severe. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer discloses the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the use of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition, they should not be so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any Druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.
THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for all juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A, B, C in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six lessons of two hours each, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at the school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing." Not often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to make up slugers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should have their performance on a scientific and proper position; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

CITY COUNCIL.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Thursday evening, Mrs. Quinlan asked for compensation for the destruction of a feather bed because of small pox brought to her house by a stranger. Voted that bill be paid.

Committee on Retrenchment reported through Ald. Fernald that they saw no cause to change or abolish any of the city offices or change any of the salaries now paid city officers.

The Alderman who wanted to retrench every thing not copperish, presented a minority report signed by himself, recommending the abolition of two Assistant Marshals, the reduction of the salary of City Marshal from $800 to $500 per annum, the abolition of the office of City Solicitor, the reduction of the salary of the City Messenger from $500 to $300, and other minor office matters.

Ald. Fernald moved the adoption of the majority report and the minority argued his side of the case briefly. Ald. Mendum concurred and wished to postpone the election of officers one week. The majority report was not adopted.

Yeas, Fernald, Giddings, Waldron, Marvin.

Nays, Annable, Mendum, Wendell, Hatch.

Voted, by the casting vote of the Mayor, to meet the Common Council in Convention for choice of city officers.

In Joint Convention balloted for City Treasurer. Charles A. Shannon had 11, Samuel W. Moses 3, Gideon H. Rundlett 1, and Mr. Shannon was chosen.

For City Messenger, Willis L. Hidden had 14 and was elected.

For City Solicitor, Alfred F. Howard had 12, John S. H. Frink 5, and Mr. Howard was elected.

For Street Commissioner, William F. Ham had 11, Ebenezer F. Haines 5, Samuel C. Whittier 1, and Mr. Ham was elected.

For City Physician, Dr. Samuel C. Whittier had 13, Dr. John W. Parsons 5, and Dr. Whittier was elected.

For Chief Engineer, Stephen L. Marston had 13, Nathaniel D. Miller 3, Wm. B. Grogan 1, and Mr. Marston was re-elected.

For Ass't Engineer, Eben F. Brackett had 15, Francis W. Ham 15, John Walsh Jr., 15, Thomas Moore 13, John Pender 13, Chas. Proven 15, John H. Morrill 12, scat. 7. The above named gentlemen were chosen.

For Superintendent City Farm, Haven L. Scott was unanimously elected, receiving 15 votes.

For Lamp Lighter, Foxwell C. Staples had 11, Andrew J. Ayers 6, and Mr. Staples was chosen.

After choosing other officers the Convention rose.

The Aldermen appointed Wm. H. Lovell, Engineer, and Wm. H. Gardner, Fireman of Steamer No. 1; A. J. McIntire, Engineer and Mr. Critchly, Fireman, of No. 2; Charles Manent, Engineer, and Geo. Jones, Fireman, of No. 3.

Calvin Page's office-mate aired his views repeatedly on the question of retrenchment and succeeded in having the bill for the abolition of certain offices read a second time.

The bill for the repeal of the one per cent. commission of the Collector of Taxes was passed.

The Overseers of the Poor presented the following communication:—

The Overseers of the Poor of this city respectfully represent that on the 9th day of January instant, Rev. Canon Walsh visited the Almhouse and conducted himself in a manner unbecoming a gentleman, being exceedingly abusive to the Matron in the presence of the inmates, calling her by unseemly and insulting names and threatening her with arrest, and that she should be locked up, put in irons, &c., and putting her in great bodily fear.

Wherefore the Overseers request that you should make inquiries into the matter and take such action as a proper respect for the Matron of the House and the dignity of the city seems to require. (Signed,)

JOHN A. LAMPREY,
CHAS. C. AKERMAN,
JAMES W. NUTTER,
Overseers of Poor.

Referred to the Committee on City Lands and Buildings with the Mayor added, to report in one week.

Common Council.—Mr. Tibbets absent. After regular routine business, the other Board were notified that the Council were ready to meet them in Convention to elect City Officers. On resuming, no other business coming before them, adjourned for one week.

WANTED, a Daily Chronicle of Dec. 10, 1870.

AN INGENUOUS DEMOCRAT from the northern part of the State, on being asked in the Democratic Convention to vote for Albert R. Hatch, replied, "all I know about this Hatch is, he has held office under the Federal Administration for the last twenty years; and do you suppose I would go for a man that would do that, for Governor?" He went for Weston.

☞ At the business meeting of the Philharmonic Society, Wednesday evening, it was decided to keep up the organization and rehearsals, and to use Mozart's Twelfth Mass for practice. A good sing was enjoyed by the company present, under the leadership of Mr. G. L. Cushing, and they then adjourned to 7 1-2 o'clock Wednesday evening, the 18th, at G. A. R. Hall.

THE FAKIR OF VISHNU had a large audience on his opening night, the Cornet Band furnishing popular music. The performances are well worth the price of admission. The Fakir talks glibly and pleasantly, and does remarkable tricks. Signor Briggs is an entertainment in himself, and the Marionette family should be seen to be appreciated. The distribution of presents was made on the square, so the audience said, and the gifts were beautiful and useful. Another entertainment tonight. Mr. N. P. Campbell drew the chamber-set, Thursday evening.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The components parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription prices may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

CONCATENATION BILL.

When and where he picked up the sobriquet which, once attached to him, became a part of his personality, and stuck to him thenceforth through life, and will be inscribed upon his tombstone—should Fortune so far change her mood as to allow him to have one, which is a matter of doubt—we never knew. It is doubtful if he knew himself. It was all he had to show for his labor in some mining-camp when he left it, and, as the camp itself is probably long since numbered with the things which were, but are not, what matters it where it was located, or who labored in it? In any event, it usurped the place of the name given him in baptism, and, like most California nicknames, was appropriate.

"You are out of luck," said a rough miner, to whom he had detailed his misfortunes and wanderings for an hour.

"Out of luck! Well, I wish to Heaven I was; you may gamble on that; but I ain't, why God bless you stranger, I'm just in a streak of luck from morning to night, and from one year's end to another, and the cussedest luck! Why, I have just had more luck than would sink a ship, and have got it yet!" And, to do him justice, he had.

He crossed the plains in '49. He had a good outfit supplied him by his neighbors in Illinois, who fitted him out, "on shares," as a speculation. They are still waiting in expectation of dividends on those shares—that is, what are left of them above ground. His best horse was stolen from him near "St. Joe," and he traded the other and the double harness off for a pair of oxen, with a cow thrown in. One of his oxen was gobbled by the Indians on the Platte, and he sold, gave away, or threw away, half his load of provisions, yoked the cow up with the remaining ox, and start on again. The cow died on the head-waters of the Humboldt, and he rode the ox down to "the Sink," where it gave out as well; and he made the remainder of the journey alone, footing it by day, and camping with any family who would give him a supper and the use of a spare blanket at night.

He reached Placerville at last, and got a job, waiting on the table at a hotel, at good wages. At the end of the second month he tried his hand at a game of faro, and won eleven hundred and eighty dollars. There was a gushing young lady, who tended bar in a dance-house, who knew him before he made this "ten strike." She suddenly discovered that he was a very good fellow, and not bad looking. She suggested to him that it would be a good thing for them to go into partnership, matrimonial and financial, and start a hotel at Coon Holler, a new and promising camp not far from Placerville, or as it was then familiarly known, "Hangtown." The financial partnership was to be immediate and absolute, and the matrimonial one prospective and contingent. The arrangement suited him; they rented the hotel, and she started down to Sacramento to buy some necessary articles for the bar before going to "keep a tavern." She took his money with her, and—did not come back. He borrowed fifty dollars from an acquaintance, followed her down to Sacramento, and there learned that she had gone to "the Bay," in company with a big fellow known as Sandy Bob, who came out with her from New York, and who, if he was not her husband, ought to have been. No use going any further after her.

After his borrowed fifty dollars were all expended, he got a situation as "assistant bullwhacker" on an ox-train, and made his way up to Fiddletown, where he came across a friend who took him into partnership in a placer gold-claim, then supposed to be worthless. They "struck it rich" in two weeks, sold out for a "big stake," and started for San Francisco. On the way down the Sacramento River on a steamer, Concatenation Bill took a hand in a game of draw-poker, just to pass away the time, and not only lost every cent of his own money, but all his partner's share as well.

In San Francisco he had varied adventures, finding employment in a dozen different kinds of business, only to be thrown out of it by some unfortunate occurrence, and finding himself "dead broke" every time. He went to Frazer River, and came back broke; then to Washoe, and came back broke again. Then he made his way southward, fished for sharks, and gathered abalones at San Pedro, and, after a time, made himself generally useless upon a stock-rancho.

The Arizona gold excitement of 1862-'63 took him across the desert to the Colorado River. Near La Paz he found a small vein of deposit of "silver copper glance" ore, which he located, and sold to a San Francisco export for three hundred dollars; and, with the money thus obtained, he started a small "dead-fall," proposing to supply the honest miners with liquors and cards at a handsome advance on original cost. The first day's business was a success, and he entertained high hopes of a change of fortune for the better. Vain hope! On the second day a man came into his shanty for a drink, and fell down dead from heart-disease before reaching the counter. The rumor went abroad suddenly that the respected and lamented deceased—who had immigrated from North Carolina or Southern Oregon on account of a prospective lawsuit involving the title to a horse—had just died after, instead of just before, swallowing a glass of Concatenation Bill's best whiskey. It was warm weather, and the gold and copper seekers of that district were at that time an excitable set, with no wholesome restraint on their conduct in the shape of courts and legal enactments. In an hour fifty men were examining his stock, and testing it as a committee of the whole, by way of deciding whether it would kill or not.

It did not directly kill those who drank it then and there without paying for it; but it led to a fight, in which two honest miners were "laid out" with bullet holes through them; and the indignant citizens, with the crude ideas of justice then prevailing, held Bill responsible for the result, and, when the row was over, organized a vigilance committee with the determination of "going for him" as soon as daylight came, to enable them to beat up his hiding-place in the chaparral. Luckily for him, he learned of their amiable intentions in season, and, before morning broke over the Weaver Mountains, he broke in that direction himself. They heard from him next by a Mexican, who met him at Granite Wash, forty miles eastward of the river, and having cooled down a little meantime, concluded not to pursue him.

Next he turned up at Wickenburg, on the Hassiyampi. Wickenburg was a lively place at that time. Jack Snelling was a capital fellow, but inclined to be too playful at times, and indulge in little practical jokes, which usually resulted in somebody being sent out of town perforated like a colander. Jack was festively inclined on the day on which our friend arrived, and had been around town and compelled all the traders to close their shops and go home, on pain of instant death. As Concatenation Bill rode down the single long street which formed the city, Jack sighted him, and, mistaking him for a man who had once insulted him by refusing to drink with him, "went for him" the moment he dismounted, and thrashed him within an inch of his life before he discovered his mistake. Concatenation Bill accepted Jack's apology and a drink, but thought business too lively to be permanent in Wickenburg, washed the blood from his face, bound a piece of raw beef upon one of his eyes, and started on next morning before sunrise.

In the course of his travels he was seen at Hooper & Co.'s store, on the Gila, and for some time he was at home at Tucson.

Two or three years after the adventure at La Paz, Concatenation Bill came down Bill William's Fork from Dale Creek and Prescott, and for some weeks was one of the fixtures of the copper-mining camp at the Great Central and Planet mines, twelve miles above the mouth of the Fork, near Aubrey City. Nobody asked him to stop, and nobody seemed to care to asked him to leave; so he partook of the hospitalities of the camp, never missing a meal, nor paying a cent, day after day, and night after night, until it was whispered around among the miners that he was a heavy stockholder in the company, and that it would be well to keep on the good side of him.

Concluded in our next.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

The Chronicle.

True Story of a Real Ghost.

Dedicated to the personal experience of Mr. Wisp.

The wind blew cold in Linden street,
And night was coming on,
The snow lay deep in road and yard,
And moon and stars were gone.

No light was seen in any house,
No tracks to any led,
And all was lonely, sad and drear,
As though the world were dead.

At such a time the ghosts are out,
And every imp that goes,
And ghosts are lurking all about,
As everybody knows.

Within the homes were peaceful rest,
And sleep and pleasant dreams,
And quiet thoughts of love and friends,
And money making schemes.

At once without a warning noise,
From 'neath a cottage floor,
Came sounds more strange than ever came
From such a place before!

As though some monster, furious beast,
With many a savage roar,
Were breaking down the very walls
And tearing up the floor.

Now reading of such sounds as these
Is not the same thing—quite
As hearing them beneath one's room,
At twelve o'clock at night.

Well, of all the people in the house,
(And two of them were men,)
But one dared venture down to see
What made the hideous din.

And he with soft and careful steps,
And with a martyr's air,
Crept slowly down the cellar stairs,
With sharp looks everywhere.

When from the horrid darkness came,
Another startling squall,
And then—a neighbor's Thomas Cat,
More frightened than they all.

—There was a nose—the largest nose this world did ever see; there was a face that carried it aloft triumphantly. There was a list that smote that nose, and caused it sore to bleed; there was a man that bore that list, and gloried in the deed. There was a catch-poll lank and wizen; there was a judge that sentenced him, and sent him off to prison. There was a nose all bruised and black, and seamed with many scars; there was a rueful looking face behind the prison bars.

BACKACHE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE URINARY ORGANS, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, or any Obstruction that interferes with the functions of these organs always cause great pain and weakness in the small of the back and loins. To relieve this, a diuretic medicine is necessary.

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

have been thoroughly tested for the past thirty-eight years, and pronounced the most efficient diuretic ever discovered. They are purely vegetable and contain no mercury. Sold by druggists. Sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cts. per box.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for Nervous Weakness, Premature Decay, and all other kindred Disorders, brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and gluinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway. New York.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms; Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, Impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is now restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1871.

THE WAR.

The forts surrounding Paris have suffered much less from the effects of the bombardment than at first supposed. The forts on the eastern side, which had been thought to have been completely silenced, opened a furious fire on Sunday.

A despatch from Versailles on the 12th says that a large fire was raging within the walls of Paris and on the north side of the city.

The Tribune correspondent at Paris writes under date of the 7th:—"The city has been bombarded for three days, shells falling throughout the districts of Auteuil and through the Hotel des Invalides and the Pantheon. The damage was slight. A few citizens were killed. Its moral effect is encouraging, and there is an universal demand for a more energetic military policy. Another Blanqui insurrection was plotted, but it has been suppressed. The weather has moderated and there is less suffering.

The German columns operating against General Chanzy have driven him within one mile of Le Mans, after a series of engagements, in which one cannon, three mitrailleuses and 10,000 prisoners were captured. A French official announcement says that the Germans on the 10th redoubled their efforts against the army of General Chanzy, who, pressed on all sides, retired to his original position. The action was hotly disputed, one of the French brigades resisting the attacks of the enemy for six hours. The losses were considerable on both sides.

A large German army is being formed in the eastern departments of France, which will include the corps of Generals Von Werder, Zastrow and others. Fifty thousand fresh troops crossed the Rhine recently and traversed the Province of Alsace. They are to intended reenforce the army of Gen. Werder now operating in the valley of the Saone.

Bourbaki, commanding the army of the East, telegraphs that his troops passed the whole of Tuesday night in driving the enemy from the houses in Villesexel.

General Faidherbe has surprised the rear guard of the German army, and thirty of the Prussians were killed and fifty-nine taken prisoners. The French did not lose a man. The French army has again entered Bapaume.

In the battle near Le Mans the French 6000 or 8000 in killed and wounded.

New Hampshire Items.

Martin Shaw, employed in the woolen mills at Franklin, was caught on a shaft and fatally injured. He was about thirty years of age, and leaves a wife and child.

Rollinsford has organized a farmers' club.

Mary Lane, of Hopkinton, a school teacher, has been sent to the State prison for three years for forging a note against Reuben E. French, of Hopkinton, a flour dealer doing business in Concord, and pledging it as collateral for money borrowed at Manchester.

The Patriot calls the last Convention "an addled Temperance Convention."

New Hampshire will lose one Representative in Congress by the proposed new apportionment.

Hon. James Pike has accepted the Republican nomination for Governor.

The Labor Reformers of this District held a convention at Exeter on Tuesday, of which David Griffin of Danville was President, and D. M. Quimby of Exeter, Secretary. Wesley Poor of Raymond, was nominated for County Treasurer, Wm. H. Belknap for Register of Deeds and Lorenzo Frost for County Commissioner.

A man in Exeter refused to have the pegs of a new pair of shoes he was buying for his boy rasped off because in that case the boy would run all over town, and the shoes wouldn't last him three weeks.

James Swain overturned an express sleigh in Exeter and has a broken leg.

The Trustees of the Normal School have voted to locate it at Plymouth.

☞ An explosion occurred on the 11th at Renshaw colliery, Sheffield, Eng., by which twenty-six persons were killed and nine others injured.

THE FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.—As this cattle distemper is causing much uneasiness among farmers, and appears likely to visit this immediate section of country, the following article (which we condense from the Maine Farmer) will be valuable to our agricultural readers:—

The nature of the "Foot and Mouth" disease is that of a low fever, often exhibiting typhoid characteristics, great debility quickly supervening, together with, at times, a tendency to puridity. Premising that the appearances vary somewhat in different cases, as for instance, that sometimes the feet and sometimes the mouth is first or more seriously affected, etc., it may be said that, the earliest symptoms, generally, are a dull and listless appearance, staring coat, cold extremities and perhaps a shivering fit. Soon, however, a reaction follows; the skin, limbs and mouth become hot; in cows the secretion of milk diminishes and the udder becomes hot and tender, the pulse quickens and sometimes the tongue swells. In a day or two more, shivering and frothing at the mouth, which also becomes lined with watery blisters, and these also appear on the lips and tongue, and on the teats of cows. The food is frequently dropped out unmasticated, as it chewing were too painful to be endured. The little vesicles, or blisters, also appear between the hoofs; and the disease in the feet sometimes becomes so bad that not only is great pain caused by the inflammation, but the hoofs exfoliate and drop off.

After two or three days the blisters about the mouth gradually become opaque and at length burst and discharge an irritating watery fluid which increases the soreness; the cuticle comes off, leaving raw sores and shreds of loose skin. After some time these sores scab over and a healthy appearance gradually returns. Usually, during the first five or six days the malady increases in severity, after which amendment generally commences, and the beast slowly recovers. Sometimes the complaint becomes complicated with inflammation of some organ—as for instance, the lungs, in which case the danger is much greater. In milch cows the udder is often affected with tumors or abscesses constituting something very like what is commonly called garget. Those recently calved usually suffer most. In no case should the milk from cows laboring under this malady, however slight the attack, be used for food, as serious consequences have ensued from its use.

The treatment which has been bestowed upon this disease has varied with the opinions held concerning it. From the best information at command, there can be little doubt that good nursing is of much more avail than medicine, although the latter may be judiciously used with advantage. Mild aperients, but not active purgatives, may be given in the early stages, as, for instance, a moderate dose of epsom salts. Astringents may be applied to the mouth. For an astringent and so-called healing application, a solution of tannin in glycerine, one part of the former in six of the latter, would probably be found best; a very little being occasionally applied to the mouth with a soft brush; but as this may not always be easily procured, a cheap substitute may be found by dissolving an ounce of white vitriol (sulphate of zinc) in a pint of water. The feet should be kept clean; if part of the hoof separates, let it be pared away and a warm bran poultice applied. When inflammation takes use the solution of white vitriol. If the udder becomes much inflamed, use the same poultice and wash as for the feet. When other food cannot be taken, mashes and gruels must be administered. Too much stress cannot be laid on the necessity of cleanliness.

Dr. Dewar of Kircaldy, sometime since produced a method of cure for this malady, which has been highly commended by those who have tried it; and which, whatever its merits as a curative measure, furnishes undoubtedly the surest means of prevention, and of arresting its spread when once introduced into a herd, which is yet known. This is the employment of sulphurous acid gas, in other words, simple fumigation with sulphur. It is of easy application and trifling cost; care and judgment are however required; let some bits of brimstone be burned on live coals contained in a suitable vessel or dish, and the fumes allowed to mix with the air of the building, penetrating every crevice and filling the coats of animals.

It was formerly thought that these fumes were highly deleterious; but such is not the case unless inhaled in excess. It would indeed be easy to induce complete suffocation; but the air may be so far impregnated with sulphurous acid as to be very disagreeable and uncomfortable to breathe, and no harm ensue, but great good. An ounce or two is enough to burn at once for a barn of from six to twelve or twenty cattle, and the operation should be repeated regularly twice a day. The fumes should prevade all parts of the room equally, and not be stronger than the attendant can bear with moderate discomfort.

END OF THE MUDDLE.—The suits of the Northern and Concord Railroads are settled by the agreement of the parties litigant. A long schedule of articles of agreement, and a one hundred thousand dollar bond of indemnity to Gov. Stearns while he acted as agent, was agreed on, and the Concord road is to pass immediately into the hands of the Directors of the road. We are glad that the owners are to control their own property.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, JAN. 11.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 1090; Sheep and Lambs 11,200; Swine 1500; number of Western Cattle 668; Eastern Cattle 147; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 275. Cattle left over from last week —.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 75 @ $13 00; first quality $12 25 @ $12 50; second quality $11 50 @ $12 00; third quality $10 25 @$11 50; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $6 50 @ $9 50 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8c ℔ lb; Country Hides 7½ @ 8c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6½c per lb: Country Tallow 6c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The trade for Cattle this week has been very dull, the supply in market light and but few extra Cattle from Maine were suitable for Beef, but the demand for them was very slow, and some of the drovers took their stock to butchers to kill and market at a commission." There has not been much call for Working Oxen and Steers and the trade will probably continue dull for several weeks to come. There were a few Western Cattle in market which would cost 13 @ 13½c ℔ lb, dead weight.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $8 @ $20; two year olds $12 @ $45; three year olds $45 @ $65 ℔ head. Nearly all of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are sold for Beef. There is but a few Steers brought to market at this season of the year.

Milch Cows—Prices range from $30 @ $110 ℔ head. Nearly all the Cows in market are of an ordinary grade. There has not been much call for them, and owing to the Cattle Disease, which is prevailing at present, there will not be much done in the Milch Cow trade for several weeks to come.

Working Oxen—Not a large supply at market; we quote sales at $125 @ $250 ℔ pair.

Sheep and Lambs—Nearly all those from the West were owned by butchers at a commission. We quote prices—Extra and select lots $4 50 @ $6 50; ordinary lots $1 50 @ $4 00; Lambs $3 @ $6 50 ℔ head, or from 3 @ 8c ℔ lb.

Swine—Fat Hogs 7 @ 7½c ℔ lb. Store Pigs—None at market.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

☞ $1,000 Reward will be paid by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in curing all the diseases for which it is recommended. It acts promptly upon the liver, removing torpor or "Billiousness." Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been relized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The local potions which interest and deceive sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing. 1wdawjan14

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the treating of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold in the least of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate, with the tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but this is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Enterprise, Tocoi, Orange Grove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent changes, he is certain to suffer shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the Sunny Land of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, on the Atlantic, is a place I should have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a disordered liver, disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those who are really diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, combining every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce torpid liver than any other in the Union. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. I do not say that Schenck's Medicines will, largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a great percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were only properly treated in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c.; but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it is the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and, if liver is involved, Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work for which they are required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The patient will recover from a cough, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—for it is a great mistake that a man will eat a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; it has hopes of sicks. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by the cough, night sweats, and other symptoms begin and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient sits well, provided he has taken Schenck's Medicines.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida, and the question is to be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with the temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept uniform by the use of a good regulator or thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as fast and well, provided he does not cough, or bring up a healthy circulation of the system, that can be accomplished by this system, and can do no again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. I have stated the manner, and the means, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Let where you will, you will be almost certain to find some people in attendance who have been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them out hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its mercurial effects behind them. They are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrake will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrake, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrake Pills when you retire, and then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless, and they can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the advice of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a competent teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano Playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

WANTED, a Daily Chronicle of Dec. 10, 1870.

☞ Mrs. Dr. Borroughs has donated $200 to Phillips Exeter Academy.

☞ E. P. Kimball, Esq., has been chosen Deacon in the Congregational Church, vice John Knowlton, deceased.

☞ Rev. E. W. Jackson will be present to participate in the Temperance Meeting at the Methodist Church, Sunday evening. All are invited.

☞ Sudden change in the weather has characterized the present Winter. But a few days ago the temperature was at zero; on Thursday the sidewalks were too slippery to walk on; but Friday was a delightful, spring-like day, and the small quantity of snow and ice was sensibly diminished.

☞ We hear in various quarters bitter denunciation of certain gentlemen elected by Republican voters, for the course they choose to take in public affairs. The tricks of the "heathen Chinee" are no more "peculiar" than the pettifogging clap-trap of the copperheads, and that the gentlemen alluded to above are shrewd enough not to be caught in any political net, we do not doubt. The fang of the copperhead may be concealed for a time under a smooth and oily tongue, but confidence will lead to greater boldness, and if there be any who have been deceived, the scales will fall from their eyes. Wait for the record, and then judge.

A RELIABLE VOUCHER.—The leading drummer on the local copper kettle is virtuously indignant because we are not deceived by the "economy-and-reform" tricks of the copper-wire pullers in this (or any other) vicinity; and he pounds away with an amusing fury, fully equal to that of Chinese sailors when they beat gongs to scare away influences which they fear will defeat the ends they have in view. Unfortunately, we don't write to please either him or his pets; and his endorsement of the immaculate purity of the motives of the leading tricksters of his party would have carried quite as much weight with it if he had not commenced his howl about their truth and honesty with one of the meanest of petty falsehoods, in giving half of one of our statements as the whole of it. But that is a very fair specimen of "trooly democratic" honesty.

HON. WILLIAM B. SMALL.—The Republican nominee for Congress in this district, cannot fail to be the people's choice at the polls. Of all the candidates before the party for their suffrages no one is, perhaps, so well entitled to the appellation of "self-made." He is the architect of his own fortune, and the arbiter of every success he has won. His education was obtained through the most trying difficulties, and was earned step by step, while poor parents were depending upon him for assistance. His study of the law was prosecuted while earning an honest though scanty livelihood.

As a lawyer, Mr. Small has few equals at the bar. There is nothing bombastic or superfluous in his practice. He sticks to the law, the testimony and his client. His honesty and integrity are undoubted, even by his enemies, and when once he espouses a cause he fights to win, and fights to the end. Such a man must be successful, sooner or later. He is one of the ablest County solicitors this county has ever had, as well as one of the most astute advocates.

In his public life, as State Senator and Representative, he has ever manifested the same unflinching integrity and devotion to truth and justice that characterizes him at the bar.

Mr. Small is now in the prime of his manhood, and has a surplus of native energy to devote to the service of his country. His faculties have never been impaired by dissipation, during a law practice of twenty years duration.

At the polls, he will receive the united support of his party, and cannot fail to receive the votes of many influential Democrats; those who are determined to support able representative men irrespective of the trammels of politics. Exeter News Letter.

A COACHMAN IN TROUBLE.—During the past week, a coachman in this town was near coming to grief. He took a lady, who was very deaf and quite voluble, out to ride. He supposed she would tell him where she wished to start. So she gave him the first information, but the last was so confused and disconnected that he, being a foreigner, concluded to address her in French. She did not apparently understand; he then talked low Dutch to her, with no better results. The consequence was, that he, not being able to learn where she would make a second call, asked a friend to communicate with her, which relieved him of further anxiety on that score, and he made his round without further trouble.—Exeter News Letter.

☞ Hon. B. F. Wade is President of the San Domingo Commission. Andrew White, president of the Cornell University, is one of the members. Gen. Sickles will be Secretary.

—Shall we win?—Exeter News Letter. Why shouldn't we?

HOW TO CURE DRUNKENNESS.—It is generally understood that young persons, when first employed as pastry cooks, are permitted to surfeit themselves to their heart's content on pies, cakes and sweetmeats; the result being that in a very short time they become perfectly callous to the charms of the counter. We learn from a valuable little book, recently published in London, called "The Home Nurse," that in the Austrian army a method on a similar principle is used as a remedy for drunkenness and medical reports state that out of 139 cases, 128 cures of confirmed drunkards have been effected. The plan is as follows:

The soldier taken in a state of intoxication, or purposely inebriated, is confined to his room, where his diet is carefully and amply supplied to him, according to his choice. For he is allowed brandy and water, in the proportion of one-third water. All his food is prepared in a weak solution of brandy and water. Coffee, with a small quantity of brandy, is also allowed him. At first, the treatment throws the patient into a constant state of intoxication, and he sleeps much. At the end of three or four days he takes a dislike to his food and drink, and asks for a change, which request, were it acceded to, would entirely prevent the completion of the cure. On the contrary, it must now be persevered in, until the patient can no longer swallow food or drink, and even the smell revolts and nauseates the stomach, when the cure may be considered as effected. The shortest time for the continuance of the treatment is seven days; the longest nine.

In order to prevent the congestion which might ensue, the patient must now be given gentle emetics—that is, one grain of emetic in a bottle of water; a wineglassful to be taken every quarter of an hour in the morning fasting. This is followed by forty grains of magnesia, daily, given in broth or gruel, placing the patient at first on a low, light diet, and then gradually increasing to his original rations. If, during the first part of the treatment, spitting of blood or convulsions should result, it must not be persevered in; therefore, this mode of remedy cannot on any pretence whatever, be adopted but by a medical man. In Russia, drunkenness is also treated as a disease, and certain strong aromatic preparations are used as curative means. As a temporary remedy, to restore the unfortunate victim to a state of sobriety, give him from ten to twelve drops of spirits of ammonia in a wineglass of water. This will be sufficient in a common case; but if the person is positively drunk, it may be necessary to give the dose a second time, in which case it will generally act as an emetic (an advantage), when a short sleep will ensue, and the patient will wake restored. None but a medical man may venture to apply the ammonia to the nostrils, as not only injurious, but fatal effects might ensue.

☞ A raid was made on the Brooklyn illicit distilleries Thursday, with the assistance of regular troops, and about $150,000 worth of stills and mash destroyed.

☞ Benjamin Davis, Esq., of Newburyport died on Tuesday, aged 52 years. For many years he was engaged in shipbuilding in that city.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40 000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 8½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after the date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from yesterday.

CONCATENATION BILL.

It was in midsummer, and the heat was terrible. All day long the naked red mountains absorbed the fierce heat of the burning sun, and all night they gave it off, as the bricks of the baker's oven gave back to the atmosphere within it the heat received from the blazing wood-fire just raked out. Sleep, until far into the morning hours, was an impossibility, in doors or out and the miners were wont to stretch themselves on their blankets beneath the long veranda at the hacienda and while away the early part of the night fighting mosquitoes and swapping lies, which were about equally abundant in that camp.

Not long before this time the Mojaves of the Colorado went to war with the Pimas and Maricopas of the Gila. The first skirmish resulted in the rapid retreat of the Pimas, with the loss of four bucks and one squaw. But the second fight was disastrous to the Mojaves, who were compelled to retreat with great loss.

Now, it so happened that Concatenation Bill had been on the Gila at or about that time, and either saw the fight, or heard the details from some one who did, and he had worked up the incidents into a wonderful romance, of which he was the principal hero, and never tired of telling. No one about the camp knew aught to the contrary, and the story, for want of contradiction, became one of the acknowledged and respected legends of the Fork. But for an unfortunate incident, which I shall presently relate, it would have passed into history, and handed down to prosperity with all the claim to reverence and credence which attaches to that of William Tell, or the infant G. W., and his hatchet and his cherry tree. One day, just as the sun was going down in the orange-hued western sky, and the sweating cook was calling the toilers at the mine to dinner with the welcome clangor of his bell, a game looking young frontiersman, in buckskin garments and broad Pike County hat, rode down the steep declivity of the Red Mountain and made his way into camp. He was made free of the camp, and turned in with the rest on the veranda at night.—Stories came on in due course, and, at a hint from some one of the crowd, Concatenation Bill started in with the true and romatic history of the "Great Indian Fight on the Gila." Thus went he on:

"Well, you see, boys, the old chiefs of the Primas and Maricopas found things was going agin 'em after the first fight, and they looked about 'em for a leader who knew how to put up the pipe for a victory. They pitched on me, and I drawed up the plan of the campaign right away. The next night I laid for the Mojaves, and got 'em. They came up the river, yelling like devils, and drove our picket-guard before 'em like chaff; but, when I got 'em just in the right spot, I gave the word, and we riz on 'em. I never did feel guilty at taking human life before, but the fact is, that slaughter was frightful, and it came to be a perfect butchery before we got through. I swear to man that the Gila riz over a foot, but I don't say it was owing to the blood which run into it. There was about two thousand dead Mojaves floating down the stream, and they probably choked it up at some p'int where it was narrer like, and so set the water back more or less. Right in the thickest of the fight, when it seemed for a few minutes as if the Majoves—who were game to the last—was goin' to get the best of us, I went for their chief, and downed him with a blow from my revolver, and was cocking my weapin to give him a settler, when old Ickternmiree, his second in command and about half a dozen lieutenants, made for me, and we all clinched and went down. I got one arm loose, and pulling my bowie-knife, commenced slashing right and left, when—"

Concatenation Bill never told us what happened after that. When he commenced the story, the stranger, who was lying some feet away, listened attentively for a few minutes, and then slowly rose to a sitting position, and then to his feet. As the story progressed he moved quietly toward the spot where Bill was lying, and startled that worthy by suddenly appearing over him, towering up like a giant in the moonlight, and every feature convulsed with excitement.

"You did that, stranger?" he exclaimed, with stentorian lungs, and accents indicative of rage repressed until it was at the point of bursting him.

"Yes, me!" was Bill's reply, delivered in a slightly less confident tone.

The stranger jumped about four feet in the air, cracking his heels together so that the report sounded like the firing of a musket, swinging his revolver around to the front so as to be ready for instant use, and, as he came down, fairly yelled:

"Well, by the great horn spoon, stranger that is singular! I hope I may be sunk in —— this minute if there was not one white man thar, an' I'm the man!"

The camp was as still as death in an instant. Every man expected to hear the report of a revolver, and waited in breathless silence for a crowning catastrophe.

"You, the man?"

"Yes, by the jumping tom-cats of Jerusalem, me! Take a good look at me. I can just eat any ten men that dar say anything to the contrary!"

The silence grew deeper. Concatenation Bill lay motionless for a moment, looking up at his opponent in the moonlight; then apparently satisfied that he was a man of his word, and was able to carry it out, slowly turned over on his side, and, drawing the corner of his blanket over his head, remarked, with a voice free from excitement as that of an infant quietly resting in its mother's arms:

"Well, I reckon that lets me out!"

A peal of laughter from all but the two rang out on the desert air, and was answered by a wild yap-yap-yap ya hoo-oo-oo from the startled wolves, which were prowling around the camp by dozens. The stranger went sulkily back to his blankets and lay down. Again and again the loud laughter pealed forth on the air, but not a word or a sound of any kind came from Bill to denote his consciousness. He had played that hand for all it was worth, and was fairly raised out at last.

When the summits of the distant Harcuyar Mountains were glinting with the rays of the rising sun, the miners of the Fork were up and stirring, as was their wont. The breakfast bell sounded, and a rush was made for the dining-room. A familiar face was missing, and there was a vacant place at the table for the first time in weeks. Concatenation Bill was gone. The camp which had known him so long was to know him no more forever. In the gray of the dawn he had stealthily risen, folded his blankets, packed up his traps, saddled his hipshot mule, and departed, as silently as a ghost, not deigning even a gruff good-bye to anybody about the premises. What became of him we never knew. The road to La Paz he had travelled too often; that to Salt Lake was beset by the Hualapais; and that to Prescott and Tucson was lined with Apaches. Did he take the road "that Ward's ducks went?" We shuddered at the thought; but, in sheer desperation, he may have done so.

A few days later, the writer and a party of frontiersmen friends paused before a low grave on the road to Skull valley, over which some wandering Mexicans had erected a rude cross of stone in testimony of there rested the remains of a Christiano. There was an empty bottle by the side of the grave, and on the label the initials "C. B." Did those initials stand for "Concatenation Bill?"

The party were equally divided on the question of the probabilities; but it is a rule on the frontier never to miss such an opportunity merely for an uncertainty, so we reverently drank to the memory of the illustrious departed, hero of "the Great Indian Fight on the Gila," then rode away into new scenes and new dangers; and henceforth, to all that reckless party save the writer, Bill was dead and almost as thoroughly forgotten, as

"The little birds that sang
A hundred years ago."

The Origin of "Concert Pitch."

A BIT OF PROFANE HISTORY, IN 12 CANTOS.

The devil kept a singing school,
And gave instruction free;
For keeping his pupils up to the pitch,
A plucky old fellow was he.

His class was large; each pupil intent,
On getting his lessons for nothing;
But spite of all the devil could do,
The brimstone would set them coughing.

And coughing is bad for a singer you know,
And a brimstone cough all else surpasses;
But brimstone itself can be made to go,
When incorporated well with molasses.

But fire and molasses could never agree,
(And in that place fire is so handy,)
And the devil well knew that molasses could be,
In his jurisdiction, but candy.

So he made them sing lower, he made them sing higher,
But nothing would help the evil,
As for changing his fuel, or stopping his fire,
No such thought e'er occurred to the devil.

The fire was so hot, that it melted the pot,
That he kept his Concert Pitch in,
So each pupil in turn, was forced to adjourn,
His lessons to take in the kitchen.

They sang so sharp, and they sang so flat,
For want of a Pitch to sustain them,
That the master got angry, and used words, that
A big volume would not contain them.

While those in the kitchen were trying to sing,
With the devil himself at their backs,
The rest in the music-room tried hard to bring
Some remnant of Pitch from the cracks.

But losing is one thing and finding another,
As they to their cost ascertained;
The pitch that boiled over they could not recover,
While scarcely a trace remained.

Alas, for music! Though the triumph of science,
Reconciles every one to the facts,
The brimstone and pitch, and something else
I cannot remember, were wax;
With chemical laws in compliance.

But for "Concert Wax" the devil could find,
No possible use or occasion;
The scanty supply made "Concert Pitch" high,
And it remains so, all over creation.

Now naught doth remain, in this History profane,
Of the triumphs of music to tell;
But to canonize Pitch an article which,
Had an origin so spiritually.

THE CLAM.—The chief article of game that is in our market now is the clam, and may therefore be considered to have a local interest to our readers. A great deal might be written about the clam if one could only think what to write; in fact that is a great drawback in treating any subject. For the benefit of many who reside inland and are not intimate with the peculiar odor of "flats" and "porgy chum" we will address a few remarks.

The clam resides near the water, on the sea beat shore. We don't feel at liberty to say how he came there, as we were never quite sure on that point ourselves. We never heard of one being born or of dying a natural death; but if they grew tough with age, we have eaten some that must have been near 2000 years old. Viewing them with an artist's eye, they have no great beauty. Their cast of countenance is peculiar. They have a good neck for a stand up collar. They are built a good deal like an old fashioned oval snuff-box, and open similar. They vary in size from a silver half dollar to a buckwheat cake. They are very secluded; we never knew one to go away from home. 'Tis safe to leave one anywhere without hitching. If we were to have a picture of a clam we should prefer a profile view, as he looks fuller in the face that way. They are frugal and honest and do all their business through the bank.

The clam is hunted as the potato is, with a hoe, and as an article of food they can't be excelled in their line. To prepare him for the table—First, obtain the clams; 2d, remove their outside wrapper, that is peel them (never use a razor); 3d, cut off the head just above the shoulder blade; 4th, wash well in clean water (without soap) and have them ready to cook. When a clam is undressed it resembles a piece of chamois leather, and some people pretend that they prefer the leather to the clam as an article of food, but we lean toward the clam. The amount necessary for a meal depends some on the number of eaters. A large number of clams are enough for several people, and vice-versa. By observing this rule you will always be able to provide the right quantity. There is just as much difference in a clam as there is in anybody. A New York clam is no more to be compared to one of ours than a seven-thirty bond is to a counterfeit scrip. The former eats like a bass wood chip, and is only good for small children to cut their teeth on. In hunting the clam always go at low water, else you can't buy any. The fact that they cannot be taken at full tide gave rise to the adage, "As happy as a clam at high water," This is all we known about the clam.—Belfast Journal.

—Scene at a meeting at Preston, England: "Take thy hat off," said one fellow in the crowd to another in front of him. "What for?" "Why, aw cannot see." "Well," replied the other, "if aw take my hat off thou'll be worse off than ever. My yare [hair] is thirteen inches long an' it stons straight up. I've put my hat on to keep it down."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The components parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1864.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold: he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Foredebings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfuiness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD [Drug] and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms; Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway, New York.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1871.

THE GOOD OF THE SERVICE.—The line officers of the navy, all through their long and earnest crusade against the rights of the staff, have protested that their conduct was governed solely by a laudable desire to promote "the Good of the Service;" and to the demand of the staff that they receive a day's pay for a day's work as well as the line, the answer has been, "It would injure the service." The efforts of the line to improve the service by making it an institution sacred to aristocracy — or rather, snobbery — have been so far successful that many old and faithful servants of the people have left the medical and other staff corps of the navy, preferring positions of honor on shore to the degradations and insults they have received in the service. The well-known Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, (a gentleman who has never worked hard to benefit the staff, if he has not really opposed them,) in a recent report to that paper says:—

The medical department of the Navy has some thirty vacancies, although the necessities of the service has compelled the lowering of the standard of examination until it is far below that of Great Britain. * * * Were these requirements made by the United States Navy, the probability is that under present circumstances there would be no successful applicant for admission.

And he is right. "Under present circumstances" no real physician or surgeon will apply for admission to the navy, where medical men are but tools to write whatever any "executive" or commanding officer may choose to order, even though the latter are ignorant and conceited fools or brutal tyrants—and some of both kinds may be found in the ranks of the line officers of the service—and where their position is that of inferior beings with no rights which the line are bound to respect. Commenting on the dearth of surgeons and the fact that efficient medical men and engineers will not now enter—though many are leaving—the service, a cotemporary says: "The division line of rank in our navy between the line and staff, which makes the line officers of a higher order of humanity than those who are required to know something, has its result in deterring first-rate surgeons and engineers from entering the navy."

The disinterested efforts of the line to improve the service by appropriating to themselves all the honors and emoluments thereof, and by disregarding or opposing the just claims of everybody else, have been successful only in giving us a naval nobility who assume more on less grounds than any other order of nobility in the world ever dared to do. Congress has a bill (Gen. Stevens') now before it, the adoption of which would do more for "the good of the service" than all the airs and sophistries of the line have yet effected, or ever can effect.

THE WRECK OF THE SAGINAW.—The Saginaw left Midway Island on the afternoon of October 28, and Captain Sicard having heard that some people were shipwrecked on Ocean Island, steered for it. The captain gave orders to go slow, expecting to make the island early in the morning.

At 2.30 A. M., on the 29th, the captain came on deck and ordered the mainsail to be taken in and the engines stopped, reducing the steamer's speed at 3 o'clock. The officer on duty reported that the wind was freshening, and that the ship was going two and a half knots an hour.

A few minutes later "Breakers ahead" were reported, and the engines were ordered to be backed. The men on the watch seem paralyzed. The captain and officers, by great exertions, got the topsails in and the engines were backed, but the steam up at the time was not sufficient to drive her astern.

The topsails were reset, but just as they were up the vessel struck. She bilged within ten minutes and flooded her hold at once. The forward body broke off within one hour of the time of striking.

The heavy swell and the reef did not afford much time, and not being diagonally braced, she went to pieces so fast that they could barely save the provisions and all the boats.

The Hawaiian steamer Gelama is expected at Honolulu with all hands from Ocean Island, on the 12th instant.

Minister Price, of the Sandwich Islands, reports to the Secretary of the Navy further particulars of the steamer Saginaw. All hands were saved, with three months' provisions—quarter rations. Water, seal and birds were abundant.

THE WAR.

A London dispatch says the army under Chanzy was completely defeated near Le Mans by the second German army, commanded by Prince Frederick Charles and the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg. The Germans have occupied Le Mans, capturing large quantities of supplies and war materials. The French are being pursued.

A French dispatch says the Germans attacked the French army of the Loire along the whole line. General Jaurezberry, who commanded the right wing of the French, held his position on the right bank of the Huisue, and General Colomb on the left and centre fought desperately for six hours. The French maintained most of their positions.

CONGRESS.

The Senate confirmed Admiral D. D. Porter on Friday, 31 to 10. Twenty Senators were absent.

The House passed the Senate bill authorizing an increase of the issue of 5 per cent. bonds to $500,000,000, with amendment that the total amount issued shall not be increased.

REMARKS OF HON. JACOB H. ELA on the San Domingo Resolutions:—

Mr. Speaker, it is with great reluctance I make any opposition to this measure and take any part in this discussion, because my judgment runs counter to that of the Administration, and to that, I fear, of a majority of my political associates here; and also to the manifest destiny feeling, which I possess largely, which looks forward to the time when we shall sweep into the national fold all the territory lying between the Isthmus and the North pole. I see no moral principle involved in the question. There is not an inhabitant in all that region who would not be benefitted by annexation. The question to be determined now is, whether it is good for us as a nation, and whether it is expedient for us as a party even, to embark in any expensive measure of annexation. My opposition to this commission comes from the fact that I see no point in it whatever, unless it means annexation at the present time. Without the amendment of the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Ambler] I believe it would be taking steps for an entangling alliance for a piece of foreign territory, populated by a mixed and turbulent race, with no feelings or sentiments in common with us, and who have knowledge even of our language.

I the condition of the Treasury was such as to warrant the undertaking now, we have unsettled and discordant elements enough at home to take care of without going abroad for more and worse to add to them. But this acquisition means more than this. It means large sums for public debts, claims, grants, franchises, and matters of that kind. It means a horde of office-holders to prevent smuggling with the Haytian end of the island, which will afford first-class facilities for quarrels and war with that people, and end in the necessity for annexing that end of the island also, either by purchase or conquest. It means vast sums of money for fortifications about the bay of Samana, naval stations, navy-yards, marine hospitals, and numerous war vessels to defend this foreign outpost. It means more naval force and more naval officers; more army force and more army officers to garrison the fortifications and keep the peace of the island, who will be swept down before the diseases and climate of that island, as the European armies sent there have always been swept down.

But where is the money to come from for all this unless by additional and grinding taxation upon our own people? The war in Europe precludes the idea of the low funding of our bonds abroad, and makes it probable that we must meet our foreign interest, instead of getting more credit. Your land grants are in the home market offering seven-thirty gold interest bonds, free of Government tax, at par in currency, and driving the Government out. With no reduction of the rates of interest, with from ninety to a hundred millions less revenue the coming year than the past, with the expense of this annexation to be added to other expenses, there will be no more reduction of the public debt, but additional taxation, or an increase of that debt.

What benefits can come from this movement to warrant the expense at this time, when the whole commerce of that country with this, including both imports and exports, is less than $150,000 per year, and when, if annexation is accomplished, it is another outpost to defend, isolated and cut off from our resources? Sir, if we had millions of surplus revenue in the Treasury, instead of hundred of millions of interest-bearing debt to carry, we could afford to commence the undertaking; but, believing that neither the country nor the Treasury is in a condition now to enter upon this enterprise, I feel impelled to oppose any measure which commits the country to annexation at the present time.

Then he added: "Do you make them ere steam critters they call injines, in here?" "Yes" replied one of the workmen. "Let me see you make one," responded the stanger, "and be darned quick about it, as I aint got but a few minutes left." The workman, with a mischievous twinkle, gravely assured him that the apprentice boy, who made all the steam-engines, had a "stent" to make one gross per day; "but," he added, with a lengthened visage, "he's finished his 'stent' and been gone more than two hours."

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and relate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for nearly less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The local potions which interested dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing. 1wdawjan14

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a place called Enterprise on Lake Monroe, at the terminus of the Atlantic and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to this place, it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The climate in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite. Still, when this is felt, they are generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My patients are saying to me, that they feel less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive invalid can avoid taking cold, consequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are afflicted with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, severe tortures, dyspepsia, or those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is usually recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In 1869, I began anew to prescribe my Schenck's Mandrake Pills: for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact, that people in Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. In the cities in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; and in the southern States, comparatively speaking. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumption were as easily cured in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they call a little cold, and it is so easy and credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They go about as usual, and hence it lays the foundation for another and worse cold, and so on, until the diseased beyond all hope of cure.

For those in the northern states, lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and I do not hesitate to recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their effects. I know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. Consumption is a curable disease in my hands. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases, I prefer one of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign, if the patient says, "I feel as hungry as there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy-five degrees, and keep be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is easily cured in any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be astonished to hear of some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the grave, and is alive and well.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They give no bilious or liver disease, but, on the contrary, have none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will surely cure it. If you are subject to costiveness, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in a few hours. They will obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily tell whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at the school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in improvement and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, two, or six lessons at most, and then each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing" ever to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the fault of parents. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

At night an Assistant Marshal and six watchmen are employed. Besides this, the City Marshal may frequently be seen acting as a night watchman voluntarily.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—The Chronicle but a few months ago favored the old Board of Directors of the Concord Railroad, but now is on the other side. Why? X.

Because there has been a change of proprietors. Our opinions have not changed and we are heartily glad that the so-called "Ring" have won. We are not responsible for the opinion of any one else.—Eds. Chronicle.

☞ This evening, the third of Mr. Bartlett's course of dramatic readings will be given in Congress Hall, when he will read Goldsmith's popular comedy, "The Good Natured Man." We anticipate a lively and delightful hour in witnessing the impersonations of old "Croaker" and "Jack Lofty." Evening tickets at thirty-five cents each, may be had at the door. The reading will commence precisely at quarter to eight o'clock, and it is particularly desired that all be punctually in their seats at the time appointed.

☞ The preachers of extravagance in city matters may compare the following salaries paid by the cities of Lynn and Portsmouth.

	Portsmouth.	Lynn.
Mayor	$500	$2000
City Clerk	1000	1500
Treasurer	100	1000
Collector about	1300	1500
Marshal	800	1500
Clerk Com. Council	50	300
Sur. Highways	2 per day	1200
Messenger	500	700
Engineer	100	500
Assessors Taxes each	25	1000
Ass't Engr's	20	100

Besides the above, the City Clerk of Lynn is allowed $1200 for clerk hire.

☞ The two-cent copper horn allows that it has heard only one side of the story "which the enemies of Rev. Canon Walsh" (i. e., the Overseers of the Poor,) have put in circulation, and can not get at the facts, said Walsh being absent from the city,—and then, with its usual consistency and regard for the truth, proceeds to tell "all there was of it." If the "gossip" about the affair is disgraceful, the transaction itself must have been outrageous, and the perpetrator deserves to be treated to a hot bath, with plenty of good cleansing soap in the water. The lofty sense of manly honor and gentlemanly courtesy which prompts the blower on the copper horn to defend a man by casting a slur upon an estimable woman, excites no surprise,—it has always been possessed in that quarter; but we doubt if such a line of defence will be of much benefit to the great gun who has occasioned so loud a report.

☞ The contract or lease of the Portsmouth, Saco & Portland Railroad to the Eastern and Boston & Maine roads, which was made in 1847, will be terminated on the 20th inst. by the payment of $100,000 to each of the other roads by the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland road, according to the contract, which was that whichever party wished to close the same should pay the other $200,000. The Boston roads have paid the Portland road six per cent. in gold, and have cleared about half a million of dollars by the lease. Both the Eastern and the Boston and Maine roads are desirous of securing a new lease. But if a new one should be made as before the rate would doubtless be 10 or 12 per cent. premium on the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland stock of $1,500,000. The latter road is ready and desirous of building a new depot in Portland, and only waits the action in the Maine legislature to allow them to close up or alter a city highway. Ex-Governor Goodwin of this city has been president of the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland road for twenty-five years.

☞ The Dover Board of Trade has re-organized. Where is the Portsmouth B. of T.?

☞ Two Navy Yard workmens' boats, the Edith and the Gen. Hooker, had a foul on the river Thursday evening when returning from the Yard to this city, occasioned by the Edith attempting to cross the Hooker's bow. There has been some rivalry as to the speed of the two boats, and the Hooker's men say their antagonist does very well,—but would do still better if she did not carry a morphine pump in the stern. *

☞ On Thursday, Miss Eliza Remick of Rye was badly burned by her clothes taking fire from an open fireplace, while she was sitting with her back towards it. Her back and arms were severely injured and her recovery is doubtful, as the shock to her nervous system has prostrated her. She is about 60 years old.

BASE BALL.—The Atlantics and Mutuals played a game of base ball on the ice. The game was won by the former —36 to 6.

☞ Mr. Aaron L. Mellow has declined a re-nomination as the Democratic canidate for Senator from this District.

☞ Another explosion in a colliery near Newcastle, Straffordshire, England, killed and injured 20 persons.

☞ New Britain, Connecticut, has accepted a city charter; 521 yeas, 520 nays.

☞ Our punner furnishes the following scintillations:—

Sunday idlers in New York worship at Notre Dame church.

The finest thing our Government has produced, is the attitude sentimental of the Whiskey Revenue; it collects the due on the Rye every day. J. Crapeau, who stands at our elbow and stammers, says C'est b-bon!

Is the head-gardener at the White House a barber.

Why should crows be killed? Because they poise on high trees, and high treason is punishable by death, and so is poisoning.

Geographical.—Cuba is always mentioned in the feminine gender. This is manifestly wrong. For doesn't the poet say, "What am I to He Cuba, or He Cuba to me?" And isn't Cuba the gem of the Caribbean? And how could Cuba be the Jim of the Cribby Ann if he were a she?

Why are cats like contributors to the press? Because they "right" (write) on one side, and they have tails, too.

RELIABLE WEATHER SIGNS.—Josh Billings in his new Almanac gives these especial 'signs' which are about as reliable prognostics of the weather, as we find published anywhere else:

When roosters are observed before daylite in the morning soreing among the klouds, and uttering lamentashuns, then look out for sudden weather, and a severe pucker in the money market.

When you see 13 geese walking injun file, and toeing in, you kan deliberately bet yure last surviving dollar on a hard winter, and a grate fluktuousness, during the next season, in the price of cowhide boots.

If pigs squeal in the nite, and grasshoppers cum oph ov their roost and mingle in a free fight, yu may hope for high winds in a few weeks, and also typus fever in yure naberhood.

When hens lay 2 eggs a day, and men cease to brag, and wimin cease to cakle, then injun summer draws in, and the millenium aint far oph.

When spiders are seen climbing up the wall backwares, and frogs kough as thou they had the croups, look out for rain; this is also a sure sign that children will have the measles light.

If bees hang around their hives, and mules are seen in a brown study, a storm ov some kind is cooking, and you will notice the market for herring is very cadaverous and shifty.

—George B. McClellan has won a pipe in a fair. When the roads are better he will advance and take it.—Chicago Mail.

—J. Smythe Jownes of Louisville thinks the street car companies ought to take measures to regulate the standard of waits.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40 000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, of a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

		Difference in Cash	Incr'd annual Int. Exchange. upon investment.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Reveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after the date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

WHY NOTTEE?

What foree make hullabaloo
Bout Chinaman comes out here?
Can't Chinaman make good shoe
Like other man called foreigner?

What zo he have muchee pigtail!
What zo his face darkee and bare?
Don't Irishman gottee shillale,
And teethee all covered with hair?

The Chinaman eatee, of course,
Some rattee, and micee, and frog,
But the Frenchyman eatee the horse,
And the Irishman eatee the hog.

The Irishman whisky like much—
The Frenchyman wine mustee bee—
The lager beer fillee the Dutch,
But the Chinamen drinkee his tea.

Why nottee be citizen too,
A niggee so blackee than he?
And votee like Irishman do,
For Inginee call Tammanee?

Then Chinaman Alderman too;
With belly so biggee as drum,
And muchee tobacco he chew,
And drinkee much whisky and rum.

And then he will very much soon
Takee holdee of Twedee great hand.
Be high cock-a-lorum Tycoon
Of this greatee and glorious land.

Y. KNOT CHING.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE FROM DEATH. We are called upon to record one of the most marvelous preservations recorded in the annals of modern history. The skaters were merry at the bridge on Monday night, as were they in almost every other locality unvisited by calamity, and skillful skaters glided over the glassy surface, cutting names, initials and hieroglyphics with their engraving tools. The more nimble and skillful played ball and cavorted around the clumsy amateurs, who, with half-cracked skulls, blew their fingers and gazed at the experts.

All at once an exclamation of horror transfixed every gazer. Amid the cracking and breaking of the ice one was observed struggling for a hold on the slippery edges of the ice, which broke off in large pieces. His benumbed fingers loosened their grasp, and the unfortunate skater was carried by the murderous current out of sight under the cold and glassy ice. Being an expert swimmer, and possessed of great presence of mind, he struck out vigorously and swam after the manner of a diver. The fishes gazed at him with their green eyes and nibbled his clothes as he swam through the frigid current, and he, too, imagined that grim death was gazing at him, as though they would question him concerning his severance with the affairs of the land.

He is almost exhausted, and he lets down and his feet strike the bottom. He has reached a shoal. Pressing his head vigorously against the yielding ice, with his feet braced below, a cracking his beard, and he gazes along the surface of the ice. To come through lightly was but a moment's work, and bidding his friends—the fishes—good by, he is conveyed to a fire to dry and warm, having swam over twenty yards under the water.—Leavenworth (Kansas) Republican.

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-ONE.—The almanacs for 1871 are coming round, and from them we learn important facts. January will be the first month of this year, and will also be a billous month to those prostrated from impecuniosity.

February will not be much of a month, as it is not leap year. March will be devoted by the Prussians to getting home.

The first of April is the anniversary of the birth of the majority of mankind outside of Kittery, and will be celebrated accordingly. May and June will be devoted to the growth of sprouts, a fact of which schoolmasters will take advantage, and of which mischievous urchins will become painfully aware. Fourth of July will occur once this year, to wit: July 4th. This day is used to remind lukewarm patriets of those who fought and bled; appropriate illustrations being gotten up by exploding firearms and treacherous gunpowder. August will be a dry month if it fails to rain, and if the horns of the moon turn up. Keepers of saloons discover this fact and contribute what they can to relieve plethoric pocket-books and general dryness. Boys will desist from skating this month. In September the G. I. F. F. Club will go fishing. Musquitos will bite well. October is a good month to gather autumn leaves, for with November autumn leaves altogether and winter begins. In December Weston will once more overcome his modesty and try to walk five miles in 4,000 days, for the cause of science. He will fail. The female ministrels will call in December. Turkeys will be reminded of approaching Christmas and will grow fat.

1872 will follow 1871. We fearlessly venture this prediction, although the almanacs for that year are not yet published.

The sun will be eclipsed by the moon during the year, and both these luminaries will be eclipsed by George Francis Train. We may have overlooked some matters of interest. If so, our neglect will make them insignificant.

—Mark Twain writes the following answer to a "correspondent:" "Young author—Yes, Agassiz does recommend authors to eat fish, because the phosphorus in it makes brains. So far you are correct. But I can not help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat—at least, not with certainty. If the specimen composition you send is about your fair average, I should judge that perhaps a couple of whales would be all you would want for the present. Not the largest kind, but simply good middling-sized whales.

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR

FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Draft, to the "GOVERNOR."

THE ANGELS.

"Oh, my!" It was a little crossing sweeper who spoke, standing with her hands clasped round her broom. She stood in the narrow lane at the back entrance of one of the lowest theatres in London. Placards, depicting as many horrible crimes as would furnish plots for twenty thousand novels, were posted about. But it was not these which riveted her attention; she did not even once look at them. It was the dull, dusty, unsuggestive door that seemed to be the sole object of her worship. The roar of omnibuses and sounds of traffic at the top of the street did not arouse her, nor did she move until a voice beside said:

"Maggie, Maggie! I've been looking for you everywhere."

Maggie turned slowly to the little lame boy behind her, not startled, but recalled. "Oh, Jack," she said, "just you come and listen. I have been a-hearing something."

She pointed to the door, and added in a solemn whisper, "You look there, Jack; you can't think all I've been hearing." Jack's eyes, mouth, and every bit of him said "What!"

"Look hard," she whispered, "through that chink; maybe you'll get a peep of 'em."

He laid his face against the dark draughty chink, but seemed as much mystified as before. "Have you?" he asked. She nodded gravely.

"Oh, Maggie!" cried the child, a shiver passing over him, "do say what."

"Listen," she said, "and don't you speak. He as told me was a big un, and knowed a whole lot of things. He said it was in there the angels live, and he's seen 'em often. There now!"

The children remained silent with their hands clasped. It was an awful realization, only that dusty door between them and the angels. At length the boy spoke:

"Be they always there?"

"No," answered she; "only at nights when it's dark."

Jack looked up and down the street, and into the black windows of the warehouse opposite. Maggie understood.

"Tain't that way they come," she said, and pointed to the grey stripe of sky overhead. "They come down."

Jack gave a satisfied nod. He did not ask how they came. He did not expect to understand what he was told; he simply believed it.

"And oh," continued the child, clasping her broom in an ecstacy, "they be so beautiful! you can't think, Jack."

"Tell me," said he, fixing his eyes on her glowing face—"tell me!"

"I can't, Jack, I can't. They ain't like you or me. When they walk they make a line and shine; and they're al colors, gold and blue and red; and they can't be cold or hungry. Oh, my!"

The last words were a great relief. They conveyed all she could not express; and Jack nodded again, perfectly satisfied.

"Maggie," suggested he, "can we see 'em? Do you think they'd let us look at them if we did not go too near?"

Maggie shook her head and the child's face fell.

"If you'd money, maybe you'd get in; but 'taint for such as you or me."

He pondered a moment. "S'pose we sat here and watched for 'em coming down; would they be very angry if they'd see'd us sitting here?"

Maggie was silent. The idea was not a bad one. Why should they not wait for the angels? and if they were beaten, what would it signify?

"Jack," she said at length, "we'll wait. Will you be hungry, Jack?"

"Oh, no?" answered he earnestly—"not if I see 'em."

"Will you be tired?"

"Oh, no!"

"Are you afear'd of the dark, Jack?"

"No, no, no!" said he; "as long as I sees 'em I don't care for nothing. And you?"

Maggie shook her head, and held out her hand in token of agreement.

So they sat there with their arms clasped around each other, and their eyes fixed upon the grey patch of sky till the street grew dark. When they spoke, it was always in an awe-struck whisper.

"What will you do when they come?" Jack asked.

"Curtsey," said Maggie readily. She had considered the matter carefully. Jack glanced over her shoulder.

"It's dirty," he observed. "Why don't you sweep it, Maggie?"

"No," said she decidedly. "'Tain't for such as you and me to sweep for the angels, Jack."

She spoke in a tone of reproving superiority, and her companion shrunk into himself, abashed at his presumption.

At length the lamp was lighted at the street; but the lane remained dark as before. It was weary work waiting. Jack yawned.

"You ain't tired yet," said Maggie, sharply. "You'd maybe like to go?"

"No, no," he answered; "but they're long in coming."

"You go," said she, "and I'll wait and see 'em. I ain't tired."

"I'll stay if you stay," whispered Jack. "But I do wish they'd come."

After a long cold silence, footsteps

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopæa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhæa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and efficacious for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1871.

THE WAR.

The French losses near Le Mans were 20,000 prisoners, and 2000 killed and wounded. Chanzy is still retreating. The combined forces of the two armies engaged were 120,000. They fought in the snow. Chanzy has refused a command to the Prince de Joinville.

The bombardment of Paris continues. Red hot shot is fired by night. Several small sorties have been made and a grand sortie is soon expected.

At the battle near Lille the bayonet charge of Moulac's division, consisting of marines and chasseurs-a-pied, was especially deadly. The soldiers gave no quarter; they called out to the Germans, who did not understand their language, to defend themselves, and to be on their guard, but there was no effective resistance to their fury, and the carnage was fearful.

CONGRESS.

On the 14th, the House voted to fix the salary of the Chief Justice at $8500, and the Associate Justices at 8000, each. Mr. Ela and others opposed the increase.

New Hampshire Items.

The whole number of deaths in Dover during the year 1870 was 136. The oldest person was 101 years and 28 days old.

The Lake Village Times says that by accident a tree seventeen inches through and seventy-five feet long was felled across a yoke of oxen in the woods at Moultonborough Neck, and although they were crushed to the earth by the weight of the blow, and it was necessary to cut the tree in two in order to extricate them, neither appeared to be in the least injured.

Joseph W. Wiggin, of Wolfeborough, on Monday the 2nd inst., went to a barn, climbed up to a "high beam," taking along with him an ox chain and a trace chain, fastened one end of the large chain around the beam, hitched one end of the small chain around his neck and the other to the loose end of the large chain, and then jumped from the beam.—Democrat.

There were 155 deaths in Concord last year.

The Lebanon Free Press says a woodchuck was killed in that village on the 12th, and, according to the old saying, the back of winter must be broken.

The Transcript says the boy who builds the fires at the school-house in Peterborough village found a bottle half filled with gunpowder among the shavings as he was gathering them up.

Hon. Milan Harris of Harrisville has made a donation of $1,250 to the Congregational society in that place, so that they enter upon the year free from debt.

The Congregational meeting-house in Candia has been repaired the past autumn to the extent of $8000.

Senator Patterson has appointed H. J. Crippin of New Hampshire clerk to the Senate committee in the District of Columbia.

Professor Dyer H. Sanborn of Hopkinton died at that place on Saturday morning of congestion of the lungs, at the age of 71 years. He was the author of Sanborn's grammar and a geographic manual, both works of considerable value, and was formerly principal of the Pittsfield, Washington and Hopkinton academies.

The new Board of Directors have come into possession of the Concord Railroad. All of the officers and employes of the corporation are continued in their places for the present. It is thought that the new Superintendent will be Horace E. Chamberlain, General Freight Agent of the Rutland Railroad, or Joseph A. Dodge, now Superintendent of the Montreal Railroad.

The Flume House at Lincoln has been burned.

Concord had another fire, Saturday night. Loss $4000.

☞ The Boston & Lowell Railroad contemplate a new and extensive Station House on Causeway Street, Boston, extending from the site of the present Station southerly towards Lowell Street. A well-arranged restaurant is projected, which will be appreciated by the many travellers who leave Boston from the Causeway Street Stations.

As It Should Be.—Newark, N. J., has a sensible Board of Education. It has shown a sense of right in advancing the salaries of all the female teachers in the public schools from fifty to one hundred dollars, thus bringing up the ratio of comparison between the salaries of the male and female teachers.

Too Much Attached.—Out in Iowa, the other day, a brakeman lost his hand in coupling cars, because he had a wet glove which froze to the link so that he could not withdraw his hand.

Is Mornin' Come Yet? The annual conventions of the New Hampshire Democracy remind one of the celebrated story of St. Patrick and the last of reptiles. The good saint whose memory every son of the Green Isle delights to honor, had destroyed or driven from the land all the snakes save one—a monstrous fellow, of uncommon shrewdness. After the usual appliances had failed, Patrick constructed a strong and handsome chest, which he presented to the snake for a nest. "It isn't long enough," said the wily fellow. "Get into it and see," said the more wily Saint. The reptile crawled in, but left his tail hanging out over the end. "Take care of your tail!" says Patrick, as he brought down the lid with a bang and locked it. The serpent called it a good joke, and wanted to know when he was to be let out. "In the morning," was the answer; and to this day, says the imaginative Irishman, may be heard the plaintive inquiry "Is mornin' come yet?" Every winter, for sixteen years, the Democracy of the Granite State have convened as regularly and nominated as carefully as if the morning of their deliverance were at hand. They put candidates in the field, only to see them beaten by the old majority; they construct platform after platform, which only serve as rafts to float their leaders up Salt River; they clutch eagerly at every straw of labor reform or temperance, but find no added buoyancy in its possession. The speeches in their conventions always have one argument and one tone—Stand fast by the Democratic organizations, for victory's ahead! But the generation of Copperheads who participated in their latest triumphs is passing away without witnessing any return of the coveted power. In the early days of overland travel to California, where every emigrant rode on his own mule, a favorite method of keeping the animal in motion was by putting a head of cabbage on the end of a pole and holding it out just beyond his nose. The Democracy of New Hampshire are travelling on the same principle. Victory is ahead of them; and the Republicans intend to keep it ahead.—Statesman.

☞ The Manchester Union says that if the running of the Republican party had been in their hands since 1865, "we would have reduced the expenses of the government below $100,000,000, aside from the interest account." Possibly; but the Union has not run the national Republican party, nor does it appear to be running the Democratic party of Manchester, judging from the first act of the copperhead City Council,—doubling the salary of the Mayor simply because he is a Democrat. The Union's economy may be genuine; but there is a vast difference between the economy which the Democratic party preach when they are out of power and that which they practice when in.

—In Brazil there is said to be a law to compel men to vote.—Ex.

And some such law would be a good thing in this country. Many good men abstain from voting, because, as they say, "the worst men of all parties seem to rule in political matters;" and by thus acting they contribute directly to bring about and continue the condition of affairs which they say exists and which they affect to deplore. No man has a right to complain that his party does not meet the highest expectations of its best men, if he does not himself strive in every way to give the best men the control of party affairs.

New Publications Received.

The Biter Bit, a pamphlet charging the New York Sun with blackmailing operations. Published at 25 cts. per copy by C. A. Clark, No. 11 Chambers St., New York. It serves the "pirate of the New York press" with the same kind of reading he furnishes to his patrons. Written by James B. Mix.

Arthur's Lady's Home Magazine for February has for a frontispiece, What Shall It Be, Crust or Crumb, representing an expectant cat and rejoicing dog waiting for food from the hands of their young mistress. Fashion plates, stories, poems, music and useful information are scattered throughout the book. Published by T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, Penn. $2 a year.

The Children's Hour has short stories and cosy pictures for the little ones. Edited by T. S. Arthur. $1.25 a year.

The Galaxy for February has a portrait of Mrs. Edwards. The longest article, and the one which will attract most attention, is entitled "Mr. Black to Mr. Wilson", and is a rejoinder from the Pennsylvania lawyer in regard to Mr. Stanton and the Buchanan cabinet. Mr. Thurlow Weed also contributes to the Galaxy's specialty of secret history with an account of the formation of Mr. Lincoln's ministry. Mr. Crapsey, one of the New York journalists, writes of the private detectives of the metropolis; Donn Piatt, the Washington correspondent, gives a budget of reminiscences of the sovereigns encountered in his European travel; there are various stories and verses and the usual editorial departments, and Mark Twain is as funny as ever, besides getting very seriously angry with some newspaper people in Cincinnati. Sheldon & Co., Publishers, New York.

—As a man was leaning against the stair-railing in a public hall in Bangor, waiting to get a ticket, his icy boots slipped on the iron floor, and he fell backward over the rail to the first floor. He struck upon his face and chest and was killed instantly.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Poverty is Bad, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coriza and Catarrhal Headache, as hundreds of testimonials from well known citizens and eminent physicians who have used it in their practice abundantly testify. It is mild, pleasant and unirritating. The proprietor offers $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sent to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by druggists. Remember that Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp is on every package of the Genuine.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands ☞ Mrs. John Campbell fell on the ice on Thursday and broke a leg.

☞ Rain commenced falling on Sunday and continued throughout Monday. It was a welcome sight.

☞ "Ye ancient hostelrie," the Franklin House, we are informed is to be thoroughly remodelled and modernized at an early date.

☞ Mrs. Chas. H. Hayes of this city took an overdose of chloroform, one day last week, to obtain relief from acute neuralgia, and barely escaped with her life.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—Have the farmers living within the city bounds the right to cut the native trees spontaneously growing by the road side? If not, the city authorities had better look to it, or soon there will be none left, and we shall have fewer pleasant ROADS.

☞ Ned Carswell, the eloquent temperance orator, will shortly visit this State on a lecturing tour, by invitation of the Sons of Temperance, and arrangements will probably be made for him to speak to the citizens of Portsmouth, of which due notice will be given.

☞ Lynn has a Public Library of 14,000 volumes. On Saturday nights six hundred books are taken out for Sunday reading. What has become of our Public Library? Do the Trustees intend to repay to Frank Jones his generous deposit and let the enterprise sleep, or will some new life be infused into the project?

☞ The Eighth Lyceum Entertainment comes off this evening, being a lecture by Hon. William H. Y. Hackett; subject, The Necessity of Independent Individuality in Conduct and Character. The subject is one on which the learned gentlemen can appropriately speak and the Hall should be crowded.

☞ The present winter has not thus far been much of a season for cutting ice, but the Portsmouth Ice Company have taken down their ice-house near Hale's Point on the Concord Railroad, and rebuilt it on Mt. Vernon and South Streets; and Mr. Simon Marston has built an ice-house on his premises on South Road, designing to cut ice from a small pond which was prepared there last summer.

☞ Our neighbor of the Journal seems a little behind the times in the list of candidates at the head of his sheet. After the State Convention, he put up the name of our candidate for Railroad Commissioner elected last year, and last week he nominated the candidate for Register of Deeds last year, for County Treasurer, instead of our regularly nominated candidate from Rye. We trust the Journal intends to fly the flag of the regular nominees of the Republican party, and will get its list corrected between now and March meeting.

THE STONE CRUSHER ordered by this City, we understand will be finished in a few weeks; and the question of its location will soon come before the Board of Aldermen for decision. The entire cost of the machine, with steam engine and suitable sheds, will be fully $3,000; and while much benefit is hoped from this outlay, in the improved condition of our streets,—the location will much affect the result of the enterprise. The machine will admit into the hopper a stone about 14 inches by 7, and break it into pieces from the size of a hen's egg down to that of a walnut, and makes some powder or dust.

The question to decide is, whether to locate the crusher in the outskirts of the city, by the side of a ledge or quarry; or in the yard near the city stables and court house, and haul the stone farther to it. Water is also required, to run the engine, and the blasting of stone is expensive, especially if in dangerous proximity to buildings. Opinions differ as to the cost per ton to the city, for breaking. In Cambridge, it is 90 cents per ton delivered at the crusher.

☞ Patrick Butler of Portland, a laborer on the Maine Central Railroad extension, was instantly killed by having his own pick-axe driven through his head by a piece of frozen earth falling from a bank upon its upraised point. He leaves a wife and five children destitute.

☞ Newburyport has a club of cultivated men, who meet every fortnight and listen to an essay upon some topic of present interest, which is discussed in turn by the members.

☞ The 50th anniversary of the Universalist Church at Boston Highlands, of which Rev. A. J. Patterson is pastor, was celebrated last week by very appropriate religious and social exercises. The pastor delivered a historical discourse, several former pastors and other clergymen spoke, a hymn written for the occasion by Mrs. Patterson was sung, and a poem written and read by Rev. C. H. Fay; there was also an elegant collation for the whole congregation. Rev. Hosea Ballou 2d was the first pastor, and Rev. Hosea Ballou and Rev. Elias Smith assisted at his ordination. Not one of the original society is living.

☞ Steamer T. L. McGill, from St. Louis for New Orleans, was burned near Memphis on the 14th. The passengers had barely time to rush to the bow and plunge into the water before the fire was upon them. The weather was intensely cold, and many who plunged into the river were chilled and sank to rise no more. The passengers and crew lost everything. Thirty lives were lost.

☞ The Unitarians at Concord have a Sociable every two weeks, where the children are delighted with games, &c., until 9 o'clock, after which the older heads enjoy private theatricals and dancing until a late hour. The Unitarians of the capitol city intend to go to heaven by the pleasantest route.

☞ The Eastern Railroad have in course of construction, to be ready for the summer travel, seven new passenger cars of elegant design. About 140 men are employed in the Company's Car Shops at Salem; several carpenters from this city have recently been added to the force engaged there.

☞ Extraordinary efforts are made to place the entire British navy in a seaworthy condition. Work upon ships now in course of construction or repair at the several dockyards has been ordered to be pressed to completion by the admiralty.

☞ Rev. Hosea Ballou was born April 17th, 1771, and his centennial anniversary is to be observed by the Universalist denomination, as well it may.

☞ Francis E. Pinto, now in the Auburn State prison, has been found to be the Rogers murderer.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 6 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

were heard coming down the street. Both children bent forward eagerly. Alas! it was nothing but a group of men and women such as they saw every day, some of them with faces like their own — not one angel amongst them. They stopped at the door.

"What are you doing there?" growled a gruff voice. "Get along, you dirty brats! Who gave you leave to sit there?" The children sprang up alarmed. It was not the voice of an angel certainly. They ran down the street, and did not stop until they had turned the first corner.

"Oh, Maggie!" cried Jack, terrified. "That ain't the way the angels speak, is it?"

"You stupid!" answered she disdainfully. "Don't you know a man from an angel?"

They peeped round the corner. Presently a faint light shone from the open door, on to the street. Jack clung to Maggie.

"Be it them?"

"Wait a bit," said she. "You didn't see 'em come down did you?"

"No," replied he decidedly.

"They'll be here directly," she observed. "Don't you feel as if they were coming?"

They stood a long time watching, till the street was quiet.

"Now!" cried Maggie joyfully; and she ran, Jack hobbling after her as fast as he could, round the corner to their old place. As they drew near they heard the sound of voices. Jack glanced up into Maggie's face, haunted by a new and fearful misgiving. She paused to look upwards at the dark sky, and then peered into the dimly lighted passage. Could it be possible?

Jack saw it all. He threw himself into her arms and burst into a passionate flood of tears.

"Oh, Maggie, Maggie!" he exclaimed, sobbing as if his heart would break, "they've come! they've come, and we've missed 'em! and we'll not see 'em after all!"

What could she say? What could she do? It was too true; the angels had come. They were really inside there —only the corner between them—but neither she nor Jack could see them. Tears of bitter disappointment trickled down her face.

"Don't cry, Jack," said she, in a voice that tried in vain to be firm. "Maybe another night we'll see 'em. Listen! don't you hear their voices?"

Jack stopped crying. The music was beginning, and the low soft tones reached them. Gradually a smile broke over his face.

"Oh Maggie!" cried he in delight, "Be that really them? is that the way they speak?"

Maggie nodded; and they stood listening until the sounds died away, and harsher ones succeeded.

"Come!" she said; "you've heard 'em, haven't you?"

"Ah," exclaimed he with a fresh burst of sorrow, "I didn't want to hear 'em, I wanted to see 'em!"

So they went back to their wretched home, and all that night dreamed of the angels.

A week after they were again seated upon the dusty step. In Maggie's hand lay the secret of their happiness, for she held a small silver coin, tossed to her from out a carriage window. There was no question what to do with the money. On thought was in both their minds—one grand design to be carried out. Jack looked at her with a wistful reverence. It was arranged that he was to wait outside, and when she returned she would tell him all about the angels.

"Do you think," said he, thoughtfully, "they'll speak to you?"

"I dare not say as they may," she answered promptly, "if I stand up and hold up my hand."

"Oh," cried Jack, eagerly, "tell 'em I'm here! Tell 'em Jack's outside and can't get in 'cause he's no money! Tell 'em I do want to see 'em! Maybe they'd pay it for me!"

Maggie promised earnestly she would, and he clapped his hands with joy at the new hope. At length the twilight set in, and the two wistful faces were raised with unwearied diligence to watch the sky, till the doors were opened. Maggie rose all trembling with eagerness. The moment had come.

"I'll be back soon," whispered she, "and I'll tell you everything."

But the child held her hand tightly, and would not let her go. "Tell 'em I'm here," whispered he over and over again; "don't forget, oh, don't forget! I'll be standing quite near waiting."

She moved away. For a moment he watched her with despairing interest, but the next he dashed after her, and clasping his arms around her, cried out—

"I can't help it! I must come in! Don't leave me here. Do take me in with you. I do so want to see the angels!"

Maggie stopped, and looked first at him, and then at the precious silver coin she held in her hand. She grew very red, and the light died out of her face altogether. At length with a sudden rough movement, the money was slipped into Jack's hand, she unloosed herself from his grasp, and rushed out into the street. There she sat down under the lamp-post, and taking up her frock, covered her face and sobbed aloud. After all, she should not see the angels.

"He'll forget me! he'll forget me, I know!" sobbed she, raising her tearful eyes to the sky; and the angels will never know I'm sitting here! They'll never know as how I'm longing to see 'em!"

The sky was dark as ever, the street was noisy; the people passed her and went in. But did not the real angels draw nearer to the child in answer to her longing, and thus repay her wondrous self-abnegation in giving Jack the money which was the price of her dreamed-of vision of Heaven.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

—The following lines by Mark Twain carry their own inspiration with them, and no more inspiring sentiment need be desired by anyone to begin the New Year upon:—

Was he a mining on the flat—
He done it with a zest;
Was he a leading of the choir—
He done it his level best.

If he'd a regular task to do,
He never took no rest;
Or if 'twas off and on—the same—
He done his level best.

If he was preaching on his beat,
He'd tramp from East to West,
And North and South—in cold and heat,
He done his level best.

He'd cuss and sing, and howl and pray,
And dance and drink and jest,
And lie and steal—all one to him—
He done his level best.

Whate'er this man was set to do,
He done it with a zest;
No matter what his contract was,
He'd do his level best.

THE AFRICAN DIAMOND VALLEY.—Diamonds of great value continue to be found in large numbers at the Cape. While the old diamond tracts are losing none of their popularity, new tracts have been discovered. The diggings now extend over a hundred miles of country, and the population has reached 15,000. Fortune, however, is as fitful as ever, and good and bad luck are experienced pretty much in the same proportion.

The other day an old couple, living in great poverty and earning a few occasional cents by carrying fire wood to the tents of the diggers, picked up a large diamond worth about $20,000. Their anxieties for this life are consequently over. Three poor Cape Town fishermen, who had fought with fortune and the ocean storms for over thirty years, sold their boat and fishing tackle, and went to the diggings. After a few weeks' absence they returned worth over $50,000. A farmer who was among the first to go diamond hunting, hunted in vain for a long time, and had just sold his walking-stick for a shilling and was about to start for home, when he accidentally stumbled over two gems which have realized $600,000. A shoemaker, a carpenter, and a waiter went from Natal to the diamond tracts, and in a week or two had stones in their possession which have brought $750,000. One of the gems weighed 105 carats.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where favor or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1864.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children. In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms; Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway. New York.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for useefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1871.

THE WAR.

The bombardment of Paris still goes on, and shot is falling constantly within the city wall. Fort d'Issy is virtually destroyed and Fort Montrouge is terribly battered. From all accounts the fire seems to have been more destructive on Wednesday than on any previous day. The French have tried a few more sorties, but in vain.

Another engagement is reported in the department of Haute-Sacce, but the result is unknown. The defeat of Chanzy was fully as disastrous as had been reported. Further details tend to magnify rather than diminish the importance of the Prussian victory.

There had been an unimportant engagement at Longwy, of which no particulars have been received. Preparations for bombardment are rapidly progressing, and Belgium is carefully guarding her frontier.

A despatch from Havre says there is constant skirmishing near that city.

It is reported that the Prussians are turning the left wing of Faidherbe's army of the north and menacing Cambrai.

The French government accuses the Prussians of barbarity and of violations of the rules of warfare. In return, Bismark cites violations of the Geneva convention, and says the French have no desire for peace. It is also said that France must herself ask for peace before there will be any cessation of hostilities.

King William has written to Prince Henry of Luxembourg. There is now talk about Favre's coming to the conference, but it is only speculation. There is a growing appreciation in England of the necessity of universal liability to military duty.

Gen. Chanzy explains his defeat by inexplicable panic among his troops. He urges them to make a supreme effort to save the country.

CONGRESS.

In the House, on the 16th, four Georgia members took the oath of office.

A bill relating to telegraphic communication between the U. S. and foreign countries was passed without debate.

The McGarraghan claim was before the House judiciary committee, and the testimony elicited was of a most damaging character for the claimants.

In the Senate the House bill increasing pensions was favorably reported on.

The Senate made several confirmations in executive session, and the information called for by Mr. Sumner's San Domingo resolutions was received.

S. J. Court.—The January term of this Court commenced at Exeter on Tuesday, before Judge Smith of Dover. Prayer was offered by Rev. Cronin-shield, the Unitarian clergyman of Exeter. The continued docket has 282 cases upon it, but few of which were ready for trial.

Charles Annable, Esq., of Portsmouth, was appointed foreman of the Grand Jury, who received a brief charge from the Court, and are understood to have but one case before them. Atty. Gen. Clarke is present; Solicitor Small is confined to his bed by sickness.

No case being ready for trial, the Court adjourned to Wednesday morning, when the trial of No. 198, Jacob Rowe and wife vs. Joseph Evans and wife, an action of slander, will be commenced.

☞ A San Domingo letter from St. Thomas, foreshadows a speedy and formidable insurrection in San Domingo against Baez, and states that the champion of this new revolutionary movement is the vice-president of the republic.

☞ Further particulars of the burning of the Mississippi steamer T. L. McGill show that only half the story was told at first. The number of those lost now reaches ninety. The wind was blowing heavily at the time of the disaster.

☞ A man named Deckman has been arrested at Dutch Kills, N. Y., for having starved his step-daughter, aged 11 years, to death. The girl's mother was as inhuman as her brute of a husband.

☞ A reign of terror prevails in some parts of North Carolina, organized gangs of robbers and marauders defying the laws and doing about as they like.

☞ Hon. Lot M. Morrill of Maine was re-elected to the U.S. Senate on the 17th, by a vote of 125 to 35.

☞ The Democrats of Connecticut re-nominated the present State officers, on the 17th.

TEMPERANCE WORK.—"We speak of what we do know, and testify of what we have seen." In his eloquent remarks in behalf of the Washington Society of this city, at the Methodist Church, Sunday evening, one gentleman spoke as though that organization was doing a great work. All honor to the great and noble work accomplished in the years gone by in behalf of total abstinence. But let me in all candor ask, what are you doing to-day, and what have you done during the past few years, to save your fellow-citizens from the curse of Alcohol? I have been a resident of Portsmouth for the past four years, and until within a very few months never had a suspicion of the existence of such an organization in our midst. "It was not so in our Grandfathers' days." How was the knowledge of its existence brought about? I will answer. A few, who are still striving by occasional spasmodic efforts to resuscitate the Society, (but whose attempts have heretofore proved abortive excepting for a few days) mustered sufficient strength and courage a few weeks since to invite the different clergymen of the city to address the people on Temperance, on separate Sabbath evenings, at their respective Churches.

The invitations were kindly received and favorably considered, and the course closed last Sabbath evening by an eloquent appeal delivered by Rev. C. M. Dinsmore at the Methodist Church. And the brilliant efforts put forth by the Washingtonians are to go out in a blaze of glory, by a proposed Monster Temperence Meeting at the Temple. God grant these efforts may prove successful. But is this all that is being done in this city for the blessed cause of temperance? No! No!

Were not invitations also sent every clergyman in the city by Old Oaken Bucket Div. No. 2, S. of T.? "Yea, verily." "And what are ye more than these?" Bro. Washingtonian, can you point to one whom you have within the past few years raised from the gutter to the dignity of manhood? I very much fear your answer will be "No, not one."

Arouse ye then, from your lethargy! "Why stand ye all the day idle?" Is this the case with Old Oaken Bucket? Although numbering but a handful, comparatively, and poor in this world's goods, and only organized last 4th of July, yet it is a live, wide awake, red-hot institution in the great temperance work, and by the blessing of God, and earnest, personal effort, a number have been saved from going down! down! down to a drunkard's untimely grave, —one of whom is the writer.

"Come with us and we will do thee good." SQUIBBS.

☞ It would seem, from what we can learn respecting the recent scarcity of water hereabouts, that many factories and mills in Dover, Great Falls, South Newmarket and vicinity would have been obliged to suspend operations in a few days, but for the timely rain. The reservoirs at the Navy Yard were entirely exhausted some time since, and had it not been for the large supply of water in the pond on the island connected with the Yard, work would have ceased altogether in that locality. This pond was utilized by the construction of an aqueduct last summer, at the suggestion of the Civil Engineer, Mr. Chandler; and situated as it is, some twenty feet or more higher than the reservoirs on the Yard, it affords excellent facilities for supplying them with water at times when it could not be obtained elsewhere. It is said that this natural reservoir has within the past season proved itself to be worth the whole sum paid for the island.

☞ The Philharmonic Society will meet for rehearsal this evening at the usual place, at 7 1-2 o'clock. The orchestra will be present, Miss Agnes E. Plumer will accompany on the piano, and the conducter's baton will be wielded by Mr. A. Pearson. Mozart's Twelfth Mass will be used. A full chorus requested.

☞ We are informed by a citizen of Hampton Falls that there is no foot-and-mouth cattle disease in that place, nor has there been, Boston papers to the contrary nothwithstanding.

☞ The San Domingo Commissioners went on board a revenue cutter at 10 o'clock on the 17th, to be taken to the Tennessee, which was then lying off quarantine with steam up, ready to start as soon as the men were on board. She was expected to put to sea in the evening.

☞ The "Nathan murderer" is discovered once more. The N. Y. Evening Post has found this one.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every rank and order to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The most skeptical invalids or medical dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate merited to be hopeless cases of consumption. The demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing. iwdawjan14

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to effect a totally cured case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the interior, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good deal is kept there by Northerners. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, who, by the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

Ten hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossibleto take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives during winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any place in the interior of Florida, have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, or dyspepsia; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia during the winter, and I examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Seaweed Tonic," Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

I say to everybody, and everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills: for the climate is more likely to produce biliousness than consumption in northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, the ratio is still largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of lives would be saved if consumptive were as easily cleared in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action, I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of Mandrake Pills I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is when a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the digestion of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the sleeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided the seated disease is not too far gone.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, and by trying to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands well established that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what were pronounced hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by these medicines.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. They are so mild, that a dose can be taken when a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in a few hours. If you are bilious,

THE CLOSING TEMPERANCE LECTURE of the course by the clergymen of the city was delivered last Sunday evening by Rev. C. M. Dinsmore; and though the weather was stormy, the Methodist church was well filled. The discourse was on the fearful extent of intemperance, and its effect on health, morals, industry, peace and happiness. A brief sketch of the temperance reform was given, and of the Washingtonian movement of 1840. The lecturer advocated the total abstinence principle as the only hope for millions; and urged the attempt to create a more healthful public opinion, more general and systematic efforts in behalf of temperance, and a prompt and efficient enforcement of the laws. The temperance reform is not an empty thing, to be pulled about to suit political parties; it contains a great principle of truth and justice, and is as immutable as the throne of God.

At the close of Mr. Dinsmore's remarks, Rev. E. W. Jackson spoke of the fearful demoralization of the colored people of the South through the influence of whiskey, and a collection was taken up to aid the temperance cause among them. Mr. F. W. Rogers made some remarks on Mr. Dinsmore's account of the Washingtonian Society, and gave notice of a contemplated general meeting at the Temple. Though lengthy, the exercises were very interesting, and none seemed weary. It is hoped this course of lectures by the ministers may be productive of much good.

HON. W. H. Y. HACKETT delivered the Lecture before the P. M. L. A. Lyceum, Tuesday evening; subject, "The necessity of independent individuality in conduct and character." The lecturer pictured the terrible evils resulting from slavishly bowing to the world's idols, wealth and fashion, merely because the world bows at the same shrines, and earnestly advised the young—and old, as well—to be true to their own better natures, to respect themselves and others, not merely for what they possess or because public opinion declares it to be fashionable, but for what they are. By independent individuality of character and conduct, the speaker explained that he did not mean that eccentric disregard of public opinion which originates in no principle and results in no good, but that elevated conduct which no otherwise disregards public opinion than as it is superior to its demands.

That the forming and fostering of most of the evil habits of society, (the almost universal worship of wealth, though in the hands of men worse than worthless, the sheep-like manner in which all save a few obey the most ridiculous or injurious dictates of fashion, the ruinous dissipations of vast numbers of all classes; etc.,) is mainly due to a lack of independent individuality of character, was shown; and that no one, man or woman, can hope to look back upon a truly successful life, unless their aspirations are elevated above the average of public opinion, and they have character enough to disregard public opinion in so much as will enable them to live up to their aspirations.

The immense power of "what the world thinks" upon the great mass of people was commented on and deplored; and in speaking of that power as shown in "the fashions," the lecturer said: "Pass a law to improve the morals of our people, and all the officers of the law cannot execute it; let fashion promulgate a decree deforming our persons, impairing our health, and involving an expense equal to the cost of the American Revolution, and all the officers of the Government, all the ridicule of the wits, and all the denunciations of the press and the pulpit would not impede its execution a single day."

The labor reform and woman suffrage movements were discussed, as showing that men and women are even now striving for more individuality—to reach higher places, not because they are or are not wealthy or fashionable, but because they are men and women—and the lecturer spoke hopefully of the principles and motives which underlie these movements, without at all identifying himself with either of them politically.

The lecture was both entertaining and elevating; and we know of no one who has more right to urge upon others the exercise of independent individuality of conduct and character than Mr. Hackett himself, whose high position in the confidence and esteem of our citizens was never won by truckling to an unworthy public opinion in any shape.

THE POLICE FORCE of this city has been changed several times during the last ten years. At present and for two or three years past it has consisted of the City Marshal, two Assistants and six Watchmen.

The Marshal is (under the Mayor) the head of the Police, and has charge of the assistants and the watch. His salary is $800 per year.

The Assistant Marshals perform duty day and night. One of them goes on at six in the afternoon and remains on duty twenty-four hours, until relieved by the other. They are captains of the watch. For this service they draw the munificent compensation of one dollar and sixty-five cents per day of twelve hours.

The watchmen are required to be on duty during the night, a part of them going on at 7 P. M. and leaving at 4 A. M., and a part going on at 10 P. M. and leaving about 6 or 7 in the morning,—patrolling the city. They receive about one dollar and seventy-five cents per night.

Under this system there is an officer at the Station House at all times, day and night.

Perhaps the Aldermen may think there is no need of an officer remaining at the Station all the time. If so they can dispense with one or more of the force. Perhaps they may think there is not need of so many watchmen; if so they can appoint a less number; the business men and property holders have different views about these things. And when an officer is wanted, the greatest economist likes to find one.

Mayor Dearborn thought four watchmen were enough. The Boards since have thought otherwise. But whatever may be thought of the number, we think no one can expect the pay to be less than it now is,—really only one degree above starvation point.

THE FAKIR OF VISHNU closed his course of five entertainments on Monday evening, and notwithstanding the unfavorable weather had a large audience, as he has had all through the series. As a sleight-of-hand performer he deservedly ranks high, his "magic" being such as would have entitled him to a good deal of unpleasant notice had he practiced it in Salem in the good old times. Of the gift part of the enterprise—he performed his promises as advertised, articles of utility and pecuniary value being distributed each evening, without any hocus-pocus, a fair lottery-drawing deciding who should receive the prizes. Many estimable people object to anything which seems like a game of chance; but the gambling propensity is strong in human nature, and we don't see but what those who invest with the Fakir are quite as likely to make money by it as if they took stock in the California educational lottery, or gambled in gold, bonds, "Erie," or "counterfeit money that cannot be detected at the U. S. Treasury;" and the former transaction is quite as legitimate as either of the latter, and fully as honorable for all concerned, to say the least. The Fakir's lottery is fair—for the others we should not care to vouch.

☞ Notwithstanding the "boggy weather" on Monday evening, there was a good attendance at Mr. Bartlett's third reading at Congress Hall; and all felt amply repaid for venturing out on such a night. The lugubrious forebodings of Old Croker and the lively impudence of Jack Lofty, were brought out with great spirit and truth. The magnetic spell between the audience and the reader was perfect to the close, where the latter was rewarded by manifestations of genuine applause, and a superb bouquet of fresh flowers fell at his feet.

☞ "Charity" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered before the I. O. of O. F. at Odd Fellows' Hall on Thursday evening, by Bro. Chas. W. Gardner. The public are invited.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, } Trustees.
CHARLES L. FROST, }

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to make them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us at the price at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Our Correspondence.

BOSTON, Jan. 17, 1871.

A paragraph in the papers a few weeks since announced the presentation of a flag to L. B. Schwabe Encampment, Post 101, G. A. R., Groveland, by the gentleman in whose honor the Encampment was named. It brought me strong remembrances of Count Schwabe, a character who won strong encomiums for the time and energy spent in behalf of sick and wounded Union soldiers during the war, and later for his fine collection of oil paintings known as "The Schwabe Gallery of Fallen Heroes," (now on Columbus Avenue).

A little, grizzled man, with shabby clothes and grimy hands, methinks I see him now. Don't imagine I speak slightly of him; I know him well, and despite poor apparel and soiled hands, I honor the tender heart and the steadfast purpose that has so long sacrificed self for the relief of others' sufferings, and to perpetuate the deeds of those that fell; all the more that they were to him aliens, even though they represented a country open to all (unless it be the "heathen chinee").

The story from the Zanesville Courier about the man who applied a lighted cigar to the bulb of a thermometer, thereby causing it to indicate 115 degrees above zero, and nearly roasting all who looked thereat, reminds me of a similar story the late Geo. Wilkins Kendall was wont to tell with delight. One of the pleasantest watering places adjacent to New Orleans is Pass Christien, and years agone the little, fat, dumpy Major in command of the fort at the Pass used to pass most of his leisure on the broad verandah of the hotel. One terribly sultry summer day Kendall and a waggish friend were amused by watching the Major, dressed in a suit of spotless white, pacing fretfully up and down the piazza, at each turn inspecting the thermometer. Out from the open widows came the aroma of coffee in process of being roasted. In to the kitchen slips the wag, he seizes a handful of the heated kernels, returns to the verandah, and, when the Major's back is turned, completely surrounded the bulb of thermometer with the hot coffee. Of course the mercury has risen when next the Major ispects it. His vest flies open, and he makes another turn; the instatiable mercury has risen still more. Loosing his shirt button at the throat he makes once more the round of the verandah: "Good God! 110 degrees, gentlemen, I'm going to bed;" and on the bed he lay and suffered from heat for the balance of a day whose like be had often encountered unflinchingly before. There would be a moral to this tale, only 'tis not the first time a Major has been "done" by a kernel.

The Messrs. Rand have their second grand hop for the season at the St. Cloud Hotel, New York, on Tuesday, the 17th. For perfectness of conception and success in elaboration of the same, these hops have grown to be noted in the metropolis.

I had much pleasure in attending the reception of the Boston Art Club a short time since. The opportunity for studying the best works of our own painters, was not lessened in enjoyment by the fact that France, Germany and England were represented in the names of the artists. Hill, Hunt, two Champneys, Bradford, Brackett, Griggs, and many others had fine pictures on exhibition.

The contractors for filling up the Back Bay, from the east of the Albany and west of the Providence Railroads, to Brookline and the Highlands, run two trains of forty cars each once an hour during the night. They would have hardly made two bites of your much-troubled cess-pool.

The water famine is our great topic at present, completely overwhelming the Fechter fiasco.

The warm weather at the close of last week again gives note of short commons on ice next summer.

A shanty has been erected on the city lot west of Scollay's Building. It will move on April 1st. M.

—An Ohio man who passed around a plate at a religious meeting for contributions for the heathen, and then pocketed the money, has been acquitted of stealing by a jury of the vicinage, on the ground that he was the greatest heathen they knew, and therefore justly entitled to the money.

—A young colored man in Kansas, whose pedal extremities project from the middle of his feet, skates as easily backward as forward, but in making short turns he has an awkward habit of treading on his own heels, which causes him to suddenly take a seat on the back of his head.

—In Chicago, bonnets are worn "high, with a reef in the maintopsail and a spanker over the chignon."

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D Bible House, New York city.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect.

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.

The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE

On which they are constructed brings the core o centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all nuples and sensations, such as glimmering and waving of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are Mounted in the finest Manner.

In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

NOT LOST.

The look of sympathy, the gentle word,
Spoken so low that only angels heard;
The secret art of pure self-sacrifice,
Unseen by men, but marked by angels' eyes;
These are not lost.

The sacred music of a tender strain,
Wrung from a poet's heart by grief and pain,
And chanted timidly with doubt and fear,
To busy crowds who scarcely pause to hear;
It is not lost.

The silent tears that fall at dead of night,
Over soiled robes which once were pure and white;
The prayers that rise like incense from the soul,
Longing for Christ to make it clean and whole,
These are not lost.

The happy dreams that gladdened all our youth,
When dreams had less of self and more of truth,
The childlike faith, so tranquil and so sweet,
Which sat like Mary at her Master's feet;
These are not lost.

The kindly plans devised for other's good,
So seldom guessed, so little understood;
The quiet steadfast love that strove to win,
Some wanderer from the woeful ways of sin;
These are not lost.

Not lost, oh! Lord, for in the city bright,
Our eyes shall see the past by clearer light;
And things long hidden from our gaze below,
Then will reveal, and we shall surely know;
They were not lost.

A DOMESTIC STORY.—An editor says: "An aunt of ours concluded to try the effect of a pleasant smile and a kind word upon her husband when he returned from his work. She had read how a home should be pleasant, and the wife should always meet her husband with a joyful smile. The success she had is best given in the shape of a dialogue.

[Enter husband, almost exhausted, and very hungry withal; throws his hat on the floor and drops heavily into a seat. Wife, preparing tea, looks up with a smile, and is so glad to see him.]

Wife—Well, my dear, it is so nice to have you here at meal-time. [A long smile.]

Husband—Yes, I suppose so.

Wife—How has your business prospered to-day? [Another smile.]

Husband—About so-so.

Wife—Come, my dear, supper is ready; let me draw your chair. [Another smile.]

Husband, gruffly—I am too tired to stir. Wait till I warm my feet.

Wife—Do as you choose, my dear. [Another sweet smile.]

Husband—Look o'here, old woman; before any more fuss is made about it, I should like to know what you are grinning at.

Aunt sighed and relinquished her sweet smiles from that date. Uncle was not one of the romantic sort, and didn't understand such things.

AN IMPROVED COMPOSING MACHINE. A working model of a composing machine, constructed for use in newspaper and book work, was exhibited yesterday at the office of the inventor, No. 444 Broome street. The great feature of the invention is a mechanical device by which ordinary type-setting and type-distributing is dispensed with, and 100 types are made to perform the service of a full font set in the usual way. The letters of the alphabet, together with figures, punctuation marks, and combination words are arranged in regular order in a type-head two inches square, and are operated upon by keys, manipulated as in a piano. When the keys are touched the type-head moves to its position, and action is had upon whatever letter or figure is touched, the type moving downward a prescribed distance, and making a printed impression on transfer paper. The platen, on which the paper is laid, is moved backward and forward by a feed-wheel for each impression of the type, and the spaces between the lines are produced by lateral motion by means of a ratchet wheel. In this way 100 impressions are made per minute, and proofs can be corrected very easily. The impressions are finally transferred to a zinc plate and printed by an improved lithographic press at the rate of 2,500 impressions per hour. In place of transfer paper a mold of clay or wax may be used to receive indentations, from which a stereotype cast can be obtained, of uniform thickness and ready for the press. The machine is driven with a treadle like a sewing-machine, and occupies about the same space. It can be manufactured for $200, and the type-heads for $3 each.

Every style of type, borders, ornamentation, and also music, can be produced, only requiring one type to represent each character. The type-heads are easily changed, and as many as 50 styles can be employed by the compositor, without rising from his seat. As originally planted the types were arranged on the periphery of a disc or wheel, and the impressions, made upon prepared pulp or clay, were justified with difficulty. By the improved machine impressions are made upon paper, justification and correction are accomplished without loss of time.—N. Y. Tribune.

—The big snake is wintering in Missouri. He is now twenty-four feet long, and has his lair in a ledge of rocks near Grand river, from which he sallies forth at intervals to breakfast upon stray bullocks, mules, and "sich."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or, the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning, falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it will not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1871.

CONGRESS.

In the House, on the 17th, the regular naval appropriation bill was made the special order for Tuesday. It appropriates $19,833,111.

The bill increasing the salaries of circuit judges was defeated. Mr. Ela spoke against it.

Mr. Cox made a speech abusive of the President.

THE WAR.

Chanzy is reinforced by 50,000 men and will resume the offensive.

King William is going home.

General Faidherbe has been heavily reinforced with men and material of war, and has commenced a series of manœuvres from which great results are expected.

HEAVY SNOW STORM AT THE WEST. A Chicago dispatch of the 17th says:—The first great snow-storm of the season prevailed forty-eight hours. The snow is from 20 to 21 inches deep on a level, and is badly drifted. Many of the streets are almost impassable. The railroad trains have been but little interrupted, as the storm extended only a few miles out of the city. A conductor of a freight train named Look, and a brakeman named Williams, on the Michigan Southern Railroad, while engaged in shovelling snow from in front of their train near Englewood last evening, were run over by a locomotive coming in an opposite direction and instantly killed.

A SQUARE BACK DOWN.—Born subjects of Great Britain who may wish to renounce their allegiance to the Queen, or those who, having been naturalized in this country, may desire to return to their allegiance, can now do so under a recent act of Parliament by making certain declarations at any British Consulate.

This finally settles the great question of birth allegiance, which was the principal cause of our last war with Great Britain, John Bull having squarely backed down from the position which he then amused.

A NEW PENSION BILL.—Representative Morgan, of Ohio, has prepared a bill which the committee has authorized him to report to the House, repealing the proviso of the sixth section of the act of 1868, which limited the application for pension within five years from time of wounds, death or any other cause. It appears that in many cases persons entitled to pensions have failed to receive them by reason of their ignorance of the above limitation.

U. S. SENATORS.—Hon. Lot M. Morrill of Maine and Hon. Henry Wilson of Massachusetts were re-elected to the U. S. Senate on Tuesday, and Hon. Frank P. Blair, Jr., Democrat, was elected Senator from Missouri on Wednesday. Gen. Logan was elected Senator from Illinois. Hon. Wm. Windom from Minnesota and Gov. Levi Saulsbury from Maryland on Wednesday. Gov. Saulsbury is a brother to the present drunken Senator from that State.

SUPERINTENDENT OF CONCORD RAILROAD.—The Directors of the Concord Railroad made choice on Monday of Horace E. Chamberlain, Esq., of Rutland, Vt., for Superintendent of the road, who has accepted the appointment. Mr. Chamberlain has had large experience in railroading, first commencing with his father, John Chamberlain, Esq., of Newbury, Vt., in the building and managing of the White Mountains Railroad, with which road he was connected for about seven years, and for the past five or six years he has been connected with the Rutland and Burlington Railroad as General Freight Agent, and during the past year was acting Superintendent of that road and its branches (220 miles), while its Superintendent, Mr. Merrill, was absent in Europe. He is a man in the prime of life, active in temperament, and from the cordial endorsements of all who know him we doubt not he will be found the right man in the right place. He will assume the duties of his position at once.

J. W. Hildreth was chosen Assistant Superintendent. Mr. Hildreth is well known to our citizens, and during the absence of Ex-Superintendent Kendrick has been Acting Superintendent of the Road. He is a faithful, efficient, capable and gentlemanly official, whose hosts of friends will feel pleased that he is to continue on duty.

☞ Professor Hall reports that the Sicily eclipse expedition was moderately successful.

☞ Russia is making immense preparations for war, on her Turkish frontier.

MATRIMONIAL INFELICITY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—During the year just closed, says the Monitor, the Supreme Court of this State have had before them for consideration 318 applications for divorce, of which number 222 have been decided by the court.

These have been disposed of as follows:

One hundred and fifty-seven divorces have been granted; of which number 102 were upon the complaint of the wife, and 55 upon the complaint of the husband.

Sixty-five applications for divorce, namely, 35 by the wife and 30 by the husband, have been denied.

Ninety-one cases still remain upon the dockets, of which 52 are applications of the wife, and 39 of the husband.

These cases have been distributed among the several counties as follows:

	Granted Wife.	Granted Husband.	Denied Wife.	Denied Husband.	Rem'g Wife Applied.	Rem'g Husband Applied.	Whole Number.

New Hampshire Items.

The extension of the Great Falls and Conway Railroad from Union Village to West Ossipee, 28 miles, will be finished in June next.

On the 16th, Deputy Sheriff Nath'l K. Leavitt of Exeter gave over the charge of the jail at that place to Deputy Sheriff Benj. S. Clifford of Epping, having had charge of the institution since 1848, two years excepted. Mr. L. has been a faithful and efficient officer.

On the 11th, in Colebrook, Mr. Ames Stevens sent his five children to school in a sleigh, and on the journey the horse ran away and hit against a post. One of the boys had a leg fractured, and all were more or less hurt.

The Wallaces of Rochester, shoe manufacturers, shipped from their factory during the first week in January, eighteen hundred cases of shoes, or about a hundred and nineteen thousand pairs.

Capt. John Hodge of Newmarket celebrated his golden wedding on the 4th and, with his lady, was the recipient of handsome golden gifts.

Gov. Stearns has appointed Albert F. Lauten of Boston State Liquor Agent, in place of Brodhead, resigned. Mr. L. was agent in 1868-9.

New Publications Received.

Printers' Circular for January. R.S. Menamin, editor and publisher, 515 Minor St., Philadelphia.

Godey's Ladies' Book, for February, is a fine number of a fine Magazine, whose monthly appearance is regularly expected. The ladies say they would miss it, if it failed to come to hand, as much as the tick of the old clock in the corner, when it chances to run down. The embellishments consists of: "The Flight Interrupted," a steel plate, Colored Fashion-Plate, containing seven figures, "Our Balloon Post," an extra wood engraving, "Winter," another splendid wood engraving, a beautiful design in Patchwork printed in blue, a page containing ten designs in bonnets and hats; the other novelties for the month are the usual large Extension Sheet, Drawing Lessons, Cottage, and the various designs to be found in the Work Department. Marion Harland, Mrs. Hopkinson, and other prominent writers contribute to the literature of this number. $3 a year. Louis A. Godey, publisher, Phila., Penn.

A WYOMING INCIDENT.—In the barroom of a wayside tavern, where teamsters tarried to drink, a few rough customers tarried one afternoon beside the stove. Enter a mountain ruffian, venomously drunk, who fetched out his revolver and commenced practicing with it at the various objects behind the bar and on the walls. While this was going on the cries of an ox-teamster to his approaching cattle were heard, and soon the driver appeared within the door. Stalking up to the bar, he called for a glass of liquor; but, as he raised it to his dirty lips, the tumbler was shattered by a well-aimed shot from the practicing man's revolver. Without a word, the bull-whacker put his hand behind his back, produced his pistol, leveled it at the ruffian's head, and remarked as the body dropped to the floor, "That d—d scoundrel would have hurt somebody pretty soon." He then filled another glass and drank the contents, strode out as deliberately as he had come in, and with a "whoa, haw, there," started his oxen up the road.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—On the 18th, the Grand Jury in the case of Marble and Murphy, charged with causing the death of Marble's wife, at Plaistow, last November, returned indictments for murder in the second degree. The feeling in Plaistow is said to be very strong against the prisoners. Mrs. Marble's father is disposed to push matters to the extent of the law. Marble and Murphy were arraigned and both plead not guilty.

No other criminal cases will be tried at this term of the Court.

☞ Fifty-eight lives were lost by the burning of the steamer T. L. McGil on the Mississippi. Raftsmen belonging to the American Timber Company, whose rafts were aground at the time of the disaster, might have saved many lives with their skiffs; but they paid no attention to the cries of distress, busying themselves taking cotton and pillaging.

NAVAL.—U. S. S. Tennessee sailed from New York on the 17th with the St. Domingo Commissioners on board.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coriza and Catarrhal Headache, as hundreds of testimonials from well known citizens and eminent physicians who have used it in their practice abundantly testify. It is mild, pleasant and unirritating. The proprietor offers $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sent to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by druggists. Remember that Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp is on every package of the Genuine.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The latest possible date which medical dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing. 1wdawjan14

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a severely bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Fleming. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I usually consulted on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everyone is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than any more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely: still there are many thousands of victims. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as careful in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action, and know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and thinks otherwise, deceives himself, and with it more flesh, which is every follower of a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens the phlegm, the night sweats and cough cease, night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, "Is there no hope for such? I answer there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is a really curable disease, as my other diseases, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The last stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will hear some one who has been some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver quicker than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will stop it. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would like to obviate the effect of change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, peaches, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fever. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirator will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their system becomes weakened into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere, without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.
THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile Pupils, under instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Items will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Attainments and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and success of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should have their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

Portsmouth, Jan. 6th, 1871.

Communication.

"Have the farmers living within the city bounds the right to cut the native trees spontaneously growing by the road side?"—Chronicle, Jan. 16.

If they have not the right, who has? The persons owning the land by the side of the road may pasture the highway if they please in front of their own land, or may cultivate it, or may raise trees on it, provided they do not interfere with the proper use of the highway. The law protects shade trees—meaning no doubt trees planted for purposes of shade by the road side. The spontaneous growth belongs to the owner of the land and nobody else, and may be removed by him at pleasure. X.

EXTRAVAGANCE AND ECONOMY.—Much talk has been made in certain quarters about the extravagance of the recent City Government, and figures have been offered to show that needless expense has been largely incurred by them; and at the last meeting of the Council a democratic Alderman took action looking to a large reduction in the pay of some of the city officers, and the abolition of some offices entirely.

We propose to examine some of the "extravagance" charged against the republican City authorities.

They are charged with expending much more for the City Watch in 1870 than was expended in 1865. A few more figures than the democratic economists have given, will explain this damaging fact. In 1865 the amount expended on the City Watch was $2525; which, less the amount of fines, costs, &c., returned to the Treasury, $2207, left the actual cost to the city of the police for that year $318. In 1870 the City Watch cost $1957, and but $814 were returned in fines, leaving the net cost for the year $1143. These figures show two things; that the greater amount of rascality in the city in 1865 justified the larger expenditure at that period, and that the constant maintenance of an efficient police has greatly reduced the rascality since then. That they prove "radical extravagance" we fail to see.

The economists argue that the City Messenger's pay should be reduced to $200 per annum, which was the sum formerly paid. Looking over the City records we find that the old whig governments, from 1852 to 1854, were really mean enough to pay their Messenger but $200 per year; but that the democratic government of 1856, under Richard Jenness as Mayor, promptly raised his salary to $350. This was "democratic economy"—and it was real economy, too. The democratic rulers were satisfied that their whig predecessors had much underpaid their servant, and very properly raised his salary to something like a decent rate of wages. And $350 then was fully equal to (if not greater than) the $500 now paid for similar service; for at that time good laborers could be procured for a dollar a day, whereas no laborer who can do a man's work will now listen to anything less than two dollars a day.

That City Messenger Hidden is efficient and attentive to his duties is not questioned; his whole time is occupied with the city affairs; and the service he renders we are satisfied could not be procured for double his present salary, if that sum were expended in "boys at three or four dollars a week."

If the City Councils can reduce the public expenses without impairing the efficiency of the public service, it is their duty to do so; but we are not of those who think the man who works for least money the most profitable servant—on the contrary, we consider a trusty man cheaper at high wages than a poor one at none at all. The Boards will do well to consider all the figures and both sides of the question before they decide to return to the pay-list of twenty years ago, or to lessen the police protection of our peaceable citizens.

☞ The Democrats of the 1st Senatorial District have nominated Hon. Daniel Marcy of this city as candidate for Senator.

☞ A fine new schooner of 110 tons, built by Stevenson and Pettigrew, was launched from the Marcy yard on Wednesday. She is to be called the Mary Doane.

☞ Mr. John A. Lamprey has purchased a "beef critter" from the March farm, weight 4500 lbs. warranted perfectly healthy and selling it at No. 31 Market Street. See advertisement.

☞ We are requested to state that no tickets of admission are necessary at the lecture of Mr. C. W. Gardner in Odd Fellows' Hall this (Thursday) evening, as it is free to all—commencing at eight o'clock.

☞ At the regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Social Union, at Boston, on the 16th, Hon. Thos. L. Tullock donated $1000 toward its permanent endowment, dedicating it in the memory of his son, the late Paymaster Tullock, who was lost by the sinking of the U. S. S. Oneida off Yokohama.

☞ A very large watery tumor, said to weigh nearly a hundred pounds, was taken from Mrs. J. C. Langley of this city, by Drs. Kimball of Lowell and Parsons and Dearborn of this city, on Wednesday. The lady was under the influence of chloroform for three hours, and now lies in a very critical condition.

☞ Rev. Canon Walsh publishes a long card denying that he ever insulted the Matron of the Alms House, and defies any person to prove it. He thinks he is "uniformly bland, polite and cheerful to all ladies." He demands a public investigation and hearing before the Board of Aldermen, failing which he threatens to appeal to some other tribunal.

☞ Mr. Thomas S. Gilbert, whose death is noted in the usual place in our columns, died very suddenly on the morning of Wednesday, the 18th, at the residence of his father, Dr. S. Gilbert. He had been unwell for several days, though on Tuesday he seemed much better; but at about half past 2 o'clock next morning a younger brother alarmed Dr. G., who on entering his son's room found him lying on his face, dead. The cause is reported to have been congestion of the brain.

☞ The amount of duties collected at the port of Portsmouth of late years has been from $3000 to $8000 per year up to the year 1866-67, but the annual receipts have been steadily increasing, and for the last two years amount to $30,000 per year. This is owing to the importation of coal, salt and iron. Three cargoes of salt arrived here in 1869 and three in 1870. There were also three cargoes of iron last year. Four thousand two hundred tons of foreign coal were received here during the last fiscal year, and 14,000 tons of pig iron, which was mostly sent to Lawrence, Concord, Dover, Newmarket, Laconia, Great Falls, etc.

☞ The Democrats of the 2d District nominated Hon. Samuel N. Bell of Manchester as their candidate for Congress.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette; or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopeas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioner with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proofs of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

CHARLES L. FROST, }

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 20 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4¼ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 5½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

WINTERING STOCK.—To every farmer this is an important subject. Both theory and practice are involved in it. The theory is to make the hay and provender furnish as much profit as possible, in the form of gain in flesh, or the production of milk and butter, and also to keep the farm in a thriving condition from the manure made during winter. The practice of different farmers varies a good deal; and the results of their different methods are equally diverse. Some farmers think the gain is found in feeding out as little as possible to their animals, just enough to get them through the winter; others believe that the most economical way is to feed generously. They believe in high feeding.

The whole subject is one that is worthy of thought and calculation. What ever the farmer does should be as carefully considered in the way of profit or loss as that of any other business. It is safe to say that what any man does on his farm should be well done.

The wintering of stock profitably is not simply a question of eating hay and grain, or wintering cattle to straw and rough fodder that cannot be carried to market. Probably there are other conditions of the question equally important as that of feeding, and which help to make hay and grain spend well.

1st. There must be good shelter, warm, comfortable quarters for animals, or they will not gain or pay their owner. In an open barn where cattle shake with the cold and are exposed to storms, they have to eat a good deal to keep up animal heat sufficient to live. There is no economy nor profit in such a way of wintering stock, for they come out mere frames in the spring. Some think such a way of keeping stock renders them hardy; but it is an expensive mistake. Animals must be comfortable in order to pay.

2d. There must be a good supply of water in order to have stock do well. This is a demand of the animal system that cannot be disregarded in vain. Stock must be watered at least twice a day. There is no use in feeding well unless one waters his stock well and regularly every day. Cattle should be watered in a sheltered place, in the yards, where they can get water with the least trouble. Let every farmer understand that the question of drink is as important as that of food. Experience teaches this.

3. Kind treatment is another condition essential to the profitable management of stock. It is remarkable how fully animals appreciate kindness. A passionate, scolding man has no business to look into a leanto of cattle. Animals must be contented and comfortable to gain or furnish profit. I wish every farmer understood that there is a moral element in the question of wintering stock. The ox enjoys being carded by his master. The cow seems to enjoy giving milk to a friendly hand that has given her an ear of corn. We now come to the matter of feeding.

There are certain objects which the farmer has in view in raising and keeping stock. His young creatures he wishes to grow, his older animals he wishes to be fat, or to give a generous supply of rich milk; and he wants to enrich his farm. In considering this subject we must remember one important fact—that the animal system is simply a machine for working up materials furnished it, in a more or less profitable way. The calf, or cow, or ox produces nothing; it only manufactures what the owner gives it. Muscle and bone grow on the food consumed. Fat and milk are made out of what the animal eats and drinks. The poor animal is one having poor machinery; the best animal is one having the best machinery for making muscle or fat or milk, which gives a profit. The same principle holds good with reference to the quality and value of the manure animals make.

It is vain to suppose that a load of manure made of straw will make grass or corn grow as well as manure made of nice hay and grain. Feeding straw alone to stock is feeding straw to the cornfields and the mowing fields. It is weak, cheap manure, soon spent. On straw, stock animals generally stand still in growth and profit, but little milk is furnished, and the farm grows lean. Feeding straw and selling the hay and grain has one advantage, it gives ready money; but it will give less money every year. It pays the best to feed well, to feed high. Feeding hay and grain imparts vitality to every department of the farm. Let us see what it does in detail. It keeps the stock healthy and thrifty. It lays on the fat. Grain saves hay, makes rich, fertilizing manure. It makes the milk flow. With milk comes butter, with milk comes pork, with milk comes valuable young animals, with milk comes manure, with milk comes a building up of orchards, grain fields and meadows. And here is where the farmer makes his business profitable, so that he can furnish the community that supply of articles of food which are indispensable—as well as remunerative.—Cor. Me. Farmer.

DEPREDATIONS OF DOGS.—The most serious obstacle to sheep husbandry in this country is the abundance and depredations of dogs. Farmers by tens of thousands have sold off, or killed off, their flocks, mainly because they could not otherwise protect themselves against their frequent decimation by prowling curs, which were not worth the powder required to shoot them. It seems to me, that a farmer thus despoiled is perfectly justifiable in placing poisoned food where these cutthroats will be apt to find it while making their next raid on his sheep. I should have no scruple in so doing, provided I could guard effectually against the poisoning of any other than the culprits.—H. Greeley.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders, brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D Bible House, New York city.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect.

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.

The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE

On which they are constructed brings the core o centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are Mounted in the Finest Manner.

In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.

THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY

Cannot be Surpassed.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

The Chronicle.

GENERAL SAM HOUSTON'S SECRET.—The most singular incident in the eventful life of Sam Houston, and one never hitherto explained, was his abandonment of the Governorship of Tennessee, only three days after marrying a young wife. He became a voluntary exile among the Indians of the plains for years thereafter, was made a great chief, and only reappeared in public life when Texas was struggling for independence. The Galveston News lifts the veil from this secret chamber of Houston's heart by this strange narration: What we know about this matter is so honorable to him that we shall, for the first time, put it in print. We may premise that our information is derived indirectly from one now deceased, who, during her life, had a right to know what caused that strange episode in the life of the great man.

Gov. Houston's first bride was a Tennessee belle of surpassing beauty, and of considerable social rank. She was, if not the affianced bride, at least the sweetheart of a neighboring gentleman, when Gov. Houston sought her hand. Her family being very ambitious, forced the match and she was married. After retiring to her bridal chamber, her deportment was such as to cause him to suspect that while her hand was his her heart was another's. She confessed the truth when interrogated, and while promising fidelity and wifely duty, declared herself unable to love him. He at once retired from the house, leaving his bride as pure and spotless as ever. He then resigned his position and went among the Comanches. In due course of time the lady sought and obtained a divorce.

SUSAN DOETH WELL.—Night before last the train from the south, owing to the vast amount of snow upon the track, did not reach the city till about midnight. It so happened that the distinguished Miss Anthony was on the train, together with three young fellows and an unprotected female, who has resided a mile or so from Watertown for some time, and is therefore known in this vicinity.

The young men above mentioned had with them some strong drink, and while passing it around of course did not fail to offer some to the young lady who was alone, informing her that it was only wine, and just the thing for a cold night. Accordingly the girl took a draught of strong whiskey, in a short time feeling about as happy as young ladies ever do. The young men joined in and did everything they dared to do with the girls, who was too over-joyed to resist anything.

These proceedings had been going on for some time, and been observed by Miss Anthony, who had been sitting a number of seats behind them, but they were not of the right nature for a woman like her to bear. She accordingly approached the party and asked the girl to go with her. She received a saucy and indignant reply, when, without any hesitancy, she took the girl by the arm and brought her from the embrace of one of the heroes of the contest. She took her into her own seat, and there, in the hearing of those around them, gave her a lecture that would be of value to any young man or woman. She took the girl with her to the Woodruff House, and after another season of speech-making, put her to bed, and placed the key under her own pillow, that she might be positive the girl was safe for once.—Watertown Times.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.—As there are certain definite laws in relation to the rights of publishers of newspapers, which do not seem to be understood, we will endeavor to make a plain synopsis of them, and solicit attention thereto:

1. A postmaster is to give notice by letter—returning a paper does not answer the law—when a subscriber does not take a paper from the office, and state reasons forits not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for the payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office—whether directed to his name or another—or whether he has subcribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

3. If a person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publishers continue to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds on the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5 The courts have decided that refusing to take periodical and newspapers from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

—The Western newspapers that a few weeks ago reported the buffalo as almost exterminated, now say that the number on the plains is immense.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get advice and Parents, keeping in their houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignment and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty compound, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a dark glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1871.

THE WAR.

Advices from Paris report the fire of the French batteries improving and on the west side are especially effective, doing much damage to the German positions.

Four hundred and fifty shell's were thrown into Paris on the 16th. Prince Hohenlohe, director of artillery, declares his intention to destroy all the principal edifices.

The Hospital Salpebrieve, containing 3000 infirm women and 1500 lunatics, and an asylum containing 300 wounded, were struck on the night of the 10th by 15 shells. The inhabitants of the bombarded districts are changing their quarters. Those who remain in the neighborhood of Rue Mouffetard have removed their beds to the cellars, which are now decorated in a picturesque manner. The bombardment does not change the piquancy of the French character. The occupants of these lower regions are contented and even cheerful and full of jokes.

Bismarck is reported dying.

The German loss in the battles with Chanzy is officially stated at 177 officers and 3203 men killed and wounded. The French lost, besides their killed and wounded, 22,000 unwounded prisoners.

CONGRESS.

On the 18th, the Senate debated resolutions offered by Senator Morton providing for a select committee to consider the recent message of the President on the condition of affairs in the Southern states — said committee to have power to summon persons before it to investigate the truth or falsity of the reported Ku-Klux outrages.

In the House, Mr. Sargent of California introduced a bill for the admission of Utah; it provides that its constitution shall provide by an article forever unrevokable without the consent of Congress, that after the admission of that State all persons shall be forever prohibited from contracting any bigamous or plural marriages or relations of concubinage.

The legislative and post office appropriation bills were passed.

New Hampshire Items.

At an alarm of fire in Dover, the horses attached to the large steamer, Dover 1, in attempting to pass out of the engine house ran the hose carriage against the door, breaking one wheel, which was drawn as far as Vickery's Drug Store, when it slid against a post and became a complete wreck. The horses attached to the small steamer, Cocheco 2, became frightened from some cause, and despite the efforts of two men who were holding them, started before the driver could get the reins, forced him against the door, and then threw him to the ground, injuring his elbow and side, the wheel barely escaping passing over his left foot, which it injured severely! The horses then passed the other engine, passed down Orchard street, and across Central street, striking the end of the pole against the factory building and shivering it to pieces. The force of the pole against the building and the striking of the wheels of the engine against the curbstone, stopped the engine, else the horses must have been ruined and the steamers very much damaged if not destroyed. It is considered fortunate under the circumstances that no great damage was done to life, limb or property.

Rev. N. D. Adams, of Union, had a paralytic attack in his pulpit while preaching on Sunday. He was able to walk with the assistance of friends and could articulate with difficulty.

At the Cold Spring trout pond, in Charlestown, 5000 trout are hatching out daily. There were a quarter of a million trout eggs laid down in the hatching-troughs in the fall.

Laconia and Lake Village were visited Wednesday morning, with an earthquake. At Lake Village, it was so severe as to jar houses, shake crockery, stores, &c., and to start the logs from the ice in the bay. The shock seemed to pass from east to west.

The residence of Rev. Dr. DeLancy, at Hampton, was destroyed by fire about 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening, together with its contents; including a library valued at $1500, manuscripts, etc. The family were absent during the evening, and the cause of the fire is unknown. It was discovered in the upper story, and the probability is that it caught from a defective flue. The loss is nearly $5000, and is only partially covered by insurance. Dr. DeLancy purchased the place from the Jeremiah Hobbs heirs about five years since, and had made it a very attractive country residence.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 28.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

JOSEPH DUDLEY, FIFTH PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—At the death of Charles II, of England, in 1685, New Hampshire had been separated from Massachusetts a little more than five years. There had been much misrule, and although the home government had condemned some of the arbitrary arts of Cranfield, yet the efforts of the king were tending towards the complete control of the Colonies.

James II, in coming into power, was fully in unison with his predecessor's plans; the original charter of Massachusetts was declared forfeited, and Joseph Dudley was commissioned chief magistrate of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine. It is presumed he resided in Massachusetts, and was seldom in New Hampshire, if it at all. He was in office but a few months in 1686, and as nothing of special note transpired, our account of him will be brief.

He was the son of Gov. Thomas Dudley of Massachusetts; was born at Roxbury, Mass., July 23, 1647, and graduated at Harvard College in 1665. He was in office at this time about five months, when he was suspended by Edward Andros.

He was commissioned again in 1702, and continued about 12 years. At the close of his second administration, in 1714, in the Colony were six towns, one Episcopal and five Congregational churches. During his second term of office, New Hampshire was the scene of a great Indian invasion, slaughter and captivities. Gov. Dudley did what he could to protect the people, but many of his measures were unjust, and he was not popular. He retired from office in 1714, and died at Roxbury, Mass., April 2, 1720, aged 72. He was buried with great military honors. His abilities, natural and acquired, were respectable.

PERSONAL.—Hon. John P. Hale has gone to Washington, with his family.

Charles Albert Fechter donated the sum of $3248.29, the amount received from his benefit, to various Boston charitable institutions.

Murat Halstead is the editor of the Cincinnati Commercial. Murat has been to the Prussian war and learned something. Thos. L Lavender called at the Commercial office and intimated that Murat was a liar. Murat proved that he wasn't a liar by putting a head on Thomas, who speedily became a lyer. Time not stated.

Gen. Schenck has delayed his departure for London until the 1st of February.

Gen. Garfield was so excited over the sleep walking of Janauschek as Lady Macbeth, in a Washington theatre, that he vehemently grasped the back of the chair before him, and with it a portion of the curls belonging to an elaborate chignon. The consequence was that when the fair owner, at the end of the scene, threw forward her head, the whole structure came tumbling down, curls, braids, hair pins and all.

BEES.—Bees should not be obliged to go more than a mile and a half, to work profitably. I have spoken of instances of bees going that distance while working on bass wood, and increase in weight from two to five pounds daily.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

These bees must have been of the large kind. It would hardly be advisable for the bee raiser to sting himself too often with this variety.

SPILT MILK.—There was a large amount of valuable practical philosophy in the remark of the gambler who recalled his companion's attention to the business in hand, whenever they fell to discussing what might have been if certain cards had been differently used, with the remark, "Look yere, gen'lemen, thar ain't no use a-playin' post-mortem hands."

☞ Hon. T. W. Ferry, Republican, was elected U. S. Senator from Michigan on the 18th.

Hon. P. W. Hitchcock has been elected United States Senator from Nebraska. He is a Republican, and succeeds Gen. Thayer.

☞ The arms and munitions of war landed upon the coast of Cuba by the steamer Hornet were not captured by the Spaniards, but were received by the insurgents.

Communication.

HON. JOHN P. HALE.—Being in Dover a few days since and passing the house of Mr. Hale, I was minded to call. I had not seen him since some time in his Senatorial career. While abroad as Minister to Spain, a year or two ago, his health failed; and although once corpulent, he is now but the size of an ordinary man. I could hardly believe it was he. The life and buoyancy of spirits too are much gone, yet he conversed most intelligently of the events of the time. He doubted the stability of the Spanish government just come to power, but thought it a relief to get rid of the Bourbon dynasty. He knew Prim, lately assassinated and who had his hand on the helm while the throne was vacant, but thinks he was a man of too much ambition, Castelor, an orator, is now prominent there.

Mr. Hale is a native of Rochester and 64 years of age. His father was a native of Portsmouth. The Ex-Senator has done the country good service in office. May he live long to enjoy the rewards and blessings that have come.

Yours, J.

G. A. R.—The annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for the Department of New Hampshire, held in Manchester, elected the following officers; Grand Commander, Augustus H. Bixby of Francestown; Senior Vice Grand Commander, Charles H. Long of Claremont; Junior Vice Grand Commander, Wm. P. Moses of Great Falls; Assistant Adjutant General, Timothy W. Challis of Rochester; Assistant Quartermaster General, Nathan P. Kidder of Manchester; Inspector, John M. Haines of Concord; Judge Advocate, Frank D. Woodbury of Concord; Medical Director, Wm. Childs of Bath; Chaplain, Edmund R. Sanborn of Concord. The department headquarters will be at Manchester.

☞ The European Conference will meet soon. Mr. Jules Favre will represent France.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesale and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficacy is literary impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The local potions which last resort to deadness some times endeavor to foist upon the sick in the stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing. dwdawjan14

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the cure of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully what course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably sound case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whom I knew had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I have visited, viz: Enterprise. The temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they soon begin to increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go out of the reach of them, or out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, costiveness, or any other of those minor things so prevalent in diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern parts. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many consumptives in these parts. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking a fresh cold as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or take out every day, is sure to have himself or corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry! I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it the best of health, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens, and shakes, the night sweats, chills and clammy sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. This question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Of course you will, you may, you should expect that some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death will praise me.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They are not the live pills that are carried about, leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have heartburn, or too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are troubled with sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may laugh at cholera morbus, and cast aside your nipples, pinas, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations from chills and fever. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily understand whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicine, and their system is thrown from one into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere, without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS, when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove themselves of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should have their performance on a scientific and proper foundation, which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

Portsmouth, Jan. 6th, 1871.

☞ A petition for a charter for the Wells and Alfred railroad has been signed by large numbers of the citizens of York, Kittery and Eliot.

☞ From a New Zealand paper we learn that a lady who was recently passing along the streets of an Australian city, alone, being insulted by an ornament of the curb-stone brigade, struck him on the head with a loaded riding-whip with such capital effect as to break his skull, killing him instantly. Could not our city authorities charter the Tennessee when she returns from San Domingo, and send such of the commissioners as have not been made into soup by the aborigines of that country as a deputation to Australia, to invite that lady to take up her residence in Portsmouth?

CITY COUNCIL.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Jan. 19th, the Committee appointed to ascertain the amount of taxes uncollected reported for 1870, $10,902,45; 1869, $5237.98; 1868, $4408.30. The Committee recommended that two persons fill the offices of Collector and Treasurer, instead of one; also the appointment of a permanent Auditing Committee. They recommended, through Alderman Mendum, that efforts be made to have a law passed by the legislature preventing any person from voting until their poll tax be paid. The Committee reported that the Assessors carelessly make out the tax lists and include many names of persons who cannot be found.

Alderman Mendum stated that $116,-244,24 was collected in 1870 in 30 days after the bills were sent out, on which a discount of $7419.85 (6 per ct.) was allowed; and that $3175.20 was collected in the 30 days following, on which a discount of 4 per cent. ($132.30) was allowed. Since then $7155.85 has been collected.

Joseph F. Dennett petitioned that he be appointed City Marshal. Laid on the table.

J. G. Hadley, Samuel Donnell and others petitioned that the name of Anthony Street be changed to Union. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

The City Marshal's annual report was accepted. Of 974 arrests 636 were for drunkenness. The amount of fines collected during the year was $781,20. The sum of $243 was collected for dog licenses.

The bill reducing Salaries of City officers, &c., was considered. The Ward Three Solon thought he had been elected Mayor instead of Alderman and delivered himself of a few (?) economical remarks. He was elected to serve no party. (Oh! no; not he!) He lathered his political opponents in the Board with flattering and beguiling words. He assumed a fatherly air towards members of the Board, and proceeded to progress backwards to just this side of the flood when people worked for nothing and found themselves. He thought Exeter was governed more cheaply than Portsmouth, but might be governed cheaper. Perhaps (failing to be Governor and being run down for Mayor) he may make a raid to the county seat and seek for the nomination of selectman. He would undertake to have all the law business for the city done for $50. He thought the City Messenger might be a very proper person, but was not needed. He proceeded to speak of certain influences being brought to bear by outside parties, when he was brought up with a round turn by Alderman Marvin calling him to order.

The latter put his question of order in writing and the talkative Alderman proceeded to say that he hoped no member of the Board would be influenced by outside parties, convicted slanderers, or by the barking of wealthy men. He was prepared to advocate boldly any measure—a very courageous statement.

Ald. Mendum contended that the bill should pass. He thought it was for the interest of the city.

Ald. Marvin called for the question and the bill was defeated; Yeas, Mendum, Hatch, Wendell—3; Nays, Fernald, Annable, Waldron, Giddings, Marvin—5.

Ald. Giddings reported that the Committee on the Rev. Canon Walsh case had heard but one side. One week additional was granted for them to report.

Common Council.—Concurrence was asked by the other Board in a bill repealing the City Collector's 1 per cent. on Taxes collected. The bill was indefinitely postponed.

A joint resolution was passed authorizing the Com. on Printing to procure the printing of the Joint Rules, and the Standing Rules of both Boards.

Adjourned for one week.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Ezra A. Stevens is in town.

Communication.

RAIN OR SHINE.—The usual Friday night Assembly this evening at Irving Hall,—free for all. The floor managers will be chosen each evening from the party and all will have a chance to act as the same.

☞ Mr. J. Horace Kent was nominated for City Marshal by the Republican members of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, on Thursday evening. The Aldermen voted as follows; Kent 3, Johnson 3—and the Mayor voted for Kent. The question was not acted on by the full Board.

☞ The Democrats of the 3d District have nominated Hon. Hosea W. Parker of Claremont as their candidate for Congress.

☞ The Commissioner of Internal Revenue urges the discontinuance of the income tax on the ground that the total revenue from this source does not equal the cost of its collection.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE met at Concord on the 18th, and by a unanimous vote refused to accept the declination of Hon. E. H. Rollins as chairman of the committee. There was considerable business before the committee as to the approaching campaign, and favorable reports were made from all sections of the State for the success of the ticket. The meeting was full and harmonious in its action.

Our Correspondence.

NEWMARKET, Jan. 17.

MR. EBENEZER JOY.—Messrs. Editors: This veteran teacher of vocal music, after thirty-five years' service, is still in that line, with voice and faculties apparently wholly unimpaired, as he yet can sing Dem-i-semi-qua-vers without the least quiver, although upwards of fifty-eight years of age. One remarkable fact in regard to his teaching is, that, thirty-three years ago, a young Miss, named Abigail Barrell, attended his singing school in Lee, as a pupil, and that this same Abigail, who is now the wife of William Woodman, is a member of his singing school at the present time, at Packer's Hall in Durham—a case probably without a parallel.

Mr. Joy's father was a soldier in the war of 1812, and died in the service. He also, at the age of fifty-one years, entered in the 15th Regt. N. H. Volunteers in the war of the Rebellion, one of his young sons accompanying him as a servant of Major Frost, and who is now chief clerk and paymaster of the Newmarket Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Joy's spouse has borne him twelve children, and yet she appears like one possessing all the freshness and vigor of forty years of age.

Mrs. Joy has been and is a most excellent wife and mother, and "her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." Mr. Joy is a brother of Alfred T. Joy, Esq., of Portsmouth. DAVID MURRAY.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause, originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.]

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to connect them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

SALT FOR SWINE.—While all other domestic animals are regularly supplied with salt, the hog is generally neglected. He requires, however, to be as constantly supplied as the ox, the horse, or the sheep, and suffers as much from privation as either of the above named animals do. His food is almost invariably given to him in a fresh unseasoned state, and to this fact we may doubtless attribute many of the violent and fatal diseases to which he is subject, and which stagger all remedies, however promptly and skillfully administered. If the food be not regularly seasoned, there should be a trough or box in every sty, in which salt may be deposited regularly for the use of the animals. Seasoning the food of the hog as mentioned above let it be understood that salt only is here alluded to, for if any person should try seasoning with pepper, they will make a great mistake; for as much pepper as will suffice for a man's dinner will kill a hog.

AGRICULTURE. — The idea entertained by some that farming is not a paying business, and that farmers are obliged to work harder and for less compensation than persons engaged in other pursuits, is incorrect. It is true that fortunes are sometimes made more rapidly in other kinds of business. It is also true that they are oftener lost. There is no business among us that is so sure to furnish an abundance of all that is necessary to insure real independence and happiness as farming. Nor is it necessary for farmers to go out of the State to find desirable localities for this business. Some western farmers do better than ours; others not so well. On the whole, it is probable that our Maine farmers make nearly, and perhaps as much money according to the amount invested, as they would in the West, and enjoy very much more of all the comforts and conveniences of life.—Gov. Perham.

A PIG TALE.—The Bangor (Maine) Whig is responsible for the following story, which was related by a gentleman of undoubted veracity. In the village of Brewer, opposite Bangor, two men, Messrs. A. and B., carry on the livery business, occupying stables situated about a quarter of a mile apart, and each owns a huge Chester hog, weighing nearly four hundred pounds. The other day Mr. A.'s hog broke out of his pen and strayed down upon Mr. B.'s premises, and that gentleman seeing him on the street, mistook the animal for his own and drove him into the pen under his (Mr. B.'s) stable. Presently he heard a rumpus, and going out to ascertain the cause, found that his own porcine had resented the intrusion, and was giving the hog he had turned in a terrible thrashing.

Separating the combatants, Mr. B. drove Mr. A.'s hog home, and he was secured in his own domain. The next morning Mr. B., upon going to feed his hog, discovered him lying on the ground in his pen utterly exhausted, and his adversary of the previous day industriously engaged in gnawing a hole in his back. It appears that after Mr. A.'s hog was driven home the day before, he meditated upon the drubbing he received until he got mad all over, and breaking out in the night he made his way through the darkness to his adversary's sty, smashed his way in, and proceeded to revenge his wrongs by nearly killing his antagonist.

BURIED IN A SNOW-SLIDE.—William James Hicks and his brother, John Brisco Hicks, left Rocky Bar on the morning of the 8th inst., with the mail for Atlanta City. It was one of the most stormy days ever known in these mountains. They left this place at the hour of 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and had progressed very favorably on their journey some nine or ten miles, having passed the summit and just come upon the grade of Ball Mountain, when all of a sudden they looked up and just above them was a snow-slide coming with the velocity of lightning. Jimmy Hicks was in advance and had just a few seconds before looked at his watch and noticed the time, which was 4 o'clock. As Jimmy saw his impending doom, he turned his snow shoes down the hill, exclaiming, "Oh, God! Oh, Eris!" This was the last ever seen of poor Jimmy—alive.

They were carried down the mountain nearly a quarter of a mile, into what is known as "Black Warrior," the younger brother, Brisco, being carried up to one side of the gulch, while Jimmy was taken down its center over a deep declivity of rocks. It is almost a miracle how Brisco Hicks dug himself out of some ten or twelve feet of snow, and that, too, in the midst of a pitiless storm which was raging furiously at the time, and traveled all night without snow-shoes in snow up to the armpits, with no food and not even a pair of gloves, one of the coldest nights of the season.

Nothing but thoughts of his dead brother, his home, his mother, his dear little sister, could keep that boy alive. He arrived home Friday morning at about 8 o'clock, nearly frozen—both feet badly frozen—and proclaimed the unwelcome news to a frantic and heart-broken mother, who nearly became crazed over the sad event. In a few hours the good people of Rocky Bar had turned out nearly en masse to do all that kind hearts and willing hands could to find the missing one, which was done about noon of Saturday, and his remains brought to this place that night.—Idaho Statesman.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered an efficacious remedy for the cure of Nervous Debility, Early Decay, Premature Old Age, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

—BUT—

THE DIAMOND SPECTACLES

Will Preserve It.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

Which are now offered to the Public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the

Most Perfect,

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye known.

The are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINICIPLE

On which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations such as glimmering and watering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are Mounted in the finest Manner.

In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.

THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY

Cannot be Surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

DOWN HILL.

BY UNCLE CHARLES.

A story they tell of a lunatic man,
Who fell down hill in a warming-pan;
He steered himself with the handle of course,
And clucked away as he would to a horse.

His legs it is true, were somewhat in the way,
And his seat rather tight, if a body might say;
But he landed all right at the foot of the hill,
And for all that I know is sitting there still.

You smile at the story and wonder how folks,
Can get from their brain such a terrible hoax;
But sliding down hill is many a man,
On a much worse thing than a warming-pan.

Some are going down at full speed on their pride;
And others who on their stinginess slide;
But the strangest way of taking that ride,
Is to go, as some do, on a rum-jug astride.

Beware of such coasting, or, like Jack and Gill,
You'll make sorry work in getting down hill;
Beware, for with what other evils you tug,
'Tis nothing like sliding down hill on a jug.

ADULTERATION OF MANURES.—The subject of manure adulteration has attracted the attention of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, whose chemist, Dr. Voelcker, is now authorized to publish every month all analyses of adulterated foods and manures which pass through his hands. He has accordingly shown up several very glaring instances of worthless guanos and superphosphates, in which gypsum, earth, chalk, and sand figure in place of the genuine guano and bone-ash. One sample of bone manure contained only one per cent. of phosphate of lime and one per cent. of nitrogen; it was made up chiefly of gypsum and some cheap organic refuse, impregnated with sulphuric acid. It cost four and a half pounds sterling per ton, and was worth less than a pound and a half. Other specimens were still worse. This exposure is the more necessary now that the English farmer, as some one has said, "depends for success mainly on brains, and bones,—his own brains, and somebody else's bones."

TREATMENT FOR HORSE-AIL.—The treatment consists in first steaming him, then ipserting in each ear a ball as large as a robin's egg, made of equal parts of lard and ground mustard (nothing is better to start the nostrils running), and rubbing the swollen parts under the throat in kerosene, occasionally applying alcohol and saltpetre, rubbing it in thoroughly. For physic a sulphur ball is given (equal parts sulphur and Indian meal) three times a day. These remedies applied constantly for three or four days bring relief, and the animal gains rapidly. This treatment, from our knowledge of, and experience with the disease, is recommended to those having horses thus affected. To administer the sulphur ball, draw the horse's tongue out of the mouth with the left hand, as far as possible, place the ball into the throat with the right hand, and when the tongue is drawn in it will be swallowed. Horses seldom have this disease a second time.—Exchange.

BLUNDERS OF BASHFULNESS.—If there is any defect more striking than another in the American character, it is bashfulness. Young America, in particular, is painfully affected by it. An incident is mentioned by a correspondent, who was desired by his aunt to go over to neighbor Shaw's and see if he had any straw for sale for filling beds.

Mr. Shaw, says our informant, was blessed with a goodly number of Misses Shaw, and I therefore felt a little timid at encountering them. To make the matter worse, I arrived just as the family was seated at dinner. Stopping at the doorway hat in hand, I stammered out, "Mr. Straw, can you spare me enough shaw, to fill a couple of beds?"

"Well," replied the old gentleman, glancing around at his large family, and enjoying my mistake, "I don't known but what I can; how many will you need?"

Before I could recover, those hateful girls burst into a chorus of laughter, and I broke for home in a cold sweat.

—An Arkansas paper reports a novel incident on the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad. A flock of wild turkeys, more than five hundred in number, congregated on the track near Cadron station. The down train rounded the curve, and the engineer soon discovered that the turkeys intended to hold possession of the track. Having one minute to spare, he stopped his train one minute to allow them to depart, but they were not disposed to give way. The turkeys surrounded the train, walked up and down the track on either side of the cars, evidently delighted with the novelty of their situation. No hunting party aboard and no firearms of any description, the turkeys were safe; but one or two short, quick whistles from the locomotive upset their calculations, and they lost no time in gaining the bushes, where they were soon hid from view, and the train moved on.

—Alarming symptoms of suffrage fever. Little girl: "There, dolly, you must lie still and sleep all day, 'cause I've dot to do and vote."

—It is a criminal offence in Illinois to call a man a "mutton-headed Pagan."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemist in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

BUCHU! BUCHU!

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

Diosma Crenata—Buchu Leaves.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish, and analogous mint.

MEDICAL PROPRETIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaint of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, Disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement, or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit, and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Palid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all Diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudence in life, impurities of the Blood, &c., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhaea, Gleets of long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address H. T. HELMBOLD, 594 Broadway. New York.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 21, 1871.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on the 19th, Mr. Cragin, from the committee on naval affairs, reported with amendment the bill to abolish the offices of admiral and vice-admiral of the navy, and asked its present consideration. The amendment is that the offices shall continue until a vacancy occurs.

Mr. Morton's motion for a special committee to investigate the condition of the South was adopted.

Mr. Cragin remarked that this was the exact provision in relation to the general and lieutenant-general of the army.

In the House, Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts introduced a bill to aid in construction of twenty or more first-class iron steamships, together with shipyards, machine-shops, rolling-mills, wharves, docks, etc., to secure to the government the use of the same for postal, naval, and other purposes. Referred to the committee on commerce. This is the same bill introduced into the Senate by Senator Conkling.

CONDENSED HOMO-LIES.

BY THE "FAT CONTRIBUTOR."

PLUTARCH.—I only knew this gentleman by reputation. He is always spoken of in the plural number. "Plutarch's Lives" is a common expression, but how many there were of him I am not prepared to say.

GENERAL DUKE OF WELLINGTON.—An officer of the British army. Mr. Longfellow makes honorable mention of him as the "Warden of the Cinque Ports." Cinque means five, and he was the protector of five principal points, usually denominated five points. He lived to a ripe old age and died.

JULIUS CÆSAR.—Son of old man Cæsar. He was born at Rome in his infancy, and upon arriving at the estate of his manhood, became a Roman. He was a fighter and a warrior of some note. His friend Brutus one morning asked him how many eggs he had eaten for breakfast, and he replied, "Et tu Brute!" His friend became enraged at being called a brute and stabbed Cæsar quite dead.

MAHOMET.—Author of the Koran, an exciting romance which he wrote in the Mammoth Cave at Mecca. He was the author of a religious creed with which he stuffed turkey, and tried to get up a broil in Greece, but failed. Many of his early followers suffered great persecutions. Some of them were burnt at the stake. He had three temples—one at Mecca, and one on each side of his head.

GUY FAWKES.—A warm-hearted, impulsive Englishman, who believed the Parliament too good for this earth, and devised an expeditious method of elevating the members to a better sphere. He was interrupted in his good intentions, but for which circumstance he doubtless would have made a great noise in the world. He was executed for his disinterested benevolence, and was subsequently burnt in a place called Effigy.

BISMARCK.—Vulgarly termed "Old Biz." A modern hero, but very illiterate. He formerly signed his name with a capital B, above and beneath which was written the words "his mark." In consequence of this, the coup-d'etat of His Mark was bestowed upon him, but was afterwards corrupted to Bismark. He played for Prussia and made a count. Now he is toying with Paris and expects to make a dukedom. Then he will emigrate to Cincinnati and go into the Boulogne-sausage business.

BONAPARTE I.—A harem-scarem sort of a fellow, who occupied a position of considerable responsibility in the French nation. The impression went abroad that he was ambitious, which damaged his reputation materially. He gained the respect and admiration of the French nation, because, happily, he was not a Frenchman. When asked if he thought he could govern France, he replied, "of Corsican." The close of his life was not as bright as its beginning, but there was more of it in a narrow compass.

PETER THE HERMIT.—Pete was principally notorious for stirring up a little difficulty between the Christians and Mahomedans, which extended over a period of thirty years, resulting in numerous excursions by land and water, under the fascinating title of the Crusades. The Hermit was an itinerant lecturer, and had he lived in our day, would have turned his attention to humor, hereby saving a deal of bloodshed. The Crusades turned out like the author of the creed they were intended to annihilate—a false prophet.

THE WAR.

Gen. Chanzy reports that on the 16th a large German force suddenly attacked his force while proceeding from Laval to the eastward. A desperate battle ensued which lasted for several hours with unabating vigor. Chanzy's troops fought bravely and with such energy and determined courage did they resist this unexpected assault that the Prussians found themselves compelled to withdraw after sustaining a severe repulse involving serious losses. Gen. Chanzy states that he considers this repulse will enable him to secure his retreat undisturbed. The retreat is now being continued in good order and without any loss of material.

The 50,000 French troops who recently left Bordeaux for the purpose of reinforcing the command of Gen. Chanzy have failed in their attempt to unite with his army, the German troops having destroyed the railway and bridges to the north of LeMans.

The bombardment of Paris was exceedingly severe on Monday, an immense quantity of shells and combustibles capable of doing incalculable damage being thrown into the city.

Bismarck is much better.

A French brig laden with flour has been captured by a German man-of-war a short distance off Bordeaux.

The Prussian government has fitted out and dispatched six fast cruisers, with orders to cruise among the West India Islands and elsewhere to capture and destroy the French merchantmen they may encounter.

The French armies of Gens. Faidherbe and Bourbaki are still advancing.

Correspondence.

RYE, Jan. 20.

The Baptist Society gave there pastor, Rev. Mr. Nelson, a donation visit on Friday evening last, on which occasion substantial evidence of their appreciation in the shape of his labors, of many articles required for domestic and other uses, were presented to him. Most of the members of the Society were present, as well as quite a sprinkling of those not connected with that church; and everything passed off pleasantly and satisfactory to all concerned.

The Congregational Society have had no services in their church since Mr. Leach left, but it is expected that the pulpit will be supplied next Sunday by a senior theological student from Andover. There seems to be quite a feeling among the members of the Society in favor of having a young man for a pastor. At a recent meeting of the Society measures were taken towards repairing and improving the parsonage, and buildings connected therewith, which at present are not in such a state of perfection as they might be.

The singing school at the vestry closed last Tuesday evening. It has been very successful indeed, and the progress made very gratifying; and it has been a source of so much enjoyment to those who have attended, that it is their unanimous desire to meet once or twice a week for the remainder of the winter, and have social sings together. The Old Folks will also probably meet occasionally, as there is considerable interest manifested in singing and hearing the old tunes. The singing school at Chesley's Hall has a few nights more to keep.

A dancing school, at the Surf House, is well patronized, as is also a writing school at the Centre School House. Some difficulty with the teacher at the Centre School led to his dismissal, and Mr. G. H. Jenness, the Supt. of the school committee, is teaching the remainder of the term. The hotel and boarding house proprietors have secured their supply of ice for next season, and it is much better than that of last year. It is rumored that Col. Wm. S. Hadley is negotiating for the purchase of the Sea Side House. R.

New Publications Received.

The Atlantic Monthly for February is published. Mr. Field's "Whispering Gallery" reminiscences of Hawthorne are interesting. T. B. Aldrich has a personal reminiscence entitled "The Friend of my Youth,"—the poetry is by Mr. W. D. O'Connor and Mrs. Celia Thaxter; Dr. Samuel A. Greene writes of Franklin's Autobiography. James R. Osgood & Co., Publishers, Boston.

Harper's Magazine for February is at hand. The Harpers spare neither pains nor money to give their patrons instructive, useful and entertaining reading. The author of the "Dodge Club" commences a new story, The American Baron; pleasing articles on Glass Blowing and Along the Florida Reef, a continuation of Frederick the Great, Snowed up, Anne Furness are among the list of contents. Harper & Brothers, New York. For sale by E. G. Adams and J. H. Foster.

—The estate of the late Hon. David Sears is estimated at $4,000,000.

☞ A most daring act of gallantry was performed at Lawrence recently by George Wilton, a soldier who has lost an arm in battle. Two boys were skating on the Spicket river, back of the Asylum, when the rotten ice broke and they went under. A crowd looked idly on when Mr. Wilton plunged boldly in, threw out one of the boys who was holding on the ice and then grasped by the hair the other boy, who had let go his hold and was sinking for the last time, succeeded in saving him also. Mr. Wilton, though disabled, follows the business of a painter.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18.
[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 993; Sheep and Lambs 14,726; Swine 2650; number of Western Cattle 822; Eastern Cattle 21; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 75. Cattle left over from last week 75.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 00 @ $12 50; first quality $11 50 @ $11 75; second quality $10 40 @ $11 25; third quality $9 50 @ $10 50; poorest grade of cows Oxen, Bulls, &c., $6 00 @ $9 00 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8c ℔ lb; Country Hides 7¼ @ 8c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6½c per lb; Country Tallow 6c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 @ 1 37½ each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The trade for the week has been the dullest one for several years. There were but a few Eastern or Northern Cattle in market, and but a few good lots among those from the West. A few of the best Cattle will have to be sold as high as 12½c ℔ lb to make them pay out. The trade for Beef for the last week has been very dull, and the butchers have not cared to buy many Cattle, even at their own prices.

The trade for Working Oxen and Milch Cows has entirely ceased, and probably there will not be much done with that class of stock for several weeks to come, or at least until the excitement caused by the disease, which is now prevailing among the Milch Cows principally, ceases. The Cattle in market were all in a healthy condition, and precautions have been taken by the Cattle Commissioners to insure the people that every method will be adopted so that none but healthy Beeves will be admitted to be transported or driven to or from this market.

Sheep and Lambs—There was a good supply from the West—all owned by butchers or taken at a commission. We quote extra $4 50 @ $7; ordinary $2 @ $4, or from 3 @ 7½c ℔ lb.

Swine—Fat Hogs, 2600 at market; prices 7½c ℔ lb. Store Pigs—None at market.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza and Catarrhal Headache, as hundreds of testimonials from well known citizens and eminent physicians who have used it in their practice abundantly testify. It is mild, pleasant and unirritating. The proprietor offers $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sent to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by druggists. Remember that Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp is on every package of the Genuine.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupefaction until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring sunshine stimulates their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effect is to promote a brisk and regular circulation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of gentle perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is fortified against fever and ague, biliousness, indigestion and colic, all of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and low temperature of winter, may be avoided (as well as cured) by a course of this genial tonic and alterative. 1wdsw

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at his spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or more weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES would invite those parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

Portsmouth, Jan. 6th, 1871.
